Wade Mills to be acclaimed as Shelburne's next mayor, talks plans with the Free Press

Written By MIKE PICKFORD

The race to become Shelburne's next mayor is already over.

After incumbent Ken Bennington spectacularly withdrew his nomination papers back in July, just weeks after initially submitted them, it became clear there was to be a new face at the helm following October's municipal election.

In a strange twist of fate, the community now knows who will take over the big seat on council, a full two months ahead of schedule. Wade Mills, who is on the cusp of completing his first term on Shelburne council, will be acclaimed as mayor after running unopposed.

Speaking to the Free Press this week, Mr. Mills admitted it came as a surprise when, at 2:01 p.m. on July 27, it became apparent that nobody in the community would stand against him in his bid to become Shelburne's next mayor. He knew he wouldn't face competition from Mayor Bennington, having spoken to the 20-year political veteran ahead of launching his own bid for mayor, but, in the back of his mind, he maybe suspected an 11th hour bid coming in from elsewhere.

"It wasn't at all how I expected it to go down," Mr. Mills said. "But at least we have a competitive race for deputy mayor and for council."

Running for mayor wasn't always on Wade's agenda heading into this year's election, but, he said, encouragement from local residents coupled with a sense of duty to lead the municipality through this "critical juncture" were enough to provoke a change of plans.

Further explaining his decision, Mr. Mills expressed his belief that Shelburne was approaching something of a crossroads, stating the decisions this next council will be making over the next four years will have a lasting impact on the long-term future of the community.

"Most politicians, when running for office, talk about the fact that this is a consequential election, but honestly, I do believe that this is one of those elections," Mr. Mills said. "There are so many pressures coming at us from different directions, we may not have a second chance to get these decisions right. That played into my decision to a large degree."

C.O.R.E Jamboree attended by many, "a profound success"

Written By MARNI WALSH

Organizer Bill Duron says the Jim Cuddy Jamboree to raise funds for the community environmental protection group C.O.R. E. on August 5th was "a profound success." Conserve Our Rural Environment (C.O.R.E.) has monitored and responded to issues that challenge protecting the environment and appropriate use of land in Mulmur for many years.

Close to 400 people attended the event at Lyric Pond, the home of Bill and Melody Duron near Honeywood, to support CORE's work. This was achieved "not only through raising awareness of the work CORE does and gaining new members," says Bill Duron, but by "building and maintaining a reasonable 'war chest' to ensure we can be nimble and effective in responding to inappropriate land use issues as they arise."

"The major battle was the proposed Mega Quarry," says Mr. Duron, "and after paying the accumulated debt from CORE's participation in that opposition, the organization is still actively involved with the Airport Road gravel pit hearings, scheduled for January 2019, to ensure that any approval guarantees that Airport Road is not used as a haul route for gravel trucks. This will enhance safety on a road the Ministry of Transportation has designated as dangerous."

Lyric Pond was chosen for the first concert 14 years ago, when Sarah Harmer camped at Lyric Pond for her Niagara Escarpment tour. The August 5th dinner and concert took place under a tent erected on the shores of the three acre pond. Jim Cuddy's band, and his opener, Austin McCarthy, donated their time and talent for the annual fundraiser, performing on a hay wagon with guests surrounding them on bales of hay. The $200 tickets for adults included the meal and entertainment, with reduced prices offered to students and children.

"The weather was perfect," says Bill Duron, "and the beer provided complimentary for 14 years was welcome refreshment, along with Megalomania Wines. The New Farm provided the vegetables, and the reaction by the attendees to the catering of the Flying Chestnut Restaurant was over the top. At about 9pm, the Jim Cuddy Band and Andy Maize of Skydiggers climbed on Norm MacEachern's hay wagon and on the very first song, everybody stood up from their square bales of hay and started dancing. They never sat down and cheered enthusiastically at the conclusion of every song."

With a goal of raising $25,000 in mind, Conserve Our Rural Environment says it "intends to use the proceeds from the Jamboree to retain professional services, such as an engineer, to support the voluntary pro bono lawyers, Jane Pepino and Alistair Crawley, who will argue in court that gravel trucks should not be using the dangerous Airport Road to transport aggregate from the proposed gravel pit at County Road 21 and Airport Road."

Duron says CORE has also worked with Mulmur Township Mayor, Paul Mills, "in convincing the Ministry of Natural Resources to restock the Pine River Fishing Area with 10,000 speckled trout, which has not been done in 20 years, creating a new natural and recreational resource in the Mulmur Hills. There are also parking lot gates which help prevent the area from dumping violations and reducing off road violations in the Pine River Forest from dirt bikes, ATV's and trucks."

