Law Enforcement Torch Run coming to Town

BY MICHELLE JANZEN

Next Wednesday, June 1, at 10.30 a.m., come rain or shine, Shelburne Police Services will host Shelburne's Torch Run for Special Olympics.

The Ontario Law Enforcement Torch Run is a community based, province-wide event that sees the "Flame of Hope" carried across Ontario by members of Law Enforcement agencies from across the province.

The objective of this and other events is to raise funds for and awareness of the Special Olympics movement in Ontario.

The Law Enforcement Torch Run has grown into the most important fund raising effort of Special Olympics programs around the world.

In 2014, over $50,000,000 was raised through the Law Enforcement Torch Run movement collectively

All funds raised through Ontario Law Enforcement Torch Run events are directed into program support that directly affects all community Special Olympic Ontario (SOO) programs.

Funds are then put into community programs and help pay for various expenses including: games travel, accommodations, meals, staff support to the field, grants to new community programs, volunteer and athlete training, administration and information/promotional materials and development initiatives like the "School Program" which opens up opportunities to new athletes.

It's important to have one provincial fundraiser that helps SOO create an "equitable" playing field.

At SOO, small programs, large programs, big cities and small communities are treated with the same level of importance. The development of Special Olympics Ontario is directly related to the success of the Torch Run.

With the endorsement of the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police, the first Law Enforcement Torch Run was held in Shelburne. Continued on Page 13

McDowells making strides against Autism cutbacks

BY MARNI WALSH

The Provincial Government recently announced that as of May 1st, intensive behavioural intervention therapy (IBI) for autism will only be available for children between the ages of two and four, potentially reducing waiting time from the current two years to six months, but effectively shutting the door to the life-changing therapy for thousands of autistic children.

Kelly McDowell and her husband Julian, residents of Horning's Mills, are working alongside other Ontario families to dispute the changes, carrying out with letter writing campaigns,

Community Living players shine a new light on performing

IN A NEW LIGHT – Shelburne's own Barb Squirrel, top right in pink, is one of several actors who have collaborated on a new presentation between Community Living Dufferin and Theatre Orangeville

BY BROCK WEIR

When Shelburne's Barb Squirrel takes the stage at Theatre Orangeville next Wednesday, her husband George will be in the audience cheering her on.

"In A New Light", the latest collaborative drama program between Community Living Dufferin and Theatre Orangeville opens Wednesday, June 1 at 7 p.m., continuing the following evening at the same time, and wrapping up June 3 at 11 a.m., and is a performance of songs, monologues and drama celebrating everyone's abilities.

This is the fourth time Barb, a resident of Shelburne for over 18 years, has been on stage with the Creative Partners on Stage Drama Troupe, and Wednesday's performance is special. It's George's birthday and when she treads the boards, she says she's doing so in his honour.

"Our play has jokes and campfire songs, dancing, singers, acting, and pods that light up," Barb explains. "The theme is 'light.'"

That is a theme that extends right through the players.

While Barb says she particularly liked helping out making the pods, she also likes giving a hand to her fellow performers when they have a problem.

"They have all come out of their shells for the last four years I have known them," she says. "Everyone is coming out of their shells."

As a performer, Barb has come into her own, says director Jane Ohland Cameron, but she has never been in a "shell."

"I think Barb has always been out of her shell, but I have really seen her come into the fullness of who she is through her singing, through her dancing, her acting, and just her awareness of other actors on stage and supporting other actors at the same time," says Ms. Ohland Cameron. "Barb was very out-of-her-shell to begin with but, my gosh, she has blossomed as a performer."

And, in the end, that is the intent of performances like "In A New Light."

"[Choreographer Jenee Gowing] and I began with the theme of light and our rehearsals all begin in a circle of storytelling," says Ms. Ohland Cameron. "We all share our stories and we share different things about light, be it nursery rhymes from when we were young that had the moon and the stars and the sun in them, songs that have to do with light, the kinds of light we love, be it the Northern Lights, starlight or sunlight. We gradually build our own stories, share our ideas, the actors compose monologues about the things they love and are so important in their lives and, miraculously, this play begins to take shape.

"Jenee's choreography is so unique. She works with the dancers and she describes them as 'dancing from the inside out.' You can see that from the stage. The actors are absolutely who they are, rather than playing the roles, pretending that they are other people."

As the play comes together, Ms. Ohland Cameron says it is going to be an "amazing production." She and Jenee are continually impressed by the talent that comes out of their actors as the rehearsals progress.

"The shows traditionally have such an effect on the audience that people say they leave the theatre at a different place than when they arrived and there are people who call the performance 'life changing,'" says Jane. "The actors have written their own monologues, so we are able to see the world from the actors' point of view and literally how they see the world. Not only has the long process of putting the play together expanded the actors' roles, but I think the performance actually expands the worlds of the audience at the same time. Overall, it is a very profound experience. It is great fun, moving, and people are advised to bring Kleenex!"

It has been a long road from rehearsal to this point and while the clock ticks closer to the curtain-up, Barb says she is still loving every minute.

