Milestone: 150 years "Fair" in Shelburne

BY MARNI WALSH

Shelburne and District Fall Fair will celebrate along with Canada when they open their gates for the 150th year on September 15.

The anniversary prompted a move to "a more traditional fair with the theme 150 years: Pioneer Ways to Modern Days," says long-time volunteer Karen Wallace.

Newly appointed President of the Shelburne

District Agricultural Society Larry Braiden says, "The Board of Directors, Committee members and the many volunteers have been working hard all year to make this fair the best one yet."

Beginning in 1867, the Shelburne and District Fair Board is the "oldest continuing organization in town," according to the John Rose "History of Shelburne;" older in fact, than the town itself, as Shelburne was not incorporated until 1879.

At first, the organizing group was known as the Melancthon Agricultural Society with John Mills as President. The first fair was a one day event held in October of 1868 on the roadside of Masonville, north of Shelburne.

In 1888, Simon Jelly, who was Shelburne founder William Jelly's older brother and the first of the Jelly family to settle in Shelburne, gave 16 acres of his farm to the Driving Club; this is the location of the present fairgrounds.

Off Leash Three art show is “off the hook” in Glen Williams

BY PETER RICHARDSON

The Gallery at Williams Mill, in Glen Williams, held its opening reception for a new show on Sunday.

Entitled “Off Leash Three,” it featured the work of three, local Ontario artists, Gail Prusskey, Diana Hillman and Vickie Wild.

Gail is a local Mono resident, along with her husband Duane, and Great Danes, Ella and Satchmo.

Gail’s art is unique and though perhaps not to everyone’s taste, has a strong following. It has been described as quirky, disturbed and totally fun.

Gail paints, sculpts and draws and always with an eye towards the unorthodox!

In another life, Gail was a hard-drug addiction therapist, for over a decade, before retiring to the country and discovering her talent for arts.

It has since become her personal avenue of catharsis, from decades of keeping life bottled up inside.

Sunday’s opening was well attended by friends and followers of all three artists, who, at times filled the venue to near capacity.

The gallery itself is compact and brightly lit by a combination of incandescent and natural light, which, served to showcase the art dramatically.

Gail had several new pieces on display, amongst her collection of paintings, drawings and sculpture, which drew a lot of attention from the guests, who included Nanci Malek of the DCMA, renowned television personality, Dini Petty, as well as a good friend, Katherine Taylor and Gail’s daughter Lauren.

For those interested in having a look at the works of these three talented women, the show runs until September 24, at The Gallery at Williams Mill, 515 Main Street in Glen Williams ON.

If you would like an introduction, to the work of Gail Prusskey, she has published a book, available on Amazon, entitled Broken Balloons.

DEBUT BOOK

Broken Balloons is an eclectic and unique book that almost defies description.

It all started at the wedding of filmmaker David Cronenberg’s daughter Caitlin, a family friend of Prusskey’s. A self-professed introvert, Gail found herself seated next to a complete stranger with whom she found herself in a lengthy conversation about horses and horse racing.

During the course of the evening, she offered to send him some of her drawings and so, Broken Balloons began.

The stranger was none other than noted author, poet and publisher Barry Callaghan, the son of, the somewhat noted Canadian author

Morley Callaghan.

Barry saw a potential book in the drawings and together the pair began a rather tumultuous journey that produced Broken Balloons.

The book was published by Exile Editions Limited, of Holstein, ON, and printed and bound, in Canada, by Marquis, with the text and the cover design by Michael Callaghan.

Gail has loved to draw since she was a child, but it was only after working for ten years as a hard-drug addiction therapist that it became her calling. Drawing helped to relieve the trauma of being a therapist and once she burned out and retired, it became her raison d’être.

Broken Balloons not only showcases Gail, but it perhaps also glimpses into the minds of some those she has counselled.

The book is full of references to the darker side of human imagination as well as the quirky and abstract. Creatures from the primordial ooze appear beside bizarre insect like apparitions and slightly off-kilter personas that are neither all human nor all creature, but rather a strange mix of the two.

There are various short descriptions or titles that appear beneath some of the drawings, which only add to the strange brews that is Broken Balloons.

As a first book, it is extremely well done and begs a sequel. One cannot help but be drawn into the strange and fascinating world of Gail Prusskey’s imagination.