The organization, which is "emphatic in promoting the necessity of being engaged in land use policy in Mulmur, thanks "the attendees, sponsors, and musicians for supporting the effort to protect the agricultural

Wade Mills to be acclaimed as Shelburne's next mayor, talks plans with the Free Press

The local lawyer added, "If we're facing these kind of critical decisions, it's going to take a certain skillset and certain style of leadership to navigate us through those difficult waters."

Wade has been encouraged seeing the number of "quality" candidates who have stepped forward, signalling their intent to secure a position on council. Steve Anderson and Dan Sample, both current members of council, will duke it out for the position of deputy mayor, after incumbent Geoff Dunlop announced his retirement. At the council level, only Walter Benotto will seek re-election. He will face competition from Althea Casamento, Lindsay Wegener, Kyle Fegan, Mikal Archer, Lynda Buffer, Shane Hall, James Hodder and Len Guchardi.

"I've had the opportunity to meet all of the candidates at this point, some I know better than others, but what encourages me the most is that we have a pool of candidates who are reasonably young, all of them seem energized and enthusiastic about the future of this town," Mr. Mills said. "Whichever way the voters decide to go on Oct. 22, we're going to have a council who is ready to go to work on day one and get the job done."

That job, Wade says, is for council to ensure it is putting the community in the best position possible to prosper moving forward. The fastest growing small community in Ontario is facing several issues, and, subsequently, key decisions as it attempts to handle that growth. The main decision will be deciding the future of the Shelburne Police Service.

It's no secret that the municipality has requested a costing from the OPP. Faced with potentially having to fund a new multi-million dollar police station in the very near future, council decided to assess its options before committing to such an unprecedented expense. Wade was one of the loudest proponents for seeking a costing from the OPP, but, contrary to popular belief in the community, he says he has not yet made a final decision regarding the future of policing in the community.

"The truth is I don't have a position yet. I pushed long and hard to get a costing done, but that was because I believed, and continue to believe, that we as elected officials have a responsibility to look at all of our available options before committing millions of dollars to a new station," Mr. Mills said. "We don't know what the costing proposal will be from the OPP yet, we won't know until early next year. At this point, I'm very much keeping an open mind."

He says the town needs to look into ways to boost its industrial and commercial sectors to catch up to the "tremendous" increase in residential properties in Shelburne over the past couple of years. He's keen to ensure that Shelburne doesn't simply become a 'bedroom community' for those with jobs in the GTA.

Adding to its industrial and commercial tax base would allow the municipality to ensure it can keep up with the growth and not only maintain, but build on its existing infrastructure.

"Financial sustainability is going to be a big thing for this next council. With the growth pressures we've seen, it's added to the pressures we were already seeing on our infrastructure," Wade said. "We're going to have to crunch some numbers and put a long-term financial plan into place to make sure we're able to handle all future growth."

Towards the end of the interview, following a question from this reporter, Wade touched on his relationship with his father – current mayor of Mulmur Paul Mills. He noted that he's had "sort of a front row seat", thanks to his dad, to see what the political landscape is like in Dufferin County. He's had the opportunity to discuss with his father exactly what is expected from the mayor of a community, noting "even though I am going to be new to the role, it's not like I'm walking into it without a sense for what I'm getting myself into."

Should Paul be successful in his bid for re-election in Mulmur, both father and son will have a seat on Dufferin County council – something Wade admitted would be "really neat". The pair currently serve together on the Shelburne and District Fire Board, but representing their respective communities at the county level would be a regional first.

While that sidebar drew some interest from Mr. Mills, he noted his main concern, as has been the case for the past four years, is ensuring the community of Shelburne is afforded every opportunity to achieve its potential. His vision over the next four years, as he mentioned earlier, was ensuring that council gets a handle on the growth the municipality is experiencing and uses it to build the community in such a way that anyone would be proud to call it home.

As for what the public can expect to see from Wade on a personal level, he noted he's a down to earth, family focused individual who is committed to making a difference in his community.

"What people can expect to see from me is somebody at the helm that has a clear vision for where this town needs to be. I have long roots in this community, but I've also spent time outside of Shelburne, which I think brings a different perspective," Wade said. "I think that's important when you consider the sorts of decision making processes and approach I'll bring to the job."

He concluded, "I think I can relate to people who have lived here their whole lives, but also have a fairly clear sense of what has brought new residents to this town. I have the ability to relate to both of those groups. Hopefully I'll act as a bit of a unifying force to bring the town together over the next four years so that we can tackle some of the issues we're going to face together as a community."

1918: The turn of a coin

On August 8, 1918, 100 years ago on Wednesday, it finally became clear who was going to win the First World War. Nine Canadian and Australian divisions, almost 200,000 men, attacked the German trenches near Amiens, deep in France – and for the first time in the war, the German troops ran away.