"It is exciting to see it [change] from the beginning of the rehearsals to the beginning of the play," says Barb. "I want the audience to be happy and to enjoy it and come out. I would like to see them come back next time for whatever the play is next year, and I hope I'll be on stage next time because I really love doing it!"

Seniors Information Expo examines dementia

BY PETER RICHARDSON

The Mel Lloyd Centre was the venue for a Seniors Information Expo, on Tuesday, co-hosted by MP David Tilson and The New Horizons Seniors Club.

Held five times a year in Shelburne, these expos are designed to provide seniors with a variety of insights into programmes and subjects of interest to their community.

Each event features four speakers and culminates with a light lunch courtesy of a sponsor from the business community. Tuesday's lunch was provided by Peter Walton of Egan Funeral Home.

This week's topics included discussions on Self-Management Programmes, Alzheimer's, Dementia, Fun, Friends and Fitness and Discovering the Best of Headwaters and all were extremely well received by the audience.

Becky McCreath, Public Education Coordinator for the Alzheimer's Society of Dufferin County, was the presenter for Alzheimer's/Dementia and shed a broad light on this often misunderstood subject.

Although frequently, referred to as a disease, dementia is actually the name for a set of symptoms that are commonly associated with several actual diseases, including Alzheimer's, Pick's Disease and Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease, which is related to "Mad Cow" disease.

The symptoms may include, memory loss, trouble with understanding just what is going on, judgement problems, loss of language skills and decreased cognitive functions. These symptoms, however, may also be prompted by such illnesses as thyroid problems, or depression, or by an adverse reaction to medications and are often completely reversible.

It is therefore important, that seniors discuss any symptoms they may be experiencing, with their healthcare provider.

Becky went on to point out that although caregivers and friends should be helpful to those experiencing these or other symptoms, they should be careful not to make that person feel marginalized by their condition.

One of the most important things that can be done for those suffering from symptoms is to maintain their friendships and sense of belonging, or being a part of society. Many times these people retain vivid memories of parts of their lives and enjoy sharing these with friends and family, which, in turn, helps them feel relevant and appreciated as individuals, which reinforces their self-image and helps them to deal with the difficulties of the dementia.

Understanding Alzheimer's is not an easy procedure.

For example, the disease affects more women, than men.

For no medically substantiated reason, 72% of all sufferers are women. Over the age of 65, the risk of Alzheimer's doubles every five years and more so, if there is a family history of the disease and women are twice as affected as men.

70% of all caregivers are women and yet the most affected groups are grandmothers and grandchildren, mothers and children, wives and husbands, and we have only theories to explain the dichotomy. It could be hormonal, or lifestyle, or that women tend to live longer than men, or simply that as primary caregivers, women often neglect their own health to care for the health of their families.

Whatever the reason, the key to treatment and management of Alzheimer's is early detection and diagnosis and women, in particular, need to be cognizant of any symptoms and report them immediately to their healthcare providers.

Overall, the presentations were very well received and those that speaking to the Shelburne Free Press were generally pleased with the topics and the information received.

Norma Mintz says felt that the morning was very informative. Dave Hawthorne was equally satisfied, while Jack Hunter would have preferred more information on subjects like the causes of strokes or related problems.

Dennis Leitch proffered one minor complaint, saying, that although the programme was informative, he found it difficult to hear everything at the back of the filled-to-capacity room.

Central West LHIN

PAS 1671 - PUBLIC NOTICE BOARD MEMBER RECRUITMENT

Exciting Opportunities Exist to Join the Board Of Directors of the Central West Local Health Integration Network

A mosaic of geographic and cultural diversity and home to over 922,000 local residents, the Central West LHIN plans, integrates, funds and monitors the local health care system for the regions of Brampton, Caledon, Dufferin, Malton, north Etobicoke and west Woodbridge. Together with local Health Service Providers and community partners (hospitals, the Central West Community Care Access Centre, community-based support services, long-term care facilities, mental health and addictions agencies, physicians, family health teams, community health centres, and broader public health and social services sectors), the Central West LHIN is working to put people and patients first by improving their health care experience and their health outcomes.

Members of the Central West LHIN Board of Directors are responsible for directing its affairs and providing oversight in accordance with applicable legislation, approved strategic and business plans, accountability agreements with the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care (MOHLTC) and the directions and policies as established by the MOHLTC.

We will have three Board vacancies in 2016; one occurring in June, 2016, and the other two in October.

We will be focusing our search on candidates who possess the following attributes:

- Understand governance and, ideally, have governance experience,
- Understand the mandate of Ontario's LHINs,
- Demonstrate community leadership,
- Have an interest in or understanding of the health care system,
- Have experience in engaging with the public,
- Reside within the Central West Regions and in particular, the City of Brampton, Town of Caledon and/or Dufferin County.

Specifically, we are looking for candidates with experience and/or background in the areas of:

- Finance/Accounting
- Human Resources
- Law
- Communications

Members of the public who represent the linguistic, cultural and geographic diversity of the LHIN region including representatives from the Francophone and Aboriginal (Indigenous Peoples) communities, are encouraged to apply for this vacancy.

