

Who do I need to avoid?

Dear editor:

I was stunned that in this day and age something like this would still be published.

Racist rhetoric from an anonymous writer? Really? Send out a brochure to welcome them to our country? Really?

There are many organisations and individuals that do promote hate and ignorance but do not provide their identity, an example might be KKK. Living behind their hoods and still pretending to be part of the community. Would you publish their thoughts here on the community?

Everyone is entitled to their say I agree. Between my wife and I we have served 48 years combined in the Canadian Army so we certainly believe in freedom.

This is the first time I have ever felt that I needed to write to an editor of a local newspaper for their actions.

If people are going to write this rhetoric and you publish it, at least have the guts to sign it so all of us newcomers can avoid you, times are changing your closed society is gone forever.

Hey, I heard there is an almost new flag for sale down in South Carolina.

New to the community

Dean Jalbert,

Mulmur