By the second day of the battle the Germans were resisting fiercely again, but their commander, General Ludendorff, called it "the black day of the German army." After that, Germany did nothing but retreat, and the armistice was signed only three months later.

Yet just a few months before, Germany nearly won the war. The Bolshevik Revolution took Russia out of the war in 1917, and Germany was able to shift half a million troops to western Europe. For the first time it had numerical superiority over the British and French troops, and the great German offensives of spring 1918 tore the old Western Front apart.

But the German offensives ran out of steam without permanently splitting the French and British armies, and the war might have ended there, in a draw. Everybody was exhausted by 1918. Half the French army had mutinied in 1917 and was still not fit for combat. British divisions were down to half their strength.

Only the Canadians and the Australians still had full-strength divisions (20-25,000 men), and by 1918 they were very experienced troops. That's why they spearheaded almost every attack in the 'Hundred Days' offensive that ended the war. But the real reason German morale collapsed was that 10,000 more American troops were landing in France every day.

The inexperienced American troops didn't play a starring role in the 'Hundred Days', but their presence was decisive. Everybody knew there would be 3 million American soldiers in France by the end of the year, and they'd gain combat experience fast enough. Once Germany's last-chance offensives of spring 1918 failed, it was bound to lose the war.

That's the real history, and the result was a catastrophic defeat for Germany and a peace treaty so harsh that it laid the foundations for the rise of Hitler and a second, even worse world war. But change only one decision, and it could all have come out very differently.

That decision was taken in January 1917. At that point there seemed no way for Germany to beat the far larger numbers of its enemies on the battlefield, and a German admiral persuaded the government to launch unrestricted submarine attacks on ships bringing supplies to Britain – including ships of neutral countries like the United States.

That would bring America into the war, of course, but the admiral promised that Britain would be starved into making peace long before any American troops reached Europe. He was wrong: Britain didn't starve, and the United States declared war on Germany in April 1917. By mid-1918 U.S. troops were flooding into France, and the game was up.

But the first Russian revolution happened just after Germany decided on unrestricted submarine warfare. If that decision had been delayed by only two months, people in Berlin would have known that Russia was probably going to leave the war. Then they would never have taken the desperate gamble that the admiral was urging on them.

The German U-boats would never have sunk American ships, the U.S. would have stayed out of the war – and Germany might have won in 1918.

That would have been a good thing, because Germany would not have won a huge, decisive victory. It would just have won on points: Okay, our spring offensives didn't succeed, but they came close. Our troops are standing up to your counter-offensive (no masses of American troops to demoralise them). So maybe we should all just quit and go home.

After four years and ten million deaths, that would have been hard to do, but continuing the fighting into 1919 or 1920 would have been even harder. With Russia out of the war and America never in, neither side could hope for a decisive victory. They were all terrified of having revolutions like Russia's if the carnage went on. So stop now.

There would have been no 'peace' treaty like Versailles that heaped all the blame for the war on one side and made the losers pay the entire cost of it ('reparations'). Germany would presumably have got its colonies back, but no territory would have changed hands in western Europe. And there probably would not have been a second world war.

Hitler came to power because Germany was punished so severely for a 'war guilt' that was really a shared responsibility. A 'no-score draw', by contrast, could have focussed people's attention more sharply on the basic lunacy of an international system that fostered such wars.

By the turn of a coin we got the 20th century that's in the history books instead. Too bad. It's hard to think of a different 20th century that would have been worse.

Challenging Carbon

It would appear that the Tory government of Premier Doug Ford wants a piece of the Fast & Furious franchise since it is wasting no time putting its political rubber to the road.

Late last week, Environment Minister Rod Phillips and Attorney General Caroline Mulroney announced they will launch a constitutional challenge against the Trudeau Liberals' plan to foist a carbon-pricing plan on our province.

One of the first things Premier Ford did was pull the plug on the defeated Wynne Liberals' dim-bulb idea to hit us with a tax grab disguised as a cap-and-trade scheme to penalize everyone for every whiff of greenhouse gas.

The result would increase consumer prices on just about everything not made of natural fibre, and make manufacturing in our province even less competitive.

As Ford put it, "Ontario taxpayers should not be subjected to a punishing carbon tax that makes our province uncompetitive and unaffordable."

So, he is taking the feds to court, and has budgeted $30-million to cover the legal costs since there also appears to be no such thing as a cheap lawyer.

But at least we have a tag-team in action. Saskatchewan Premier Scott Moe also wants no part of being forced by the federal Liberals to be onside with a carbon plan his province so vehemently opposed.

So, he's taking them to court, too.