Most Central West LHIN Board and Committee meetings are held in Brampton in the evenings but they do, from time to time, move around to other communities within our LHIN. Serving on a LHIN Board is a part-time position, but it does require a significant time commitment, often involving meetings and/or teleconferences during and outside of normal business hours. Candidates should consider their ability to make such a commitment as part of their decision to express their interest in serving on the LHIN Board.

Directors are paid a per diem to attend Board and Committee meetings and public engagement meetings which also includes preparation time. In addition, appointees are eligible for expenses consistent with applicable government policies.

If you, or someone you know, might be interested in exploring these exciting opportunities to help transform our local health system, we would be happy to set up a personal meeting with our Board Chair, Maria Britto.

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF SHELBURNE NOTICE OF COMPLETE APPLICATION AND PUBLIC MEETING UNDER SECTION 34 OF THE PLANNING ACT

Take notice that the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Shelburne has initiated an amendment to the Zoning By-law Amendment (File No. Z16/04) and will hold a public meeting on:

MONDAY, JUNE 20, 2016

The public meeting is scheduled to start at 7:00 p.m., or as shortly thereafter as possible, and will be held in the Council Chambers at the Municipal Office, 203 Main Street East, Shelburne.

The purpose of the meeting is to consider an Amendment to the Town of Shelburne Zoning By-law No. 38-2007 that has been initiated by the Town.

The Amendment is proposed to update the provisions for home occupations in the Zoning By-law. Currently, the Zoning By-law restricts home occupations to single detached dwellings within the Residential Type One (R1), Residential Type Two (R2), Residential Type Three (R3) and Residential Type Four (R4) Zones. Based on the zones in which home occupations are permitted, and the associated regulations, most residential properties are unable to satisfy the requirements due to the required parking location (rear or side yard only) and the number of required parking spaces (minimum 3 spaces, plus 1 space for the dwelling).

The purpose and effect of the Amendment is to revise the Zoning By-law definitions and regulations pertaining to home occupations to establish three (3) classes of home occupations with related provisions addressing the size and nature of the business permitted within various dwelling types, the number of non-resident employees permitted, and associated parking regulations with provisions for tandem parking within a permitted residential driveway. Minimum parking requirements, permitted uses and number of non-resident employees are proposed to be regulated for each classification of home occupation. As part of the review, the definition of a Home Occupation and related terms such as Personal Service Shop are also proposed to be amended. The proposed Amendment applies generally to all land within the Town of Shelburne and therefore a map of the affected lands is not provided with this Notice.

At the meeting you will be given an opportunity to ask questions and indicate whether you support or oppose the application for the Zoning By-law Amendment. Written submissions will be accepted by the Clerk up to the time of the Public Meeting and will be given consideration by the Council prior to a decision being made.

If a person or public body does not make oral submissions at a public meeting, or make written submissions to the Clerk of the Town of Shelburne before the by-law is passed, the person or public body may not be added as a party to the hearing of an appeal before the Ontario Municipal Board unless, in the opinion of the Board, there are reasonable grounds to do so.

Additional information relating to the proposed Zoning By-law Amendment will be available for inspection at the Town of Shelburne Municipal Office at 203 Main Street East, during normal office hours, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and on the Town's website at www.townofshelburne.on.ca on or before June 1, 2016. If you wish to be notified of the passing of the proposed Zoning By-law Amendment, you must make a written request to the Town at the address below.

Ottawa Journal: Electoral Reform

BY DAVID TILSON, MP
DUFFERIN-CALEDON

On May 10, 2016, Liberal Ministers Dominic LeBlanc and Maryam Monsef announced the Liberal government's plan for a special Parliamentary committee to study changes to the voting system, and to have that committee report back to the House by December 1, 2016.

The process set out by the Liberals is entirely unacceptable and stacks the deck in their favour.

In effect, they are attempting to rig the 2019 election.

The Conservative Party insists that Canadians must have the final say, in a national referendum, on any proposed changes to how Canadians elect their MPs.

Whatever the plan, and whatever the process, Canadians want a vote—yes or no—before the government tries to change the voting system.

That is what Canadians deserve from their government, and that is what the Conservative Party will continue to push for. When a government wants to change the basic rules of democracy, everyone must have a say.

All options should be on the table, and Canadians should not be denied the choice to say "No."

Our best examples of voting system consultations in Canada - the citizens' assemblies of British Columbia and Ontario, and the in-depth studies in Prince Edward Island - all concluded with a referendum. That's the standard of behaviour that Canadians now expect.

No government in Canada has tried to impose a new voting system without a referendum since the early 1950s. The last time it was tried, the politicians were rigging the system. Voters saw this and rightly punished them for it.

A referendum on the Liberal plan is the only way to ensure any change has the clear support of Canadians, and that the government's plan is fair and transparent. A near-consensus of editorial and opinion commentary has urged the government to put any proposal to a referendum. Recent polling confirms that Canadians want the same thing: they want a vote. The Prime Minister has been clear in saying that he won't hold a referendum because he doesn't think he can win one. The Prime Minister simply doesn't trust Canadians to give him the right answer.

