

New approach coming to tackle traffic woes

BY PETER RICHARDSON

Shelburne will see a new approach to traffic safety, speed prevention and traffic flow recording in 2017.

CAO John Telfer presented a report to Council regarding the new radar signs, which, Council had previously discussed.

Requested by the Shelburne Police Department, the signs, which are being used currently by many other municipalities, including Orangeville, are solar powered, portable and a proven deterrent to speeding.

Further, the signs collect data on the total number of vehicles that pass them as well as those that are exceeding the speed limit.

They do not, however, record the license plates of offending vehicles.

Why Trump? Why now? - Historian talks to DHP students

BY MARNI WALSH

Author Gwynne Dyer was at Dufferin County Museum and Archives this week speaking to Dufferin high school students from the Digital Historian Project (DHP) about the Trump "situation."

At the request of Centre Dufferin District High School teacher Neil Orford, Gwynne Dyer has been engaging students with his talks for more than 25 years.

This data will enable the Town and the Police Department, to identify areas of potential calming needs and/or enforcement, enhancements.

Council moved to purchase two SP250 solar powered battery pack units from Traffic Logix at a cost of $8,580.09.

The units have a 12 inch LED light panel and with a weight of only 22 pounds, are easily mounted on light standards, telephone poles, or similar supports. The units require a two man team to install or move, and can be mounted in approximately 30 minutes.

Mr. Telfer and the Police Chief have currently identified two sites, where the signs are to be installed.

They will be left in place for three months, before being relocated.

"Council has already indicated that the program would be good for safety and calming measures within residential areas," said Mr. Telfer in his report to Council. "Council has already committed $10,000 in the 2017 Municipal Budget for the program startup.

"We should establish a safety program for the initiative that will provide data reporting as well as provide Police Service with more concentrated violation areas within the road system. Additionally, the info will help identify areas requiring speed reduction and more calming measures such as safety zones. Shelburne Police Services Board and Shelburne Police are supportive [of] this initiative and will work with the Town to see that it provides a safer environment based on driving habits identified in the [resulting] reports."

Feral Cat Rescue under microscope due to neighbour complaint

BY MICHELLE JANZEN

Despite the fact that the Town of Shelburne staff have been referring people who complain about stray cats to Sharon Morden, owner of Feral Cat Rescue for years, they are now questioning whether it is in violation of the Town's zoning and property standards rules.

In a phone interview with Ms. Morden, she tells the Free Press "back in August the Town of Shelburne by-law officer came out to inspect the property, located on Second Avenue, due to a complaint and I was told that I was not in violation of any by-laws."

It wasn't until after this Monday's Council meeting that Morden was told the Town has been asking her to delegate to Council to address these concerns since August.

"That's not true," Ms. Morden says. "This is the first I've heard about it."

Several years ago, Morden took it upon herself to open the cat rescue since the OSPCA I would re-locate in a minute. However, I does not service Shelburne at all. It started out as a small operation, but has since grown, the cats."

with Morden being called by OSPCA, as well as the Town of Shelburne by-law officer just last week to catch strays.

Morden will take in any in any strays and try to locate a family if they are just lost. Some cats are feral and some need huge amounts of medical treatment, which is funded primarily by Morden working full time, and donations she receives from the community.

Once cats are well or rehabilitated, she attempts to adopt them out to a loving family.

With all but one neighbour supporting Morden's efforts, she is now disheartened not only with how she heard about this situation, but also by how the Town is handling it.

Morden tells us, "in the past I have contacted John Telfer at Town Hall to inquire about different aspects of the facility, however my calls have always gone unanswered."

"I work full time to try and help these cats and make a difference," she says. "If there was a building available that I could afford can't afford to rent and work and look after

Sharon Morden, owner of Feral Cat Rescue, is pictured here with two of the cats she has taken in and looked after. Despite the fact Town of Shelburne staff have referred people to Feral Cat Rescue for years, Council is now questioning whether it is in violation of the Town's zoning and property standards rules.

Following Monday's Council meeting, social media has been flooded with support for Morden and the work she does, with neighbour Heather Laflamme stating, "I am Sharon's direct neighbor, and we have absolutely zero issues with smell or littering. Having a pool, we spend a great deal of time in the backyard and her rescue hasn't impeded our enjoyment of our yard. I stand behind her and support this lady who has a heart of gold. I do feel it's time the Town stepped up for funding though as she is doing them a great service.