Any more takers? Until the McGuinty-Wynne Liberals came along with the expensive, inefficient and ineffective Green Energy Program that made Liberal insiders rich and the rest of us poorer, Ontario was known as the economic engine of Canada.

Our electricity rates were among the lowest in North America and our workforce was able and dependable.

That was before coal became a dirty word, of course, all which got the Liberal-friendly investors making a killing on wind turbines and solar panels that shot the price of our household Hydro One bills through the roof.

The Ford Tories are setting out to right that wrong, and have already forced the Trudeau Liberals to scale back on their carbon-pricing plot.

It is still early days, though, and a long way to go.

But we are beginning to see light.

Editorial

Was this really necessary?

AS WE SEE IT, there was really no need for the traffic gridlock last weekend caused by Highway 10's reduction to two lanes at the First Street intersection in Orangeville.

As most readers traveling down the highway may have noticed, the traffic lineups Friday evening, Saturday morning and Monday afternoon and evening often stretched close to a kilometre.

Yes, there was indeed a need to replace two culverts, but that was accomplished before the weekend and the intersection could and should have been open to four lanes of highway traffic while no construction work was under way.

We don't know (or care) whether blame lies with the contractor, Aecon, or the London-based West Region office of Ontario's Ministry of Transportation, which incredibly has been left responsible for maintaining the highway north of the Broadway intersection.

We think Dufferin County Council should seek assurances from the ministry or Aecon that there will be no repetition of the situation on the Labour Day weekend, and ideally maintenance of four lanes whenever no workers are present.

OPP investigating three car fires, all containing human remains

Caledon and Dufferin OPP detachments are investigating three car fires involving human remains, one of which has already been declared a homicide.

An autopsy performed on the body of 54-year-old Giuseppe (Joe) Colavita, who was found deceased at a residential property located on Humber Station Road on July 31 at about 9:45 a.m.

Members with the Caledon OPP Major Crime Unit are investigating the circumstances that led to the death, under the direction of OPP Det.-Insp. Pete Liptrott of the Criminal Investigation Branch (CIB).

As of Wednesday, Humber Station Road remained closed between Healey Road and Mayfield Road while the police investigation continued.

Police are not disclosing how Mr. Colavita died or why they've ruled his death a homicide.

They are requesting assistance from the public with regards to this investigation. Any person with information regarding this investigation should contact the Caledon OPP TIPS line at: 1-844-677-9400, email information to OPP.Caledon.Tips@opp.ca, or to remain anonymous call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS) or submit information online at www.peelcrimestoppers.ca.

Meanwhile, Caledon OPP officers are investigating another grisly vehicle fire that took place early Sunday in Caledon.

At approximately 3:45 a.m., Caledon Fire Department was dispatched to a vehicle fire on McLaughlin Road North near Mayfield Road. Fire crews extinguished the vehicle fire and discovered human remains inside the vehicle.

The human remains and vehicle have been removed from the scene to the Ontario Forensic Pathology Service in Toronto.

Police say the fire was not the result of a collision, nor have they confirmed if the body was that of a man or woman.

Earlier, in an incident police are not yet saying was related, Dufferin OPP were called in relation to a car fire north of Orangeville that also included human remains. It hasn't been determined yet if the other two cases are related to the Caledon homicide in any way.

Police are asking that anyone with information regarding the fires to contact the OPP at 1-888-310-1122 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS). You can also submit your information online at www.p3tips.com.

Crime Stoppers does not subscribe to call display and you will remain anonymous. Being anonymous, you will not testify in court and your information may lead to a cash reward of up to $2,000.

Busy weekend

The Shelburne Police Service had a busy Civic Holiday long weekend on the roads. As well as dealing with many calls for service, Shelburne police laid 72 traffic related charges as well as an assault charge.

The charges are as follows:

38 speeding, 11 red light, fail to stop, six fail to surrender insurance card, three disobey sign, two sisobey stop sign, fail to stop, one drive without proper headlights – motor vehicle, one driver fail to surrender licence, one class G1 licence holder, unaccompanied by qualified driver, one fail to surrender permit for motor vehicle, one drive while child passenger nor properly secured, one passenger fail to properly wear seat belt, one fail to slow down and proceed with caution for emergency vehicle, one fail to report accident, one being intoxicated in public place, one prohibited heavy traffic operation, one driving while under suspension, one assault

The Shelburne Police Service encourages safe driving practices, as well as, the importance of wearing seatbelts and ensuring that children are fastened in car seats properly. Seatbelts save lives and it is mandatory for everyone to wear them.

Shelburne police revamps its bike patrols

The Shelburne Police Service is very excited to announce that it has revamped their use of bicycles on patrol. Shelburne Police Chief Kent Moore stated that "I am very excited to be able to say that Shelburne police officers are conducting bicycle patrols again. This is an important addition to our regular patrols as well as, an inexpensive but valuable benefit to our citizens".

