The Germans attacked the Danish outposts along the whole line on the 18th, but after several engagements, they were repulsed, though they occupied all their former positions. ??he Town of Collingwood sent a deputation to Ottawa two weeks ago to interview the government, Mr. Van Horne and Mr. Hickson on railway matters. Mayor Lockerbie, interviewed by a representative of the Enterprise, said: ?We had two hours' interview with Mr. Van Horne regarding the Collingwood and Bay of Quinte RR. He could not see how the CPR could handle that road advantageously. After a long explanation of his views, I asked him if it was not not the intention of the CPR to build a road from Shelburne to?Collingwood. He said, ?That is the intention.' The difference in grades between the Collingwood and Bay of Quinte and the Owen Sound branch was pointed out to him, but he said the grades made no difference to them, and they were not taken into account.?

??ast Friday night, a few minutes before the northbound train to Owen Sound was due to pass Bolton station, a freight was wrecked as a result of a broken rail, four cars being ditched and three others derailed. Although no person was injured, the accident was a serious one and blocked the line for several hours. At the time the freight's engine was running at a high rate of speed to give a through track to the passenger train following. Although the engine and tender succeeded in crossing the break in safety, the following car jumped the tracks, dragging the others with it. Before the train could be brought to a stop, a large section of the roadbed had been torn up. Word of the accident was immediately sent out and an auxiliary train was rushed to the scene, but it was more than four hours before the tracks were repaired and the line opened.