Lace up for this year’s Terry Fox Run

After being diagnosed with osteogenic sarcoma (bone cancer) in 1977, Terry was forced to have his right leg amputated six inches above his knee. During his time in hospital, Terry got to see the pain and suffering of other cancer patients first hand, many of them young children. He decided to do something about it.

His plan was to run across Canada to raise money for cancer research.

On April 12, 1980, Terry dipped his prosthetic leg into the Atlantic Ocean in St. John’s, Newfoundland and began his journey, running 42 kilometres a day.

It hurt every time Terry’s artificial leg slammed on the pavement, but he was determined to raise $1 million for cancer research.

It is believed that the Marathon of Hope didn’t capture the imagination of Canadians until Terry entered Ontario where he reached Ottawa in time for Canada Day.

The Marathon of Hope came to an end on September 1 outside of Thunder Bay, Ontario when it was announced that cancer had spread into Terry’s lungs. He would succumb to the disease on June 28, 1981.

Although Terry lost his personal battle with cancer, people worldwide have carried the torch for Terry ever since.

Joan Wallace has been the organizer of the Shelburne Terry Fox run for the last nine years, and a participant for twenty-three years.

“I am a member of Terry’s Team, which means I am a cancer survivor,” explains Wallace. “What I like about the Terry Fox Foundation is that it helps to fight all cancers.”

Wallace tells us this year she has a very enthusiastic bunch of volunteers to help out with the run, which has an open start from 9:00 am until 12:00 noon with registration starting at 8:30 am, in front of the Fire Hall at the intersection of O’Flynn and William Streets.

At registration, you will receive route information for your 5km or 10 km routes, where all are welcome to run, walk, bicycle, stroller, rollerblade, bring a leashed dog and it is also wheelchair accessible.

Water and snacks will be provided courtesy of John’s No Frills.

Shelburne resident wins $100,000 in instant lotto

Shelburne's Lori Cracknell is "In The Money" after winning the $100,000 top prize with OLG's Instant In The Money Multiplier.

On her way home from work, Lori was day dreaming about winning $100,000.

"I'm not even kidding. I really had a feeling I was going to win the lottery," she shared while at the OLG Prize Centre in Toronto. "So, I picked up a IN THE MONEY MULTIPLIER ticket."

Lori scratched the ticket when she got home.

"I revealed the first number, then turned to my husband and proclaimed 'I won $100,000!' Then I was tongue-tied. I couldn't even put a sentence together," she laughed. "But I did manage to convince my hubby to go buy a bottle of champagne."

Lori and her husband have future plans to purchase their forever home in a rural Ontario community. "This win brings us a step closer to that. But for now, we are going to buy a hot tub and do some travelling. Winning the lottery is opportunity. Less planning, more doing – true freedom."

INSTANT IN THE MONEY MULTIPLIER is available for $5 a play and the top prize is $100,000. Odds of winning a prize are 1 in 3.96.

Promoting vegetables and farm produce was the inspiration for the early beginnings of the Shelburne and District Fall Fair 150 years ago this year, and current President of the Fair Board Larry Braiden says this year, "We remain true to our roots, focusing on agriculture and home craft competitions." ## Shelburne & District Fair marks 150th Anniversary this month with something for everyone

"When the Shelburne and District Agricultural Society launched 150 years ago," Larry Braiden says, in his message from the President, "its purpose was to promote agriculture, and showcase new technologies. It was an opportunity for the local farmers to come together and show off their hard work, talk and learn from other farmers. This still happens today. We remain true to our roots, focusing on agriculture and home craft competitions."

"All of which," Mr. Braiden continues, "would not be possible if we didn't have the exhibitors, vendors, patrons and sponsors."

Fair Secretary Sue Peterson says new this year for the celebrations, the Board has planned a truck and tractor pull on Saturday afternoon.

Patrons should note that this means the Derby will be on Sunday afternoon. There will be a Food Court with lots of food options and more inflatable bounces for the kids.

In fact, new director Lindsay Wegener says, "There will be a giant inflatable section for kids which will cost $10 per child to play all day."

Free pony rides are available for one hour on Saturday and two hours on Sunday, sponsored by Jenn Horne Realty.