This government has already developed a track record of promises broken for convenience, and without remorse. I have no faith that this Liberal government will deliver on its promises of open-mindedness, and thorough, fair consultations with Canadians on electoral reform.

A committee of ten parliamentarians, no matter the makeup, is not, and never will be, a substitute for all Canadians having their voices heard directly in a referendum. Providing only seven months for this committee to report its findings, on such a broad range of topics, and after more than six months of delay, is disrespectful to Parliament and to Canadians who want their voices heard.

The government could have chosen to make the votes of all Canadians count when forming this committee. Instead, the Liberals chose to entrench their majority and deny committee voting rights to fully half of the opposition parties.

The Liberals have ensured they can impose their pre-determined agenda on this committee, and have given opposition parties no meaningful way to ensure that the committee's recommendations are reflective of the will of Canadians.

The principles put forth by the government—which were eight, but are now seven, grouped under five headings—are contradictory, and therefore are nothing less than an exercise in Liberal vanity, crafted to allow the government to justify the pre-determined outcome it intends to impose on Canadians.

This government is cynical and shameless when it asserts a mandate to impose change that is the result of a parliamentary majority it clearly believes to be ill-gotten under the current voting system. It cannot have things both ways.

Remember, only 39.5% of Canadians voted for the Liberals nationally. This does not equate to a mandate to unilaterally change our electoral system.

Autism petitions endorsed by Shelburne and Melancthon Councils

petitions, and a number of protests across the province.

Pressure is building in the hope that the government will reverse, or at least revise the new policy.

The McDowell's five year old daughter Emily has made incredible strides since beginning IBI last October, but the changes could mean her progress will be stopped in its tracks this month for no other reason than her age.

Provincial Children and Youth Services Minister Tracy MacCharles, says the decision to limited IBI to kids under five is "based on expert advice to focus on children in that developmental window."

Autistic children, she says, will transition to "enhanced Applied Behaviour Analysis (ABA)" services. However, experienced parents and the Ontario Association for Behaviour Analysis (ONTABA) say that the ABA program is widely accepted "as sub-therapeutic, and does not result in meaningful outcomes.

"I've become a lot more involved than I thought I would or could manage initially," says Ms. McDowell regarding her family's pushback against the changes. "I took it upon myself to raise awareness at the municipal level, since our [Provincial] Liberal government isn't listening or willing to discuss."

Ms. McDowell says she is working to increase media coverage and "raise awareness of the issues, to give our ASD families a voice, even if it's only within their own communities...and in the bare hope that someone will listen."

Petitions around the community are receiving a lot of support and, most recently, the McDowell family secured a resolution of support for their cause from both Shelburne and Melancthon Councils.

"Melancthon Mayor and Council shared some stories about their personal relationship with autism," says McDowell. "The Deputy Mayor spoke eloquently about the ever-increasing rise in autism, and how there are so few who aren't touched by it in some way."

The resolution Shelburne and Melancthon Council passed was written by the Town of Oakville as part of their May Council Agenda. Still, the Town of Shelburne is the first municipality in the province to officially pass the motion and to send a message to the Provincial Government "that this current system is not acceptable or in the best interest of the ASD children of Ontario."

John Telfer, Shelburne's Town Clerk and Chief Administrative Officer, says "the Town of Shelburne is proud to be one of the first municipalities to stand up and say no to the Liberal government on this funding cut. Our resolution has been sent

On May 17th, Kelly McDowell of Horning's Mills attended Provincial Parliament at Queen's Park in Toronto to show her concern for the new Provincial Liberal plan to cut IBI Therapy for autistic children in Ontario once they turn five years old. Kelly and Julian McDowell's five-year-old daughter Emily will lose vital therapy that she only began receiving in October should the plan continue. According to Ms. McDowell, Monique Taylor, NDP Children and Youth Services Critic (front row far right,) Patrick Brown Leader of the Provincial PCs (front row centre,) and Dufferin-Caledon's MPP Sylvia Jones (front row, left), PC Children and Youth Services Critic, have been vocally opposed to the changes during session. Kelly McDowell (centre second row) to all 444 municipalities across Ontario for their consideration and endorsement."

The resolution, addressed to the Minister of Children and Youth Services, the Deputy Minister, the Minister of Health and the Premier requests the Province to:

"Amend its policy to one that will allow all children on the current waiting list to receive the IBI services promised them; and

"Remove the age limit for IBI therapy and replace it with a program that provides ongoing IBI services based on need and individual development, not age; and Ensure oversight by professionals and parents based on 'development progress' criteria and milestones; and

"Adopt a Direct Funding Offering model in lieu of the current Direct Service Offering model."

Now, the McDowells are offering to help families across Ontario approach their local municipal councils in support of the same resolution.

Other families have also been making strides, and so far Shelburne, Pickering, and Melancthon Councils have passed the resolution, with Mulmur, Oshawa, Niagara and Espanola, Richmond Hill, Oakville and possibly Caledon scheduled to read the resolution soon.