"So many support your vision, Sharon. Thank you for all that you do. I'll be there at Council rooting for you. Sharon is an ideal neighbor."

Laflamme has also started an online petition in support of this cause at change.org under "Support The Feral Cat Rescue' started by Sharon Morden of Shelburne, Ontario."

Council Notes - "Smart" water meters will bring in more revenue

BY PETER RICHARDSON

Shelburne Council Monday night heard a presentation from Warren Mills of Wamco Waterworks, regarding the implementation of new household water meters for all replacement and new build installations.

The new meters are magnetic, rather than mechanical, and have no moving parts to break down or clog. However, there are multiple, further benefits, beyond a potentially, longer working life.

The new meters utilize "smart" technology, which interacts with the current "smart" software employed by the Town for water billing and usage data.

The new meters are far more accurate, which reduces the loss of low flow data, something the mechanical meters are prone to as they age. By recording water usage, even from such things as a leaky faucet or toilet, the new meters will capture more revenue for the Town over their twenty year estimated lifespan.

The new meters come at a cost of $148.00, which is comparable to the existing mechanical meters and this cost is borne by the builder, not by the Town.

FERAL CAT RESCUE

As a point of discussion only, Council considered a complaint against a feral cat rescue operation currently being operated in a residential neighbourhood, in Shelburne.

Details of the complaint, from Janet Manschitz, a neighbour of the rescue location, are being kept confidential at this time, as the other party, Sharon Warden, was not in attendance at Monday night's meeting.

She has indicated that she will attend the March 27 Council meeting and will present her side of the situation at that time.

Town Staff noted that the rescue could be in violation of existing ordinances and by-laws in its current location. However, no action was advocated until all pertinent information was available to Council presumably, at the March 27 meeting.

Mayor Bennington did state that he had visited the location and that he felt that the situation did warrant further investigation.

Sanjay Lekhi, owner of Shelburne Town Pharmacy, is bringing a walk-in clinic to Shelburne this March.

This clinic will be a little different then your traditional walk-in clinic as it won't have any doctors on site.

Lekhi said Registered Practical Nurses (RPNs) will be on-site to take patient's "chief medical complaints" before they are assessed by a doctor via video conferencing.

Telemedicine is an alternative to traditional face-to-face consultations where physicians use video conferencing to monitor the health of patients. It was created to help bridge gaps in the health care system and deliver care to more patients when and where they need it.

"With no walk in clinic in Shelburne and the population growing, it seemed like the right time to take this step for the community," Lekhi tells the Free Press.

A visit to the Good Doctors Medical Clinic will be like any other. You will be greeted by a receptionist who will make you fill out the required paperwork. Next, you will be seen by a Registered Nurse (RN) or Registered Practical Nurse (RPN) and, if needed, an online consultation with one of the doctors on call via video conferencing.

If you require a prescription, it can be filled

Entrepreneur on mission to help nephew with rare disorder

BY MICHELLE JANZEN

Local entrepreneur and resident Jamie-Lee Higginson of Prim Pickins' is on a mission to help her sister Lisa and her nephew Madden after he was born with Non-Ketotic Hyperglycinemia. (NKH).

Madden was born full term on November 9, 2016 and weighed 7lbs 3oz at Credit Valley Hospital, Mississauga. He did not show many signs of life, including no crying, no eye opening, no reactions and was unable to eat.

After the hospital exhausted all resources, he was sent to Sick Kids Hospital in Toronto at just 6 days old. Madden has received a spinal tap, an MRI, multiple EEGs, lots of blood work, urine workups and more tests. Eventually, the metabolics team agreed Madden had the terminal genetic disorder NKH.

Although Madden was only given two weeks to live, he has defied the odds and is now almost 14 weeks old!

On December 29th, little Madden was discharged from the hospital to go home, only to return to a local hospital weeks later for a two week stay for weight loss, possible increased seizure activity, as well as an naso-gastric (NG) tube reinsertion.

Madden and his mother now reside just outside of Shelburne with his aunt, Jamie-Lee, and her family, where they have many relatives close by including grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins to help with transportation and medical care.