Bike patrols allow officers the ability to access areas that cannot be accessed by a patrol car as well, can be used for crime control initiatives. Also, an officer on a bicycle is more easily approached by the public.

Let the music begin as HMF takes over the community

Written By MARNI WALSH

Tune the instruments and rosin' the bow – the Heritage Music Festival and 68th Canadian Open Old Time Fiddle Championship is finally here, and Shelburne is ready to play.

Co-Chair of the Heritage Music Festival, Bobbi Ferguson says, "I am so happy with how everyone has come together to help ensure that this year's festival is a success. The support and enthusiasm for all of our existing and new events has been incredible. There were a few scary moments when we thought that the Parade, Fiddle Contest and Fiddle Park were in jeopardy but it was very gratifying to see how the service clubs, the town and concerned citizens stepped forward to keep our traditions alive."

Early in the year, a team of popular Canadian Fiddlers including Scott Woods, Tyler Beckett, Linsey Beckett, Karen Reed, Devon Ballagh and Kendra Norris came together to keep the contest alive and have been busy promoting the Championship they say helped to build their careers.

The Heritage Music Festival events launched Wednesday night with Greg Holmes and area musicians holding a Country Jamboree at the Centre Dufferin Recreation Centre. Dancers crossed the floor as musicians and crooners filled the arena with old time favourites.

The Beckett Family will be the opening entertainment Thursday night with lots of Canadian Old Time Fiddling, Traditional Country Music and Ottawa Valley Step Dancing starting at 7:30 pm at the CDRC. HMF National Sponsor Country 105 will emcee, and a bar is available.

On Friday, The Trews are on stage at the CDRC with Pop Machine as their opening act. The Trews have received multiple East Coast Music Awards, a CIMA Road Gold Award, and an Independent Music Award (US) in 2009 for Best Rock/ Metal Song, as well as numerous JUNO Award nominations. Doors open at 6:30

The Canadian Open Old Time Fiddle Championship starts with the play-downs on Saturday morning at 10:00 am at the CDRC and culminating at 6:30 p.m. with the crowning of the Canadian Open Champion and Canadian Open Junior Champion. Prestigious Judges include Linsey Beckett, Tyler Beckett, Karen Reed and Louis Schryer. Entertainment will be provided by eight-time Canadian Open Old Time Fiddle Champion Louis Schryer.

Also on Saturday, from 11:30 am - 1pm the Small Town Girls, three talented sisters, will be performing on Main Street Shelburne, before the Fiddle Parade which is scheduled to begin at 1pm. After the Parade and continuing until 6:30 pm, audiences can enjoy Bands and Brews in Fiddle Park. Four great local bands of different genres will be performing, starting at approximately 2:30 p.m. Entrance to Fiddle Park is by donation for this event, so come and experience some great music, the Kinette Food Booth, and a beverage or two. The bands include Torn Down Units, Rag Maple, Whiskey Sour and Switch Backs. From 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., back at the CRDC, enjoy a Lasagne Dinner in the Town and Country Room for $12.

As is tradition, the events of the Heritage Music Festival finish on Sunday with a non-denominational Church Service with local fiddlers and the Barrel Boys, followed by a Pork BBQ at the Fair Grounds.

There is a renewed energy and camaraderie that can be sensed from those involved in the planning of events this year, and the future looks bright for the Festival and Championship. "The passion and support from the people Shelburne is very encouraging, and I hope that this year's HMF has events that will please every taste," says Bobbi Ferguson.

The Heritage Music Festival, featuring the 68th Canadian Open Old Time Fiddle Championship, will take place August 8-12 with proceeds of the events going to support Shelburne Rotary's many charitable projects.

Tickets can be purchased at heritagemusicalfestival.ca or at Holmes Music Shop, Main Street, Shelburne or call 519-925-3037, and purchased online at EventBrite. 2018 Heritage Music Festival

By Deb Freeman

The Heritage Music Festival, featuring the Canadian Open Old Time Fiddle Contest, is one of the largest of its kind and held in Shelburne every year. This will be the 68th year that this music festival and competition has drawn crowds from all over the world. Taking place on August 8-12, this event takes a team of volunteers to keep it going. Sponsored by the Rotary Club of Shelburne, it's 4 days of fun filled entertainment. There's a packed schedule with bands, a vendors market, a street parade and fiddlers from everywhere competing in the Fiddle contest. Proceeds from the 4 day event help many charities, such as Dufferin Oaks seniors home, the BMX track at Greenwood park, local schools, Headwaters health centre and many more. This year's special appearance is by the Trews, one of Canada's most successful rock bands, who have earned 17 top Rock radio singles. Also returning are the Becketts, a musical family that always thrill the audience and get you tapping your leg to the music. The Championship will take place on Saturday at 6.30pm so be sure not to miss any of the events and support the many musicians that work hard all year to be at this amazing festival. You sure won't be disappointed.