"I am hoping it passes unanimously everywhere," says Kelly. "If our Provincial Liberals won't listen to constituents, school boards, therapists, experts, and unions, then maybe adding the voice of our local representatives will help."

The next protest at Queen's Park is June 6th.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Autism doesn't end at age 5: MPP

On May 17th, the Wynne Liberals voted down a motion from the Ontario PC Caucus that called for the Government to provide support for all children with autism. Our motion stated:

The Legislative Assembly of Ontario accepts that autism doesn't end at the age of 5;

The Legislative Assembly of Ontario accepts that Intensive Behavioural Intervention (IBI) therapy is statistically effective at improving the development of autistic children of any age; and The Legislative Assembly of Ontario supports restoring funding for IBI therapy for children over the age of 5.

Members from both the NDP and PC Caucus spoke in support of the motion and shared personal stories of families impacted by the Government's decision.

Currently, 85 per cent of children receiving IBI therapy are 5 and older. As a result of the Government's decision, approximately 3,500 children who are currently receiving therapy or on the waitlist will lose out on accessing this scientifically-proven therapy.

I am disappointed the Government ignored experts and thousands of parents and chose to vote down our motion to help our province's children.

Children over the age of five still have special needs the province must address, and IBI therapy has shown to help improve the lives of children of all ages, to allow them to communicate with their family, succeed in school, and thrive in our communities.

No child should be left behind in receiving the necessary support they deserve. That is why my Leader, Patrick Brown, has promised an Ontario PC Government will reinstate IBI therapy for children over the age of 5, because we know autism doesn't end at 5.

As a result of the search warrant, marijuana and cocaine were seized. Also seized were cash, drug paraphernalia, and numerous tools of the drug trafficking trade.

Three youth were arrested at the time the search warrant was executed.

Amazing Race achieves amazing results for CDDHS and Headwaters

BY MICHELLE JANZEN

The Amazing Race saw participants travelling from Center Dufferin District High School (CDDHS) to the arena, library, Greenwood park and some local stores with a total of eight destinations, with two road blocks and two detours.

Once a team arrived at their destination they had to complete tasks such as having to pump three people's fuel at the gas station. They had to memorize a poem at the library and recite it back, shake ping pong balls out of a Kleenex box tied to their waist, as well as having to put on clothes located in a certain dryer at a laundromat and tweet a picture.

And it was all for a good cause, part of CD-DHS's 15th annual fundraiser, Hair Off for Headwaters, which was started by a former teacher who was diagnosed with cancer and shone the spotlight on the need for increased funding to "keep cancer care local."

To raise more funds, Ms. Senese, Business Teacher in charge of Hair Off tells us the Tech department of the school hosted a Show n' Shine this past Friday, with many elementary schools visiting.

"The business classes were there conducting various fundraising initiatives, mostly food related, but [they] also had some trivia games with prizes," she says. "Students were able to buy in for a toonie to attend the show n' shine with all proceeds being donated to our Hair Off Campaign. We also auctioned off a jersey signed by Paul Henderson as well as a class competition, where the class that brings in the most money will win a pizza party paid for by our principal. Teachers also become involved by challenging their class to bring in a certain amount of money and they will cut their hair at the assembly."

When asked who came up with the idea of having an amazing race for this year's Hair Off, Ms. Senese replies "the group responsible for Fundraising Initiatives came up with this idea and consisted of Bryn Armstrong, Megan Long and Di'ja Balfour.

Winners Hannah Little and Emma McLaughlin won this year's race and also received a $50 gift card for Blue Jays tickets. There were prizes for 2nd and 3rd places as well as race t-shirts, which were provided to the first 30 participants that signed up. The t-shirts were kindly donated by Corporate Image.

The closing assembly for Hair Off at CD-DHS takes place this Friday, May 27 at 2 p.m. and donations can still be made online through May 31 via at www.ugdsb.on.ca/cddhs.

The sun came out and shone through at Centre Dufferin District High School's 3rd Annual Show & Shine last Friday, May 20, which proved to be popular with students, teachers and local business owners in Shelburne.

Organized mainly by workshop teacher Mr. Schiedel, and with help from other teachers and students at the school, this event is getting bigger after only its third year.

"It's an afternoon of fun and a chance for students to show off their machines, dirt bikes, tractors, cars and also items they have made at the school in workshop classes," said Mr. Schiedel.

It's a great cause to help raise funds for local charity "Hair off for Cancer" with the many baked goods on sale, and games. This event couldn't happen without the sponsors either, who gave up their time for the event, including Steve Bowles from Auto Centre Dufferin, Linamar, C.A.R.S. and OYAP (Upper Grand District School Board).

Many classic cars were on show and the thrill of the display was the vibrant yellow racing car owned by local business C.A.R.S, which was donated to the owners Paul & Nicole for their Autistic son Paul Jr., and was once driven in the INDY.

Brad Bennett, also a regular, was happy to show everybody his spectacular tank that he and his dad built in their garage.

Many amazing vehicles dotted the parking lot at the high school, this sunny afternoon.