Madden currently suffers from low muscle tone (hypotonia) which prevents him from being able to adequately swallow oral feeds, affects digestion, motor skills and more as he grows. The low muscle tone also contributes to the risk of aspiration.

He endures seizures and intense reflux and he is currently fed via a NG tube and eventually will have a full Gastric feed tube put in.

Madden is currently on six different medications including Dextromethorphine - This helps by binding to the receptors in Maddens brain so the glycine attacks it, instead of his neurons; Omeprezole - This medication helps control the intense reflux Madden experiences; Domperidone - This medication helps move stomach contents and helps prevent reflux and aspiration; Keppra - This is an anti convulsant meant to help control his seizure activity; Levocarnitine - Meant to help give Madden energy to prevent lethargy; and Sodium Benzoate - Reduces the glycine levels in his blood.

He receives formula via his NG tube every three hours (all day and night) which takes up to an hour to do, and medications four times a day which can take around 20 minutes.

So, as you can see, not much sleep is had! Every day is a precious gift and Madden sure has proved he is a miracle and fighter!

There are many different professionals helping with Madden's care, including home nurses, pediatricians, occupational therapists, and dieticians, along with a metabolic Team at Sick Kids, neurology at Sick Kids, genetics counsellors, social workers, and more.

Recently, the family received confirmation from Sick Kids Genetics department with the results of genetic testing at birth confirming the NKH. Madden is missing the GLDC gene which is the most common and severe form of NKH.

Non-ketotic hyperglycinemia (NKH) is a rare, genetic, metabolic disorder caused by a defect in the enzyme system that breaks down the amino acid glycine, resulting in an accumulation of glycine in the body's tissues and fluids.

The National Organization for Rare Disorders says classic NKH is caused be genetic variants (mutations) in the genes that encode the components of the glycine cleavage enzyme system. This enzyme system is responsible for breaking down the amino acid glycine in the body. When it is not working properly,

Born in St. John's, Newfoundland, Gwynne Dyer is a London-based independent journalist, a military historian and author of many books including War; Future: Tense; and Crawling from the Wreckage, to name a few. He is a syndicated columnist for newspapers in 175 countries, including the Orangeville Citizen.

In 2010, Mr. Dyer was appointed an Officer of the Order of Canada for his work.

"We have a situation," Gwynne Dyer told the students seated in historic Corbetton Church last week. "The most powerful country in the world governs by tweeting," he said, referencing U.S. President Donald Trump's penchant for talking to "his people" via Twitter. Mr. Dyer called Trump the "highest profile example so far to represent a greater phenomenon - the populism movement." Populism historically pits a select group of the people (in this case - Trump's people) against the political elite. The current movement of which expressly combines the concept with overt nationalism and xenophobia rejecting any different views. "Trump is not an isolated accident," said the historian. "The first example was Brexit" - the British vote to pull out of a 40 year union with Europe designed to provide both economic and military security. Mr. Dyer said the "British rhetoric [that secured that vote] sounded like Trump." And, like Trump, the rhetoric "was not focused on the truth.' He said if the students looked at "who pushed Trump into the White House" they would see that it was the "rust belt" areas - the "once industrial heartland" south of the Great Lakes. "These were once rich states with beautiful architecture and museums," he said. "But their industries are gone, living conditions are poor and whole areas abandoned." The disintegration of Detroit is probably the starkest example. These people "feel cheated from the life they expected," he said - not dissimilar to "the 1930s" when the populist movement in Europe led to the acceptance of fascism and WWII. Mr. Dyer said Donald Trump won support by "blaming immigrants for the problem." But, he said, "the problem is not going away" because the truth is that 9/10 jobs lost in the United States last year alone were "automated out of existence."

"Robots took the jobs - not immigrants," said the historian.

The new idea, he said, that new jobs will be created through automation is misleading. "Perhaps a few," he said, but there will continue to be "big net losses" in any jobs that can be automated. He used the examples of the auto industry assembly lines; the loss of 1 million bank teller positions in the U.S.; cashiers disappearing; and he predicts, with the coming of automated vehicles, transit and transport workers will be next.

The journalist said jobs will continue to vanish – because it makes economic sense for glycine accumulates in the body, resulting in the symptoms associated with NKH.

As a result, Jamie-Lee has started a Go Fund Me Campaign which will go to his daily care, medical costs, transportation costs, and all else associated with helping with his care.