"We will have Jungle Justin Wildlife Co. attending on Saturday offering reptile information, and pictures with snakes and lizards, as well as a few small shows sponsored by the MacRae Realty Team," says Lindsay.

There will be face painting, henna tattoos, a petting zoo in the little red barn and some animals sponsored by Armstrong Family Farm, Lennox Farm Market, and Sammons Custom Farming.

Murray Crawford who looks after the Hog Calling and Rooster Crowing Contests says there will be a new addition this year: a Husband Hollering Contest, all run Saturday afternoon and Murray says, "Trophies and prize money are up for grabs along with bragging rights if you win."

Crawford reminds fair patrons, "All the fair work is done by dedicated volunteers."

Come celebrate the Sesquicentennial of the Shelburne and District Fair September 15-17 and enjoy: the horse shows, the demolition derby, the giant pumpkin auction, live entertainment, a children's interactive area, the car show, vendors, lawn tractor races, truck and tractor pull, livestock shows, exhibits, competitions, demonstrations, antiques, farm equipment, calling and crowing and fun for the whole family.

For more information about the Shelburne & District 150th Annual Fall Fair pick up a fair book from local shops along Main Street in Shelburne.

Ottawa Journal: Conservatives have a positive vision for lower taxes

BY DAVID TILSON, MP
DUFFERIN-CALEDON

Even if you've never voted Conservative before, you probably know that Conservatives support lowering taxes as a way to help Canadians and our economy.

But maybe you don't know "why" we support lower taxes.

We believe that there is more to Canada than just government and this belief is at the core of the positive Conservative vision we've been sharing with Canadians all summer. We believe taxes should be lower for Canadians: for businesses, families, and individuals. This is the core of a Conservative vision to create prosperity and opportunity for everyone.

Our support for lower taxes isn't a matter of seeing black ink on a ledger or because we want to get a favourable press release from the Chamber of Commerce. We believe in lowering taxes because it is good for Canadian families.

When we keep payroll taxes low, it helps the young worker looking to get their first job. When the government raises payroll taxes, like the Liberals have done, it makes it harder for young people to start their careers.

When we keep taxes on Canadian small businesses low, it helps those companies invest, expand, and hire more workers. When you cancel tax cuts on small businesses, as the Liberals did in their first budget, it comes at the expense of those looking for work.

And when we cut taxes for families, it means they have a little more money in their pocket at the end of every month. It means a single mom will be able to send her kids to summer camp or a family can save for their child's education.

This is more important than ever. Recent data from the 2016 Census revealed that more Canadians than ever before are living alone. That means fewer households have a dual income to rely on. And it's getting harder for kids to move out of their parents' house. We see this in practice every day, in communities across the country.

Helping Canadians save more of their own money is critical if we want to ensure a better future for all.

Yet, with federal spending at an all-time high, the Trudeau Liberal government is looking to pass the bill to someone else.

And that means tax and user fee hikes for the everyday Canadian taxpayer. And it's not just on the obvious expenses – their approach amounts to a tax on everyday life.

Increased user fees for campsites, fishing licenses, and passports are one part of the plan. Continuously increasing taxes on beer and wine is another. By 2022, Trudeau's carbon tax will increase the price of gasoline by 11 cents per litre, making any family road trip a lot more expensive.

On top of all of it are year-round tax hikes on public transit, ridesharing services like Uber and kids' sports and arts activities.

Justin Trudeau claims the best of intentions, but his policies hurt the very people they say they want to help. They came to office saying they wanted to help families, but they're now treating even summertime family activities as a source of tax revenue to cover their spending problem.

Lower taxes mean the government has faith in the everyday men and women of Canada to make the best decisions for themselves and their families. This is how we create prosperity and opportunity for everyone in Canada, no matter who you are.

This is what Conservatives believe in. And these everyday families are who Canada's Conservatives are here to fight for.

Farmers' Market Spotlight: Magic at the Market

BY MARNI WALSH

There was free magic at the market last Thursday, August 31, and three year old Lily Traynor of Shelburne could not have been more delighted, as local, professional Magician Steve Baker entertained patrons and kids before they returned to school this week.

The Chair of the Shelburne Farmer's Market Jennifer Crewson says The Great Steverino "entertained and amazed market attendees all afternoon and into the evening - adults and children of all ages were wowed by the very talented Magician."