So much fun was had by all, and students and teachers alike who gave up their time to host this event. They can't wait to see how much was raised for the Headwaters Cancer unit, and they would like to thank everybody who attended and put their hands in their pockets to help this worthy cause.

Their truck is equipped to handle sound system installations and repairs for ski resorts, golf clubs, amusement parks etc. They can even pop in and help you with your rental equipment setup for your event or meeting.

It's too noisy. It's too quiet. People are overhearing my private conversations. These common complaints are indications of a sound problem due to poor workplace acoustics. All can be addressed with a custom Sound Masking System Installation.

Sound masking is the addition of an unobtrusive airflow-like background sound to a workspace. Similar to "white noise" this sound will cover or "mask" conversations in adjacent spaces. The sound produced by Sound masking systems mirrors the frequencies of human speech for optimal masking of conversations. Masking will improve acoustical comfort in virtually any workspace, including:

- Open cubicle areas where distracting conversations affect productivity.
- Private offices, exam rooms & counseling areas where confidentiality is required.
- Banks, pharmacies and waiting areas where sensitive information is shared.
- Doctors', Dentists' and other practitioners' offices where privacy is essential in confined environments.
- Libraries and other quiet spaces where, because of the lack of background noise, every sound is distracting.

Controlling your Boardroom Audio Video equipment and Home entertainment systems(s) just got a whole lot easier. No need to use two or three remotes with your projector or TV, just push or swipe once from ipad, iphone or Android.

MASSIVE can provide you with an affordable control system for iOS & Android Devices. DemoPad is a revolutionary solution that allows a certified installer to simply and quickly develop an affordable, easy-to-use, customized touchscreen control system without the high costs traditionally associated with residential or commercial control systems. ## Senior Cubs give up loss to Barrie

BY BRIAN LOCKHART

It was a well-played game, but the Mansfield Cubs just couldn't get the late runs needed to catch the Barrie Angels during the mid-week game on the diamond at Mansfield on Wednesday, May 18.

The Cubs previous scheduled game against the Allison Athletics on Sunday was washed out when inclement weather forced the League to postpone all but one scheduled game.

Wednesday's game in Mansfield saw the first three innings go scoreless before Barrie brought in a couple of runs in the fourth.

After loading the bases on a walk, the Angels drove a single to centre field that brought in two runs to open the scoring.

The Barrie squad went ahead by three in the fifth when a hit to right field brought in a run.

The Cubs played a solid defensive game ending the sixth inning on a fly to right field. Mansfield got on the scoreboard in the sixth inning starting with Brad Caldwell with a base hit to third and an overthrow to first base. That was followed up by a nice hit to shallow centre by Brad Pendleton to place Cubs player on first and third.

Bill Hawkins hit to right field to bring in the first Cubs run.

The Angels notched number four when a player stole two bases then was brought in on a hit to centre field.

Caldwell brought in the second Mansfield run on a hit to right field to make it a 4-2 game during the Cubs' last at-bat, but they couldn't make up the difference and had to settle for the loss.

The Cubs had a full roster and then some. Mansfield started a new junior team this season and some of the players are getting some extra experience sitting in with the older guys.

"They put in a junior team this year, so this is the first time we've had a junior team in Mansfield for quite some time," said Cubs coach Jesse Ragazzon. "Four of five other the guys from the junior team came out. A couple of them got into the game."

Despite the loss, Ragazzon said he thought the squad played a solid game.

"It was a good game," he said. "We had a ton of base runners. We just couldn't get that clutch hit. I think we had the bases loaded twice and couldn't get that hit. But it was a good game with good pitching."

The Cubs will have three road games before returning to their home diamond on Wednesday, June 8, to host the New Lowell Knights.

The first pitch in that game is scheduled for 6.30 p.m.

Junior C Vets fall to Oakville

BY BRIAN LOCKHART

After six games, the Shelburne Junior C Vets are still looking for their first win of the season.

The Vets hosted the Oakville Buzz on Friday night, May 20, at the Centre Dufferin Recreation Complex, but came up short, taking a 12-5 loss.

The game got off to a slow start in the first period with neither team moving the ball much on the floor.

The Vets opened the scoring on a goal from Ty McCallum.

Oakville responded with two fast ones to take an early lead, but Kayden Morley put one past the Oakville goalie to tie it up.

Two more Oakville goals late in the period gave the Buzz a 4-2 advantage going into the second period.

Shelburne's Cooper Lammie notched one early in the period.

The Buzz finished the frame with four more including two power play goals that left the Vets trailing by five goals with one period remaining.

The Shelburne boys fought back in the third period but were outgunned 4-2 and they had to settle for the 12-5 loss.

Vets third period goals both came from Ty McCallum.

After six games this season the Vets are still trying for that first win and now are in the bottom of the Division - along with Mimico, who are also winless this season.

Wilmot is leading the division with a 5-1 record followed by Six Nations with a 4-1-1 record so far.

Oakville is in third place followed by Brantford and Halton Hills.

The Vets will meet Wilmot on Sunday, May 29, in Wilmot for a 3 p.m. game.