Unfortunately, not all of his medications are covered by the Trillium Drug Card and these are pertinent to his survival.

With multiple trips to Toronto and Brampton every week, funds are needed to help with parking fees and fuel.

Doctors have also suggested Madden's mother not return to work as she is needed for his 24 hour medical needs.

Madden will eventually get his G tube inserted, and the G tube supplies might not covered by any finance programs, which could cost upwards of $2,000 dollars.

In the future, doctors also suggest he may never walk, talk or even grasp things, so there will be future costs such as a wheelchair, home accessibility improvements, etc.

Unfortunately, there is no cure for NKH but the family continues to help him thrive with all the love and support they can.

corporations. "Trump will not be able to fix it," he said.

"There is a rough passage ahead," he told the students. "The capitalist structure collapses when people have no money to spend."

However, Mr. Dyer said he was not without hope, nor did he leave his listeners without hope. He told the students that he was encouraged by corporate leaders who have recently begun to "think outside the box" and discuss solutions such as Universal Basic Income (UBI) in order to turn, "what feels like a disaster, into an opportunity."

He said the Province of Ontario has promised to start a study on the concept of UBI this year.

Shelburne Police Use of Force reports continue to be low in 2016

Shelburne Police has submitted fewer Use of Force reports in 2016 than the previous two years. Two reports were submitted in 2016, compared to four in 2015, and four in 2014.

The Police Services Act requires members of a police service to submit a use of force report to the Chief of Police whenever the member: 1) draws a handgun in the presence of a member of the public, excluding a member of the police force while on duty, or discharges a firearm, 2) Uses a weapon other than a firearm on another person; or 3) Uses physical force on another person that results in an injury requiring medical attention.

Both use of force reports in 2016 were for using "soft empty hand techniques" in order to affect an arrest. There were no incidents in 2016 where an officer drew a firearm, used a taser, used pepper spray, or used a baton.

"Considering the fact that our officers responded to over 4,000 dispatched calls for police assistance from members of the public and dealt with a wide variety of actively resistant [and/or] occasionally dangerous offenders, these statistics are impressive and well within acceptable margins," states Chief Moore.

LOST A VALUABLE? IT MAY HAVE BEEN TURNED IN TO POLICE

Shelburne Police receives several items every month that are turned in by good-hearted citizens. These items are often found on roadways, sidewalks, or in parking lots.

"For example, we just received a pair of prescription glasses that appear to be quite expensive," said Constable Paul Neumann. "A citizen brought them in to us after finding them on a walkway in town", stated Constable Paul Neumann. "Sometimes the owners of items are easy to track down, but in some instances, including these glasses, it is quite difficult.

"We are encouraging people who have lost or misplaced a valuable item to call or visit us. The item may be turned in and we can return it to the owner. Or it may be turned in shortly after the owner reports it to us and then we can notify them when it is brought in", added Constable Neumann.

Shelburne Police gets all kinds of items turned in, including keys, cell phones, wallets, glasses, jewelry, and more.

A roadside investigation ensued and the driver was arrested.

At the station, the driver provided breath samples indicating he had 140mg of alcohol per 10ml blood in his system.

As a result, 66-year-old David Cook of Mount Forest was charged with Impaired Operation, Operation over, Speeding and two highway traffic act document charges.

The accused's driver's license was instantly suspended for 90 days and his vehicle impounded for seven days.

Gaslight in the spotlight with Tipling Stage Company

BY MARNI WALSH

The cast of Tipling Stage Company's (TSC) Gaslight will soon be under the spotlight at Grace Tipling Stage as their rehearsals stretch into the final weeks of production.

The opening play of their 2017 season is scheduled to for the end of March.

The Victorian era, play written by Patrick Hamilton, first came to the stage in London, England in 1938, "subsequently inventing the term 'gaslighting' as a form of psychological abuse used by narcissists to create anxiety and confusion in their victims" says the company.

According to TSC, the central character, Bella Manningham, is "more than half convinced that - like her mother who died insane - she, too, is losing her mind." In fact, the male lead, "Jack Manningham is slowly, deliberately driving his wife insane.