It's time for the Music Festival!

A tribute to Rev. Bruce Besley on the 43rd anniversary of HMF church service

Written By REV. GORD HORSLEY

The Heritage Music festival in Shelburne is upon us, the preparations for the event are complete, the town is in anticipation for great weather, and lots of people are expected to come out and enjoy the weekend.

As I help prepare the Church Service the Shelburne Ministerial hold on Sunday at 10 a.m., in the Shelburne Arena, it dawns on me this service has been going on for 43 years now, the event itself has been going for 68 years.

43 years ago Rev. Bruce Besley had a vision of having a Church service on the Sunday morning after the contest had finished Saturday night. Of course, like every visionary, he had naysayers, and many obstacles logistically, but that did not deter him. I am glad, I get to be part of what he started a good chunk of my life ago, and has become a tradition on this weekend for 43 years.

This article is a tribute to Rev. Besley and a brief history of the service he has inspired us to continue holding as long as the Heritage Music Festival (Fiddle Contest) exists.

I pray I can continue to do the Church service justice, and keep the honor of a great man of God and his vision alive. Also, please be gracious with me to the limitation of the knowledge I have from the years Rev. Stokes (who took over from Rev. Besley when he retired) led the service, until I came to Shelburne 15 years ago. Since I have been here Rev. Tipping, Rev. MacMillan, Rev. Barbara Moulton, Deacon Fernandez, Father Mark Curtis and Rev. Bob McLellan have brought the message at the service. Please join us Sunday, August 12th at 10 a.m.

Here's a history of the first twelve years of the Fiddleville Church Service in Rev. Besley's own words:

The general consensus (1975), among those involved with the weekend events was that everyone was worn out, that no one would be interested in anything on Sunday. After all there were days of preparation leading up to the mammoth event, then the steady work from Friday afternoon through to the early hours of Saturday. The work load for Saturday starts early with cleanup in the arena, numbering and placing of 2,500 chairs in preparation for the 7:00 pm Saturday night, as all seats are reserved. Packed in the middle of this event, is the fiddle Parade at 1 pm to 3 pm in which most workers are involved also. So it just seemed too much to pack in something more- beside many thought that only a few would be in the mood for a Church service Sunday morning after three days and nights of a carnival atmosphere in the town.

However, I gave some considerable thought to the possibility of holding a service of a lighter and more informal nature conducted from the stage of the Fiddle Contest. To accommodate the clean up and dismantling process of the Rotary Club the service would be held early enough to allow time after the service to pack away chairs and dismantle the stage.

I was a brand new member of the Rotary Club so it was with a bit of daring that I proposed my plan to try the arrangement of a community Church service on the Sunday morning following the Fiddle Contest. I shall never forget the profound silence with which my proposal was greeted. Then my good friend and fellow Rotarian Dr. Carm Redmond stood up to support my proposal - "I think that if Rev. Bruce wants to try this, we should give him our blessing." There was obvious skepticism and doubt about the success of such a seeming impossible dream. So, willing to take up the dare, we launched our first try at it after the 1975 Fiddle Contest.

Help that first year was hard to come by. So we went to the arena at 6:30 a.m., a few of us cleaned up the disheveled mess after the Saturday night dance - tried to make the stage into a worship centre and set up about 100 chairs thinking - "well - that would be an improvement over the 40 or so that attended at Trinity on previous years.

Arrangements were made in advance to have some special music and singing. Mrs. Irma Maltby graciously agreed to be the organist with her own special organ brought in carefully that morning. Mrs. Dorothy Houston had also agreed in advance to support the trial event as pianist. Both of these talented women had served me as organists in churches. Their lively, spirited accompaniment helped greatly in setting the atmosphere I wanted. I had advertised through various means including promotion by a float in the Fiddleville Parade - both the service and the wish to have volunteer fiddlers, guitarists and others to play on stage for the service. The result was nothing less than fantastic. To the delight and inspiration of the 250 who came that first year we had about 10 fiddlers and other musicians to join with the pianist and organist to provide the accompaniment and leadership for the congregational singing. Dorothy Houston spoke briefly and sang a solo and has followed this tradition every year since. On that first occasion and for several years we were blessed and inspired by the Hillsburg male Quartet.