They will return to their home arena in Shelburne on Friday, June 3, to host Brantford.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Christian Perspectives: Christianity is only as real as your love

BY REV. GORD HORSLEY
ABIDING PLACE MINISTRIES

Is your love growing and becoming softer, brighter, more daring and more visible?

Or, is it becoming more discriminating, more calculating, less vulnerable and less available?

This is a very important issue, for your Christianity is only as real as your love.

A measurable decrease in your ability to love is evidence that a stronghold of cold love is developing within you.

Matthew 24:12 says: "Because lawlessness is increased, most people's love will grow cold."

A major area of spiritual warfare that has come against the church is the sphere of church relationships. Satan knows that a church divided against its self cannot stand.

We may enjoy temporary blessings and seasonal breakthroughs, but to win a city-wide war, Jesus is raising up a united, town- or city-wide, church

An earmark of this corporate, overcoming church will be its commitment to love.

Yet, because of the increasing iniquity in the times we live, true Christian love will be severely assaulted, shaken to its core. There is no spiritual unity, and hence no lasting victory, without love.

Love is a passion for oneness, laying our lives down for each other, for the sake of Christ.

Bitterness, on the other hand, is characterized by a noticeable lack of love. This cold love is a demonic stronghold.

In our generation, selfishness and cold love is becoming increasingly more and more common.

Yes, I am talking about in the church! It shuts down the power of unity and prayer and disables the flow of healing and outreach. In fact, where there is persistent selfishness and unforgiveness, the enemy has a hay day.

The scriptures warn that even a little root of bitterness springing up in a person's life can defile many (Hebrews 12:15). Bitterness is unfulfilled revenge. Luke 17:1 states, "It is impossible that no offenses should come", and Matt 24:10-13 says, "And many will be offended, will betray one another and will hate one another."

Listen, another's thoughtlessness or cruelty may have wounded us deeply. It is inevitable that in a world of increasing harshness and cruelty we will at some point be hurt, but if we fail to react with love and forgiveness, if we retain in our heart the debt the offender owes, that offense will rob our hearts of the capacity to love.

We will end up becoming a member of the majority of the end-time Christian church whose love will and has gone cold.

Bitterness is the most visible symptom of the stronghold of cold love. To deal with cold love, we must repent and forgive the one who hurt us. I believe painful experiences are allowed by God to teach us how to love our enemies. If we still have unforgiveness towards someone, we have failed this test. Fortunately, it was just a test, not a final exam.

We actually need to thank God for the opportunity to grow in divine love.

Thank him that your whole life is not being swallowed up in bitterness and resentment. Millions of souls are swept off into eternal judgment every day without any hope of escaping from embitterment, but you have been given God's answer for your pain.

God gives you a way out: Love!

Allow me to be perfectly clear, there is no such thing as love without commitment.

The measure of one's love is found in the depths of his or her commitment to others.

How often have we heard people say; "I loved once, but I was hurt," or "I was committed to a body of believers, but they used me?"

They also say; "I was not heard, they did not see my gifting and allow me to move in them."

When someone withdraws his commitment to a relationship, or church body, he or she is withdrawing their love. It is not one's commitment that grows cold; it is their love. It may not seem like they have become cold; they may still attend church, sing and look the Christian part, but inside they have become hard-hearted, separated from others.

At this stage, they become more and more easily offended.

Jesus said, "It is inevitable that stumbling blocks come" Matt 18:7.

In your walk, there will be times when even good people have bad days. As long as we live on earth, there will never be a time when "stumbling blocks" cease to be found upon our paths. People do not stumble over boulders but over stones and little pebbles, little things seem to be blown out of proportion to be some great problem. Have you stumbled over someone's weaknesses or their sin? Many people stumble over faults and human weaknesses, which they then feel justifies withdrawing from others in the body of Christ, even churches.

In reality, these issues, often with a member of a church or, in most cases with the Pastor, are a smokescreen which masks the person's lack of love. God is committed to imperfect people, why aren't we? Or, do we know better than the one who created mankind!

"Well, as soon as I find a church that appreciates me and my gifting and believes as I do, then I will be committed."

Let me just say that the gifting and callings of God on your life are the Lord's to do as he sees fit; not to make you look important, but to glorify God and minister to one another.

We are to allow Holy Spirit to transform us into the character of Christ, which is love, unconditional love! For perfect love covers a multitude of sins. We are being perfected into unity (John 17). Love and commitment to each other combats cold love! If Christ accepts us while we are still imperfect, we must also accept one another.

We may not like what each other does at times, but we have to love each other.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAMS

The TD Summer Reading Program is getting closer; remember to sign up. The registration sheet will be up this week. There will be a calendar available soon with all the activities for the summer, so please keep watching the website or check at the Library for more details.

Paws to Read has some openings in the schedule. If you know of someone who would like to read to Mac the poodle, he loves having stories read to him.

Storytime is busy on Fridays at 10.30 a.m. for preschoolers. Storytime will continue in the summer at the same time.

The Lego club is on Wednesdays at 3.30 for ages 8 and up.