"He has almost succeeded when a former detective, Rough, visits her while her husband is out of the house. Detective Rough believes Manningham to be a maniacal criminal - a thief, and the murderer of a former occupant of the Suspense and thrills follow, which so captivated audiences in the 1940s that the play was made into a film starring Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer.

Bev Nicholas is at the helm of the production as director.

Nicholas directed Murder Mistaken for TSC last year and has acted in and directed several of the company's productions. He was last seen performing at Tipling as an FBI agent disguised as a beach bum in The Trouble with Trent in 2015.

The Director calls Gaslight, "One of the great classical psychological thrillers of the thirties" filled with "beautiful Patrick Hamilton dialogue, humour, and suspense with an exciting and unexpected ending."

"Rehearsals are going well as we have only just re-started," he says. "The weather played havoc with us this winter and we had to postpone this production from its original dates at the end of January to the now, the end of March. We only have a month to go, but the cast is responding with good hard work."

Tipling Stage Company's production of the thriller Gaslight includes Jess Walker as Bella and Michael Bedford as her nineteenth century, autocratic husband who, in fact, proves to be something far worse. PHOTO BY JEAN MILLER

That cast includes Jess Walker, who starred in Barefoot in the Park last October, and is taking on the demanding role of Bella. Jess has appeared in several Dundalk Little Theatre productions and is apparently "enjoying being a hysterical, submissive Victorian wife."

Michael Bedford, new to Tipling Stage Company, is reportedly "doing a great job as Jack Manningham with what appears to be a stereotypical, nineteenth century, autocratic husband who, in fact, proves to be something far worse."

The company's producer jokes that "the audience will really hate him."

Peter King, playing the retired Detective Rough, has appeared in several Tipling productions over the years. Last seen as Medkins, the butler, in But Why Bump Off Barnaby? Peter is also a regular performer on Caledon and Hillsburgh stages.

Jo Hubbard is well known to Shelburne and Dundalk audiences as both an actor and director. Jo was last seen as the hapless maid in Murder Mistaken and also appeared in The Trouble with Trent last year.

Ashley Duncan was last seen as "Red Riding Hood" in the Tipling Stage Company pantomime. Ashley is "practicing her acting abilities as the cheeky, flirtatious maid - Bella's anathema in cleverly bringing out her mistress's inadequacies."

"The competition for community theatre is great with all the electronic devices that are now available," says Bev. "Many community groups are feeling this, and could possibly close down, which is a real shame as community theatre is the backbone of Canada's great tradition of professional theatre."

The company is hoping the Shelburne community will continue to come out and support them.

Gaslight will be performed at Grace Tipling Hall, in Shelburne on Friday, March 31, and Saturday, April 1 at 8:00 pm, Sunday, April 2 at 2:00 pm and Friday, April 8 and Saturday, April 9 at 8:00 pm.

Tickets are $15 at these Shelburne locations: Caravaggio IDA, Holmes Appliances & Music Shop, and Shelburne Town Hall.

They can also be purchased online from the Tipling Stage Company website or at the door.

If you are interested in booking for a group of more than ten people, please contact info@tiplingstagecompany.com to arrange a discount of $5.00 per ticket.

Royals senior b-ball team in District final

BY BRIAN LOCKHART

The Centre Dufferin District High School Royals senior basketball team wrapped up a stellar season with a trip to the District 4 finals on Wednesday, February 22, in Orangeville.

The squad finished in second place in the regular season with a 6-2 record scoring 484 points and allowing only 298 against.

The Royals won their way to the championship with a win over Wellington Heights in the semi-final game, setting up a championship match against the undefeated Westside Secondary School Thunder.

It was a good start for the Royals in the final game, jumping out to an 18-7 lead in the first quarter and staying ahead by eight points at the half to lead 28-20.

Westside managed to close that gap to a couple of points on a free throw then came within two points when they hit a 3-pointer.

After tying the game, the Thunder went on a hot offensive streak to lead 46-35 to start the fourth quarter.

The Royals battled back and started closing in and reduced the score to a four point Westside lead late in the game, then came within a point of tying it up as both teams worked hard up and down the court.

With 43 seconds left on the clock, Westside was leading by a single point.

A foul awarded to the Thunder resulted in a successful shot that gave the Westside team two more points and a 60-57 win to claim the championship.