The mood and atmosphere each year has been set by a spirit of informality, openness, friendliness, warmth and spontaneity. We encouraged those in attendance to be prepared to laugh, to clap, to shed a tear and to reach out and take their neighbors hand as we united in singing the theme song - "Amazing Grace". There was no long message or sermon as such and there have been persons that tell me there should be. However, my philosophy from the outset has been the whole service in a multitude of ways was coming across strong with a greater message than many sermons. We included meaningful scripture readings with brief comments, poems and readings with powerful messages were interspersed throughout - concluding with the appropriate poem - "The Touch of The Master's Hand. (The Old Violin) then yours truly sang "He Touched Me."

Well - it has resulted in one of the most incredible responses - far beyond my wildest dreams. That first year - as mentioned above, 250 persons came - I am sure out of curiosity and support for me - but the next year 1976 - there were 500 who came - the next year 1000 - the next year 1500- each year increasing till the past two years (1985/86) we have had 3000 or so. Believe me it is an awesome experience to walk out to the front of the Fiddleville Stage - dressed up for Church - with an altar arranged below - and to face 3000 people with an enthusiastic anticipation beaming from their whole beings - Hoping and praying that we wouldn't disappoint them. As I said, for some it has been a disappointment, but obviously it is not for many as the enthusiastic, positive comments will verify.

As in anything we work at, change must come - so in this certain changes have had to be incorporated. It is much different handling 3000 persons than the initial 250. There have been changes in talent provided each year as we strive to vary the leadership. Dorothy Houston, Irma Maltby, myself are the three constants each year also a number of faithful fiddlers, guitarists etc. - but new faces and talent come forward each year.

While the service is billed as Ecumenical it has been started and managed almost entirely from the outset by myself (The United Church Minister), and Board members of Trinity United Church. The ecumenical part of it comes with the broad spectrum of denominations represented from near and far. One year we had a role call of members from sixteen different denominations including a good number of Roman Catholics, and a few of the Jewish faith. Persons have indicated they come to Fiddleville and the Church Service from other countries and cities and towns all around Ontario and thee USA. Neighboring charges of the United Church have been closing their churches and coming by bus to attend the Sunday morning service. From the outset 40-50 chairs have been reserved for residents of Dufferin Oaks Home for the Aged. Many have indicated they travel upward of 40-50 miles Sunday morning to attend the service. It is obvious it is attracting many others than the Fiddleville campers and visitors around town. Some attend who do not attend Church on a regular basis and seem deeply moved and inspired by the experience. What will happen down the future we cannot predict - we leave it in the hands of the Good Lord to guide and direct.

The Church service is now put together by the Shelburne Ministerial, the local Churches in the Shelburne area. I would like to thank the Shelburne Fire Department for helping with parking, they have blessed us over the years with their service - thanks again, and I am most grateful to the Rotary club for allowing us to be part of the Heritage Music Festival, thank you so much!

Don't forget, immediately following the Church service is the annual Pork BBQ. Please make a day of it and join us, as we fill your spirits with joy and feed your stomachs with great food.

I hope this article has kept the memory of Rev. Bruce Besley alive, may we never forget.

Annual Flame of Hope tournament raises funds for D-camp

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

The fifth annual Flame of Hope Pro-Am and NHL Charity Golf Tournament got underway at the Shelburne Golf and Country Club on Saturday, July 31, with 140 golfers taking part in the event.

The tournament which includes a silent auction and dinner, raises funds to send kids to diabetes camp.

Diabetes camps have all the regular activities associated with a summer camp but also have trained medical personnel on site that make sure the kids are okay while offering education on how to live with diabetes.

Over the years, the tournament has raised over $200,000.

"Our local sponsors really help us out," said Jeremy Steinhausen, community engagement manager for Diabetes Canada. "It's all for D-camp. That's what it's called. It's Diabetes Canada specific camp for those living with Type-1 diabetes. Kids ages seven to 17 can go. It's an all exclusive camp where they go canoeing, camping, all that. The ratio is three kids to one medical staff. The idea for the camps came from Diabetes Canada so they can train the kids and show them how to do things like cut calories."

During the tournament, foursomes got to play the first nine holes with a professional golfer from the Great Lakes Golf Tour.

On the back nine they were joined by a professional hockey players who volunteered their time to take part in the event.

Sam Young, Golf Hall of Famer, and Club pro, was responsible for bringing the pro golfers for the tour. Bill Gillam, owner of the Shelburne Home Hardware Building Centre was key in bringing in the pro hockey players. He didn't have to look far. Son's Josh Gillam and Mitch Gillam are both pros and took part in the event.

The event featured prizes for closest to the pin shots, longest drive, and a few other fun challenges.

Mansfield Jr. Cubs advance to NDBL championship series

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

The Mansfield Cubs have earned the right to go to the North Dufferin Baseball League Junior championship after blasting their way through the opening round of playoffs.