Steve Baker, who went into the magic business full-time in 1997, celebrates 20 years as a professional magician this year.

He began his career in Toronto and moved to Dufferin to raise his family in the beauty of the countryside in 1999.

Steve has performed as an actor in live theatre as well as in TV and film, and has performed as a magician at fairs, festivals and venues across the province including Rogers Centre, the Royal York, the Science Centre, and Casa Loma.

He performed magic at the launch of JK Rowling's Harry Potter at the Sky Dome and he continues to perform for corporate, private and event functions. Learn more about Steve and his special rates for families at www.bakermagic-shows.com.

BY MARNI WALSH

The Rotary Club of Shelburne did a great job of presenting excellent entertainers to Shelburne for the 2nd annual Heritage Music Festival last month, including the contestants of the 67th Old Time Champion Fiddle Championship, headline entertainers, and always favoured - local talent.

The smooth Country sounds of Corb Lund and his band were most definitely “music to the ear;” as was expected. The Fitzgeralds put on an excellent show; and Shelburne’s own young “King” - Dustin Bricker - rocked the house with his classic Elvis Presley moves and vocals.

Dustin, who just turned professional after winning first place in the non-professional class at the Collingwood Elvis Festival this summer, looked every bit the part in a smart pink blazer with his jet black coif a la Elvis.

Still a teen, Dustin had the smooth moves of the “King” down, and showed a growing confidence and professionalism in his delivery, sprinkled with a healthy touch of fun and humour. His smooth baritone voice pulled off the Elvis’ inflections with ease and is rapidly maturing into the powerful tones required for the King’s beloved gospel tunes.

This was only Dustin’s second year as a non-pro and he says, “It felt great to turn pro.” “It makes me feel so happy that all my hard work has paid off in the end,” he says and “I’m so happy to sing in my home town and see there are still Elvis fans everywhere from Shelburne to Memphis. It is just so eye opening how special the ‘King of rock and roll’ really was and it’s nice to see people who feel the same way.”

There was a real feeling of appreciation and pride from the audience for this young home-grown talent, his music, and all that lies ahead in his entertainment career.

“I had an amazing time at the Shelburne Heritage Music Festival this year - singing and entertaining a fantastic audience,” said Bricker. “I hope to be back next year and that I’ll get to see you all again!”

Dufferin OPP welcome new commander

BY BRIAN LOCKHART

The Dufferin Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police has a new Commander.

Staff Sergeant Nicol Randall took over the top duties at the Highway 89 OPP Detachment with a special ceremony held on Thursday, August 31.

The flag that flies at the Detachment was lowered and presented to previous Commander Staff Sergeant Steven Sills who retired late last year.

A new flag was then raised to signify the change of command.

Dignitaries from around the region including Police Chiefs and personnel from other police services and detachments were present for the ceremony.

The Dufferin Detachment has 29 police officers and two civilian employees who are responsible for all areas of Dufferin County except for Shelburne and Orangeville, who maintain their own police service.

The OPP patrol all the county roads and highways.

"My job is to make sure everyone here [has] everything they need to do their job and to make sure we are serving the public" Staff Sergeant Randall said.

Staff Sergeant Randall started with the OPP in 1995 in Cayuga – a community near Lake Erie - before transferring to Brant County for one year then making the move to Caledon where she served for 16 years.

While in Caledon, she was promoted to Sergeant where she headed the community services unit, community response unit and others. She was a key member of the security team at the Pan Am Games in Toronto.

After being promoted to Staff Sergeant, Randall became responsible for staff training in the highway safety division.

Transferring to the Dufferin Detachment, she replaced outgoing Commander Sills in a temporary status before named Commander.

"At the end of the day, policing is policing wherever you go," Randall explained. "Here, we're about 80-90 per cent general duties and about 20 per cent traffic duties. Steve (Sills) did a great job leading this detachment and building relationships here. My job is to continue building on those relationships and to look for new ways of doing things that maybe we can do better."

The OPP is currently looking at new ways to use technology to improve service.

Ready for the "Transition" from summer to fall? These artists are!