"We came out flying and that was part of the objective," said Royals coach Matt Barlow. "They had a good start in the last two games we played them and we counteracted that. We knew they were going to battle back. They can shoot from the outside and they got some guys who can score the bar. It was kind of expected.

"I knew we couldn't go up by 15 and stay up by 15. It was inevitable that we would have to battle to come back. That four minutes is the third quarter was where we lost it. I said to the guys at the end of the third, 'We've got two choices - we can pack it in right now and hop on the bus or we can play til the end.' They've done that all season. I've never known these guys to not give an effort right til the horn goes and they battled back. Even though we came up short I was pretty happy. We were down 12 at the end of the third quarter and we came back."

Westside was the only team the Royals lost to this season. The Thunder will now continue on to compete at the regional level at CWOSSA.

The Centre Dufferin District High School Royals senior basketball team take on the Westside Secondary School Thunder in the Westside gym in Orangeville for the District 4 senior championship on Wednesday, February 22. The Royals had a good lead in the first half but Westside battled back and went ahead in the third quarter. A final free throw late in the fourth quarter gave the Thunder a PHOTO BY BRIAN LOCKHART 60-57 lead to claim the District championship.

Junior Royals capture District basketball championship

BY BRIAN LOCKHART

The Centre Dufferin District High School Royals Junior boys basketball team have capture the District 4 championship with a home court win over the Wellington Heights Secondary School Wolverines.

The final game took place on Wednesday, February 22, in Shelburne.

The Royals entered the final after finishing the regular season in first place then dispatching Erin District High School in the semi-final.

Taking only one loss for the season, the Royals scored 381 for the season while allowing 271 points against.

The final game saw the Royals take a 25 – 16 lead by the midway mark in the third quarter then extend the lead to 12 points going into the final quarter of play to lead 32-20.

Playing a solid defensive game the Royals kept Wellington Heights to the outside forcing them to take a lot of shots from the outside that didn't make the hoop.

The Wolverines put up a good fight in the fourth quarter in an attempt to get back in the game but a relentless Royals squad kept up was going to be tough. When we played them before we won by three, we won by two, in the regular season so we knew it was going to close. I told the guys we just had to play our game. Defence was the key. We played amazing defence. We had hustle, the bench was cheering. It was the first time all year we got the bench involved that much. It was just a really intense game and we didn't let up. That was the key."

The win is quite an accomplishment for the team as a junior squad. Nine of the 11 players on the team are in grade nine and in their first year of high school basketball.

The Royals junior team has now earned the right to compete at the regional level and will go to CWOSSA to compete against championship teams from several districts.

"I play a lot of golf - with basketball it's great to play a team sport. It's a great physical outlet. You battle as hard as you can. I like to think my way through the game. Where can I position myself to be most efficient? I think about the angles. It's a thinking process for me which I really enjoy," Henry said of why he likes the sport.

Oro Medonte took a beating from Shelburne's Local League Atom 1 on Sunday, February 26 at the home arena.

Shelburne's team had travelled to Oro the day before and scooped their first win against Oro in the local league playoffs.

The first period started slow with both teams feeling their feet but closed on a good note with the first goal for Shelburne being netted by Noah Scherer. The team has had a great season winning or tieing most of their games and they went bouncing into the playoffs with great enthusiasm and encouraged by the confident coaching team led by Yens Thalenhorst.

Currently placed second in the league standings, the team have a good chance of winning the League.

The second period started well, and the team were passing well, carrying the puck to the opposing net. Lucas Bennington netted the second goal, bringing the score to 2 - 1.

Tense was the game and teamwork was the essence of the day.

Both Oro and Shelburne keeping a tight net defence, but Oro just couldn't hold back Logan

Leonardo netting the final third goal.

The final score of 3-1 was welcomed by the cheering parents in the stands, and smiling 10 and 11 year olds.

The Atom team can't wait to play their next game against first-place team, Elmvale, on March 4.

Christian Perspectives: Worry & Faith By REV. STEPHANIE PELLOW

Jesus asked, "Can you by worrying add a single hour to your life span?"

Of course, the answer is "no." The opposite is actually true. Excessive worry increases stress and can even shorten our life spans.

Worrying. Now there's a habit that is hard to break especially when a pattern of worrying is learned early in life. I know. I grew up with worriers. My mother worried about our safety, worried whether she would get things done, worried if the place my father worked would go on strike. My grandmother was even worse, I think. She even worried about what other people would think of her!