The Cubs have had a stellar season finishing in first place in the seven team junior division with a 22-2 record.

They scored 252 runs while allowing only 105 against.

When it comes to playoffs, there was little room for error. The first round series was a best-of-three meaning a single bad game could spell trouble.

The Cubs were up against the Lisle Astros in the first round with game one getting underway in Mansfield on Wednesday, August 1.

The first couple of innings were pretty even with Lisle leading 5-3 in the third inning.

That's when the Cubs stepped it up and got the bats moving to take a 9-6 lead in the fifth inning.

It was a chippy affair with one Lisle player being ejected from the game after making a comment while at bat and the umpire tossing him out.

The final was a 17-7 win for the Cubs.

Game two of the series got underway the next night in Lisle.

The Cubs ended the series scoring another 17 runs while shutting out the Astros and ending their season.

The Cubs will now face the Ivy Blues for the junior division championship.

The Blues knocked out the Orangeville Bengals in two games in their playoff series. Game one saw Ivy leave with a 6-5 win. The second game ended the Bengals season with a 7-3 loss.

The final series will be a good one to watch. Ivy finished the regular season in second place – four points behind the Cubs – with a 20-4 record, scoring 232 runs.

These will be two evenly matched squad who will have to give it their best effort to come out on top.

The Junior championship will be a best-of-five series and will get underway on Tuesday, August 14.

GOING STRONG: The Mansfield Junior Cubs take on the Lisle Astros during the first game of their best of three playoff series on the diamond in Mansfield on Wednesday, August 1. The Cubs hammered Lisle 17-7, then did a repeat the following night with a 17-0 in the second game to win the series.

No need for handgun ownership to be outlawed in Canada

I read with interest your recent editorial regarding the gun violence problem in Toronto. I agree that is a complicated issue with no easy solution. But I strongly disagree with Mayor Tory's "insightful" comments regarding the need to ban handgun ownership. In my opinion Mayor Tory is a major contributor to the problem that he claims to have a desire to solve. Toronto is controlled by him and other weak politicians who pander to the social activist groups, either refuse to or are afraid to get tough with the gangs and drug dealers, undermine the police by removing the programmes and resources that they need to do their job effectively, and then blame the resulting chaos on legal gun owners. And in typical knee-jerk reaction the Trudeau Liberals are considering a handgun ban. Banning weak politicians would have a far greater effect than banning handguns.

Terry passed quietly from a short battle with Cancer, with his family by his side, just a few weeks before his 83rd Birthday. He has been cremated and interred in the Shelburne Cemetery, alongside his mother Bernice McCarthy, his father William McCarthy and his sister Evelyn McCarthy.

His Celebration of life was held at the Shelburne Legion on July 29th. There was an overwhelming amount of Family, Friends, Neighbours and past Colleagues from far and wide who came to share good times and memories that they had of Terry and how he had touched each of their lives.

Terry's family; his wife Helen McCarthy (Snider), Steve and Marg McCarthy, Mark McCarthy and Sandra Doney, Lea Anne McCarthy, Lyn and Brian Lacombe, Cheryl McCarthy (sister), and his is many grandchildren. We all and especially Helen, would like to extend a sincere Thank You to all who attended, and to those who have dropped in, sent food, notes, cards and flowers.

Thank you all for taking the time to attend and pay tribute to Terry. Thank you for the stories and memories you shared, your words were such a comfort. It was so nice to see you all there; it meant a lot to hear how Terry had a positive impact on other people's lives. He always had good things to say about others and it showed with the Tremendous showing and out pouring of Good wishes.

Terry would have been pleased. Thank You all.

THANK YOU

The North Dufferin Community Centre BOM wishes to express our sincere appreciation to all our volunteers, for donating their time, food and energy to our Strawberry Supper.

MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of a dear husband, father, and grandfather!
Dennis Edward Moore
(Retired Captain with Etobicoke and Toronto Fire Departments) who passed away August 9th, 2016

Sometimes we just sit quietly reflecting for a while imagining your voice, your face, your warm and loving smile!

For it's so lovely to recall the happy times we had when you played such a special role as both Husband and Dad!

And at this very special time, We only wish you knew that we'd give all the world today for one more hour with you!

But we still have our memories and since we've been apart, It comforts us so much to know that you're right here in our hearts!

All Our Love Always, Linda, Shaun, David & Families and the Hume Family!

In loving memory of my loving father Ron James Aug 6 1997

I am sending a dove to heaven with a parcel on its wings, Be careful when you open it, it's full of beautiful things, Inside are a million kisses wrapped up in a million hugs, To say how much I miss you and send you all my love.

I hold you close within my heart and there you will remain, To walk with me through my life, until we meet again.

Love always Penny xxxooo