IT'S TRANSITION TIME – Artists Shelly Cunningham and Rosie Schroder, members of the Artists at the Gibson, will be taking part in the "Transitions" art show and sale at the Gibson Centre for Arts & Culture from September 8 to October 29, with an opening reception taking place Friday, September 8 from 6–8 pm. They are pictured here with their paintings: Shelly (on the right) with Summer Beauty and Lily Pads (oil on canvas) and Rosie's Evening Glow, and Down the Hill (acrylic on canvas).

The "Artists at the Gibson" are busily preparing to display their work, as summer "Transitions" into fall.

The art show and sale, of the same name, will run from September 8 until October 29, at the Gibson Gallery, and features the work of 23 artists – all creating in the theme of transition.

The Artists at the Gibson (AATG) is a group comprised of 70 members, with ages ranging from fifty something, to eight-five plus.

An intermediate group of art enthusiasts (now friends), AATG members receive instruction twice a week – Tuesday and Wednesday – from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and attend an optional monthly workshop on the third Wednesday of the month.

They meet on the second floor of the Gibson Centre for Arts and Culture, on Tupper Street, Alliston, having outgrown their previous third floor location, now occupied by 92.1 MyFM, the Alliston radio station.

"We've grown exponentially over the past few years, both in the scope of our work, and in our numbers," said Joan Warren, president of The Artists at the Gibson, adding that membership has swelled from 18 members to more than 70 members in the past two years.

During classes, member artists are given a theme (and the Tuesday class is led by a mentor) and then proceed with interpretation of the artwork presented, producing pieces as unique as snowflakes.

"The art on display in our upcoming Transitions show is a great example of how we function as a group," said Warren. "Each participating artist was simply told the theme. What they came up with was up to them."

Warren says that the art on display – acrylic on canvas, oil on canvas, watercolour and mixed-media – are all current productions, created specifically for Transitions, both in class and at home.

"The inspiration for this year's show was the beautiful butterfly," said Warren. "Because, without change, there would be no butterflies."

Timed to match the transition of the seasons, the 9th Annual Artists at the Gibson show features artists from Bolton to Mono, and New Tecumseth to Innisfil with music by Randolph Ianniruberto.

Although the art is for sale, the collection will remain intact until the closing of the show, when art can be delivered or picked-up by the collector.

An artists' reception will take place on Friday, September 8, from 6–8 p.m.

Those interested in more information about Transitions, or the AATG itself can call 705 435-2828 or e-mail to info@gibsoncentre.com

Membership fees are $60 per year, plus workshop fees ($35 member / $50 non-member). Plus supplies.

Entrance to the Transitions show is free.

Baseball returning to CDDHS

BY BRIAN LOCKHART

After missing last season, the Centre Dufferin District High School Royals boys baseball team will be back on the diamond this year.

The squad was disappointed last season when they got caught behind a deadline due to staffing issues and were unable to be put on the schedule.

Things have been sorted out and CDDHS will field a squad this year when the schedule gets underway on September 18.

The team will have their first tryouts and practices during the first week of school as high school baseball is now on the Fall schedule for sports, so they have to wrap it up before it gets too cold to play.

Coach Dave Metz, who also coaches many of the players during summer baseball, said the team is going to have quite a few skilled and experienced players. Metz is a volunteer coach with the team and will work alongside CDDHS staff coaches.

During the summer ball season, players honed their skills with the Orangeville Mid-et Select team, the Mississauga North Tigers, Mansfield Midget Select and the Orangeville Bantam Select team.

As coach of the Mansfield Junior Cubs, Metz called up four players to fill in on his junior team so they have gained some valuable experience.

The District 4/10 line-up has seven teams entered this year including Bishop Macdonell, Centennial Collegiate, Guelph Collegiate, Our Lady of Lourdes, and J.F. Ross - all out of Guelph.

The teams will have a six game schedule going through to October 10, to find a spot in the standings before going into the quarter round playoff games on October 12.

The Royals home diamond will be at Princess of Wales Park in Orangeville. Shelburne does not have a diamond suitable for regular baseball.

The Royals will play their first game against Bishop Macdonell on Monday, September 18, at Princess of Wales Park.

Game time is 4:00 p.m.

Terry Fox run on September 17

BY BRIAN LOCKHART

It has become a Fall tradition across the country and again this year hundreds of thousands of people will take part in the Terry Fox run at events held in every province.