We are planning a Lego Club for the younger children on Wednesdays at 2.30 during the summer. Let us know if your child would be interested in joining Check the web site or call 519-925-2168 for more information about any of these programs. Keep an eye on our website and Facebook pages (/shelburnelibrary) to stay up-to-date.

TEEN SCENE:

This week, teens will be discussing two books, Everything, Everything and Matched.

As always, our discussion will centre on the four dominant appeal factors: story, character, setting, and language. It is always interesting to find out why a book appeals to the group. (Or not!)

Secondly, as the Teen Summer Reading Challenge is quickly approaching, there is a survey in the YA section which aims to find out what Teens want to do at the Library this summer! Fill it out and put your name on it to be entered into a draw. The winning survey will be drawn Thursday, July 7, during the Teen Summer Reading Challenge Launch Party!

More programs being lined up

With close to 30 entries this year at three different competitions, dancers walked away with many high marks, and overall awards, as well as several judges awards. John van Teunenbroek, owner of John's No Frills in Shelburne (back) and staff, announced that well over $7,000 has been raised in customer donations for Fort McMurray in just the last 17 days. Mr. van Teunenbroek says 100% of the donations will go directly to the Red Cross to assist victims of the devastating fire, which has now effected over 500,000 hectares of land in Alberta, displacing 94,000 people from their homes. The money will be matched by the government. "Loblaws Canada has donated food, water and money totally $300,000 in value to aid the fire victims," says the store owner. Money can still be donated at the check-out counters of No Frills on Hwy 89 in Shelburne.

Shelburne and District Firefighters hold car wash to aid First Responders in Fort McMurray

BY MICHELLE JANZEN

As fires continue to rage in Alberta, the Salvation Army's Emergency and Disaster Services is providing support to first responders and disaster survivors.

The Salvation Army has deployed four community response units (CRUs) to feed 300 first responders engaged in the Fort McMurray fire response efforts.

Currently, the Salvation Army's Community response vehicles are serving 2,000 meals a day to first responders battling wildfires in Fort McMurray.

In addition to distributing food, water and hygiene kits, they also provide emotional and spiritual care, a listening ear to those tasked with combating the fire, and ensuring public safety.

As such, the Shelburne District Firefighters Association held a car wash this past Saturday to raise funds to donate to the Salvation Army Alberta Fire Fund.

"We are very pleased to report that we will be donating $820 to this fund," Chief Brad Lemaich tells the Shelburne Free Press. "We choose this charity because [we] can't be there to directly help our brothers and sisters, so we chose to help those who help them."

The RCMP is escorting CRUs to the emergency operation center in Fort McMurray, while the Salvation Army is working closely with community agencies to determine how they can best assist and ensure that no needs go unmet.

Before the fires intensified, the community response units in Alberta were stocked with provisions and ready to serve.

"The Firefighters Association has also donated $200 to the Red Cross Relief Fund," adds Chief Lemaich. "We couldn't have done this without the support of the community and for that we sincerely thank everyone who participated. We would like to send a special thank you out to Royal Towing who donated funds to our department to purchase the car wash supplies used to hold our car wash."

The public can help with relief efforts through monetary donations that can be made at SalvationArmy.ca/albertafires or by calling 1-800-SAL-ARMY.

A $10 donation can be made by texting FORTMAC to 45678.

Torch Run has raised millions for Special Olympics across the country

ment Torch Run in Canada was held in 1987 and generated $100,000 in funds with the participation of Law Enforcement personnel from Southern Ontario.

Nationally, the run has become an annual event in ten provinces and the Northwest Territories. In Ontario alone, in excess of $26 million has been raised, establishing it as one of the most profitable torch run relationships in the world.

The success and support of the Law Enforcement Torch Run over the years has been phenomenal.

Since the torch began its partnership with Special Olympics Ontario, the number of registered athletes has grown from under 4,000 to greater than 18,000 athletes today.

As a result, SOO can essentially look into the future with security and recognize that it is possible to continue to expand its services to the increasing number of athletes.

You can donate by making a general donation to the Law Enforcement Torch Run for Special Olympics with either a one-time payment, or providing ongoing support through a monthly gift.

Locally, the Royal Bank of Canada (RBC) has been a tremendous support of the Torch Run.

"We have been long sup-

Andrea Whitten, Royal Bank's Manager Client Care, and Constable Paul Neumann speak to the Shelburne Free Press regarding the upcoming Law Enforcement Torch Run, which will be taking place Wednesday, June 1, at 10.30 a.m. The starting point is located at Fiddle Park and the race will end at John's No Frills, both located on 2nd Line. For more information on this event, contact Constable Paul Neumann at pneumann@shelburnepolice.com.

porters of the local Law Enforcement Torch Run and are sponsoring $1000 this year and did last year as well," says Andrea Whitten, Royal Bank's Manager Client Care, speaking to the Shelburne Free Press.

Witten goes on to tell us "As well as monetary sponorship we have employees from our branch participating in the run. As well, staff volunteers will be on hand to supply water to the runners mid-route and also volunteering at the celebration BBQ being held at John's No Frills at the end of the run."