I have often wondered if worrying about the small things in life is really just a cover-up for a difficulty in facing the "big" questions. Do we fasten on the things of daily life – what we will eat, what we will wear? – to keep our minds so busy that we don't explore questions like: Is there really a God? What can I know about the nature of God? How do our lives have meaning? If God is loving, why is there suffering in the world? Why does evil persist? What do these eternal questions have to do with me?

Whether our worry is centred on the "big questions" or on the day-to-day concerns of our personal lives, the experience of worry and anxiety is something most of us share.

Here is the story of a woman and what came out of her worries.

This woman lived around 1350-1400 in England. In later life, she chose to live in a small cell attached to St. Julian's church in Norwich, England. We know her as Julian of Norwich.

As a young woman, she suffered through a lengthy, life-threatening illness. She had every reason to worry about her safety. On more than one occasion she was not expected to live.

During her illness, she reported experiencing signs or "showings" as she called them. These helped her to understand more about the nature of God.

Julian of Norwich described her "showings" in a book, a rare and possibly risky thing for a woman of that time to do. After she had faced the worst of her severe and prolonged illness, she found that her priorities had changed. Seeking God was foremost in her life and she also began to share wisdom and prayer with people who sought her out as a spiritual advisor and teacher.

In exchange, they supplied her with her physical needs of food and clothing.

Julian of Norwich professed her complete confidence in God's loving providence as she prayed and taught others to believe and pray, "All will be well, and all will be well and all manner of things will be well."

"Fairness for all" focus of World Day of Prayer

BY MARNI WALSH

On Friday, March 3, women in more than 170 countries and in 2,000 communities across Canada will gather to pray for, learn about, and celebrate the women of The Philippines through World Day of Prayer (WDP).

A service will be held in Shelburne in the lower level of the Mel Lloyd Centre at 2 p.m.

Led in a service prepared by the women of the Philippines, celebrations in Shelburne are being organized by Marg Tupling and Marg Finlayson of St. Paul's Anglican Church. Musical arrangements are being made by Ann McAlpine of Trinity United Church.

"In Shelburne, all the churches gather together for this event with one church hosting each year," says Reverend Stephanie Pellow of St. Paul's Church. "During the service, the participants will have an opportunity to learn more about that country and to pray for the particular needs of people in the Philippines as well as the more universal prayers for the world."

World Day of Prayer (WDP) is a worldwide movement of Christian women founded in the early part of the last century. Women of many traditions come together on the first Friday of March each year to observe a common day of prayer.

In a press release prepared by the Philippian WDP committee, the women of the islands shared their thoughts on the day:

"We engage with the whole world, and are enriched by the faith experience of Christians of other countries and cultures, share the burdens of other people by praying with them, and use our own talents in the service of God's world. Prayer and action are inseparable and have immeasurable influence in the world."

They pose the questions: "What might Canadians learn from women of the Philippines, a country on the frontlines of climate change, foreign mining and resources interests, a regional insurgency and social upheaval due to migration? How will we answer the question, am I being unfair to you?"

Rowena Artist "Apol" Laamana-Sta. Rosa, a 32-year-old wife, mother and freelance illustrator in The Philippines created the artwork for 2017 WDP. She says her WDP artwork, A Glimpse of the Philippine Situation, tells the story of "God's economic justice in contrast to the economy of the strong and the powerful in her beautiful artwork."

"God gave the Philippines abundant resources, both human and material," says Rowena. "God is the great provider and provision is for all of creation. This is God's display of economic justice in contrast to the economy where the strong and powerful take God's resources for themselves.

Ruth Cruikshank, a long-time member of Trinity United Church and yearly contributor to the World Day of Prayer celebrations says, for her, "It is an important local ecumenical learning experience."

"I look forward to learning from the Philippian women who live in a country with concerns about climate change, foreign mining, and social concerns with migration. We will pray together and think about fairness for all," she says.

Shelburne and area will join with Dufferin Oaks in celebrating World Day of Prayer in the auditorium at The Mel Lloyd Centre (Door C) on Friday, March 3, 2017 at 2 pm. All are welcome.

Julian of Norwich's message of trust in God's providence is important for us.