Terry Fox was just 18 years old when he was diagnosed with a cancerous tumour in his right leg. He was in his first year at Simon Fraser University studying kinesiology at the time.

While he never finished his run across the country in 1980 to raise money for cancer research, his legacy lives on and others have picked up the torch and continue to run and raise money every year.

He called his mission The Marathon of Hope and ran an average of 42 kilometres every day for 143 days before he was forced to stop when the cancer spread to his lungs.

Since then over $750 million has been raised for cancer research.

This money is invested into projects with the greatest potential impact for patients.

Locally, the Terry Fox run will take place in both Shelburne and Orangeville.

In Shelburne, the run will get underway at the Main Gate of the Fairgrounds next to the Fire Hall.

Registration starts at 8:30 a.m. with an open start from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.

In Orangeville the event will take place on the Island Lake Trail at the conservation area at Highway 9 and Highway 10 on routes between 5 km and 10 km.

Registration starts at 8:30 a.m. with an open start from 9:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m.

Christian Perspectives: Terrible, horrible, no good, very bad days

BY NORM COPELAND
BETHEL BIBLE CHAPEL

I went to sleep with gum in my mouth and now there's gum in my hair and when I got out of bed this morning I tripped on the skateboard and by mistake I dropped my sweater in the sink while the water was running and I could tell it was going to be a terrible, horrible, no good, very bad day.

Most of us can relate to Alexander. We've been there. We've had terrible, horrible, no good, very bad days. In the midst of those difficulties it's crucial to look to scripture and see truth rather than depend on our feelings which seem to go up and down on the waves of circumstance.

By looking at the story of Moses found in Exodus 5 and 6 we can see that the presence of problems in our lives doesn't mean that God is not at work nor does it mean that we are not walking in obedience to him.

Moses was having a rough day. When he was approached by God at the burning bush, Moses had been hesitant and unsure of God's plan. God was patient with him and gave him his brother Aaron who would help him speak to Pharaoh and the people of Israel. Despite his worries he went to demand freedom for the Israelites from Pharaoh. Moses obeyed and did exactly what God asked! What was the result? Pharaoh said: "Who is the Lord, that I should obey him and let Israel go? I do not know the Lord and I will not let Israel go." Not only that but he retaliated by forcing the Israelites to gather their own straw and make more bricks than ever before.

To Moses this was the start to a terrible, horrible, no good, very bad day! How do you react when you have problems in your life? Do you get frustrated? Angry? Irritable? I know that I've been all of those things. I can feel particularly perturbed when I believe that I did what God asked of me and yet I have problems. Under the surface I've bought into the idea that I've earned ease from God because I did my end of the bargain. Or the imagined bargain at least. Did God make a mistake when He sent Moses? Did he not know what Pharaoh's response would be? Of course not - he knew exactly what He was sending Moses to - it was intentional! In scripture we see clearly that God often works in and through us best in the midst of adversity. Should we really call God's plan for us a bad day?

II Corinthians 4:17 "For our light and momentary troubles are achieving for us an eternal glory that far outweighs them all."

We also see in scripture that there's reward in suffering as a result of doing what God asks of us:

I Peter 3:14 "But even if you suffer for doing what is right, God will reward you for it. So don't worry or be afraid of their threats."

In this life we should not be surprised by "bad days" that come from following God and doing what He asks of us.

James 1:2-4 "Dear brothers and sisters, when troubles of any kind come your way, consider it an opportunity for great joy. For you know that when your faith is tested, your endurance has a chance to grow. So let it grow, for when your endurance is fully developed, you will be perfect and complete, needing nothing."

God could have freed the Israelites immediately. In fact, he could have done it without Moses. He could have frozen the Egyptians in place and let the Israelites walk out. But he chose to use Moses. He chose to take the time that he took. He has the right to do that, doesn't He? So often we're more concerned with where we're going then the process of getting there. I don't think that that's the case with God. He's more concerned with what we learn about Him along the way. You get to know someone by living life together - the same works with God.

When you have a bad day, recognize that God's plans and purposes have not changed. After things seem to go poorly for Moses he pours out his heart and frustration to God:

Exodus 5:22,23 "Why have you brought all this trouble on your own people, Lord? Why did you send me? Ever since I came to Pharaoh as your spokesman, he has been even more brutal to your people. And you have done nothing to rescue them!"

God did not respond in anger but simply repeated His promise and reminded Moses of who He is. I find that in the midst of struggle and trial, reminding myself of who God is and of His attributes are a perfect antidote to despair and worry. Can we not trust our unchanging, perfect, Holy and loving God?

Follow God and trust Him in the midst of the bad days. Don't waste the bad days either, God has a purpose for them - they are not meaningless! We need to also recognize that God's ways are higher than our ways. In the midst of trials and terrible days focus on who God is - He hasn't changed!

Confessions, Trivia & Home Children at the Museum in September

BY MARNI WALSH

Dan Needles winner of the Leacock Medal for Humour in 2004 and the Order of Canada in 2014 will launch his newest book "True Confessions from the Ninth Concession" at the Dufferin County Museum and Archives on Sunday, September 17th at 2 pm.

Raised in Dufferin County, Dan Needles, pictured, is a writer who explores life where city and country meet.

He is the author of the Wingfield Farm series of stage plays which have been performed across Canada and the U.S. continuously over the last 30 years.

The world premiere of the musical version of Mr. Needles play, "The Last Christmas Turkey" will open at Theatre Orangeville this Christmas Season. RSVP to: info@dufferinmuseum.com to join in the launch of "True Confessions from the Ninth Concession."

Beer & Trivia with Ken Weber will be held at the Museum on Saturday, September 23 at 7 pm.

Promotions Coordinator at Dufferin County Museum and Archives (DCMA) Nanci Malek says it will be "an evening with the delightful Ken Weber asking the important Canadian questions, such as What Canadian program is the longest running television sports show in the world? and What is the mistake in the following sentence? Our first Prime Minister, Sir John A. MacDonald, was married twice. Trivia will be based on Canadian questions, so come fully patriotic and prepared."

A cash bar is available and admission is $20.00 or $15.00 for DCMA members.

A seminar and workshop on "Forgotten Migrants: British Home Children in Dufferin County" will take place Saturday, September 30 at 2 pm.

"Between 1863 and 1949, over 100,000 children were sent from the UK to Canada as Home Children," says Ms. Malek. "Canada is home to over four million descendants of these British Home Children and yet most Canadians are completely unaware of their story."

Join Lori Oschefski, Founder and CEO of the British Home Children Advocacy & Research Association and Laura Camilleri, Dufferin County Archivist as they tell the stories of some of Dufferin County's Home Children and lead a research workshop on what clues and tips can help you identify the Home Child in your family tree and how to tell their story."

Reserve tickets by phone: 877.941.7787 or email: info@dufferinmuseum.com as space is limited. Admission: $15.00 / Members: $10.00. Dufferin County Museum and Archives is located at the corner of Highway 89 and Airport Road a short drive east of Shelburne.

Back to School road safety is everyone's responsibility

The youth in our community returned to school this week. This means school buses will be sharing our roads during heavy traffic hours, more children will be walking or cycling along roads and crossing roads, and school drop off zones will be packed with parents doing pick-ups and drop offs.

The safety of these children is everyone's responsibility!

According to a study by Safe Kids Canada, more children acquire pedestrian-related injuries in the months of September and October than any other time of year.

Here are some back-to-school safety tips:

- Talk with your children: Talk about the rules of the road, make sure your child knows the safest route to their school and teach them to obey crossing guards.
- Put away the phone: This is for both drivers and pedestrians. Driving distracted through texting or talking on a hand held device has been proven to be very dangerous. But walking distracted, especially for children, takes the focus away from potential hazards and dangers.
- Leave early: Always leave plenty of time for you and your family to get to school. Running late can cause aggressive behaviors.
- Scan the road: Scan ahead, scan the sidewalks, look through windows of parked cars, and look for feet under parked cars.
- Obey School Buses: Motorists travelling in both directions must stop for a school bus
- Be Patient: Drivers need to wait for children to complete their crossing before proceeding. Children can be unpredictable and change their minds.
- Slow Down: Especially in school zones, slow down and pay full attention to safe driving
- Drop children off in a safe area: If you are driving children to school, drop them off in a safe area away from traffic.

The Shelburne Police Service wishes all our youth a safe and happy return to school!