We read in the Gospel of Matthew, Chapter 6, about the bounty of the earth. The birds and the flowers are more beautifully clothed than King Solomon in all his glory.

We read that God provides for the needs of the birds who do not "sow, reap or gather into barns," and that we are of more value than the grass of the fields and the birds. Recognizing the bounty of the earth around us, we can think about a couple of things.

We are the ones "of little faith" who need to have more faith in God's providence, to have more faith that God knows what we need and what we will need as individuals and as a species to survive on earth.

And the second thing we can do is to follow the directive at the end of the same chapter in the Gospel of Matthew, "Strive first for the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things will be given to you as well."

We are to seek to live as Jesus taught us – with love for God and for our neighbour. Simple as it sounds, practised on a global scale, living in love for each other would give us the co-operation needed to create positive change in our lives and in the world.

An intimate Gallery reading with Jodi Jones

BY MICHELLE JANZEN

See Medium Jodi Jones channel evidential messages from your loved ones in spirit to confirm life after life on Saturday March 18, 2017 at Being In Balance from 12 noon until 1:30 pm.

This is a wonderful opportunity to have Jodi contact your loved ones in spirit and relay their wonderful loving messages and guidance personally to you!

Come and experience firsthand Jodi's extraordinary gift as she communicates with your loved ones.

Ms. Jones has been working in the field of Energy Medicine for more than 10 years and has used many modalities to help her clients find healing on their journey through this lifetime.

"I have always been very empathic and sensitive to energy and through many years of study and self-development with some incredible teachers I have successfully learned how to interpret energy fields and have been using this information to help guide my clients," she says. "It wasn't until I began having intense experiences myself with Spirit that I needed to seek out understanding of why and how Spirit wanted to work with me to help myself and others.

"I have been truly blessed with the opportunity to study mediumship for the last year with acclaimed medium and spiritual teacher Mary-

We are currently seeking newspaper carriers to deliver once a week for the Orangeville Citizen & Shelburne Free Press on anne Kennedy, and am absolutely loving the amazing experiences that working with loved ones in spirit is giving me!"

Practicing Evidential Mediumship, Ms. Jones uses several forms of communication such as: clairvoyance (clear seeing), claircognizance (clear knowing), clairaudience (clear hearing), and clairsentience (clear sensation or feeling), allowing her to bring through information about your loved ones that is specific and relevant to you personally.

Her skills allow her to communicate with Spirit in a way that not only helps you to connect with your loved ones but also will help you to start the healing journey that you may be seeking.

When doing a reading, Ms. Jones never asks you to provide any details about your life or your loved ones in spirit. She also asks that you don't include any of this information with your request for a personal reading. She does ask that you come to a reading with an open mind and an open heart as the connection that takes place is between herself and spirit but starts with you.

Although Ms. Jones can't guarantee who will come through she does know that whoever is meant to come through will.

At this Gallery reading, Ms. Jones will give as many readings as possible and states, "Spirit has an amazing way of delivering messages to many at once!"

In a one-on-one reading your reading will be recorded and sent to you via email.

This amazing event lasts for 90 minutes (but may run longer)! Limited to just eight attendees, this will be an Intimate and Powerfully Healing experience! Pre-registration is required and at a cost of only $40, tickets will go fast!

Ms. Jones tells us, "It is an honor and a sacred gift to be able to effectively connect with spirit and I am incredibly thankful for the opportunity to help people reconnect."

Being In Balance is located at 155 Main Street West-Suite 102 (Side Entrance). They can be reached at 519-925-1999, info@beinginbalance.ca or www.beinginbalnce.ca.

Track boundaries.

Trustees approved the initiation of the Orangeville/South Dufferin French Immersion (FI) Boundary Review at the February 28 board meeting.

The review will involve changes to current PEPS JK-3 FI and MAPS Grade 4-8 FI boundaries to create a new FI school boundary. There are also changes proposed to the current FI grade configurations at PEPS and MAPS.

The boundary review will take place

7 to 9 p.m. at Princess Elizabeth PS. The purpose of the public meeting is for board staff to share the information from the Initial Boundary Review Report, gather input into the recommended option and answer questions.

Members of the school community are encouraged to visit www.ugdsb. on.ca/osdbr for more information about this review including reports, timelines, delegation opportunities and an online form where you can submit comments to staff and trustees.
