4th Annual 'Hearts Wide Open for Autism' fundraiser rakes in more than $13,000

Written By MARNI WALSH

The 4th "Hearts Wide Open for Autism" fundraiser was a great success again this April, with the organization raising $13,015 at their annual Dinner and Murder Mystery Evening.

The theme this year was Murder on the High Seas, and the funds raised bring the overall grand total to over $37,500 in just four years.

Ticket holders were treated to a delicious chicken dinner at the beautiful Shelburne Golf and Country Club, while being entertained by the antics of Murder for Hire players out of Kitchener.

The mystery revolved around a pirate ship which collides with a cruise ship - complete with a Captain and his Cruise Director, who must deal with Pirate Pugwart and his parrot.

"This annual event would not be possible without our many sponsors, silent auction donators, families and friends," says the founder of the organization, Shelburne's Deanna Avison. "Thank you to Westjet for their generous donation of 'The Gift of Flight,' and all those who made donations, including a very special thank you to Shelburne Branch 220 of the Royal Canadian Legion for the $500 donation, as well as Clorox Canada which also donated $500."

Appreciation also goes out from Ms. Avison to additional sponsors, "This would not be possible without your support," she says.

Those businesses she would like to recognize include: GP Carpentry, Shelburne Transporter, iPro Real, Rawlco Services, The Mullin Group Royal LePage, Blackies Storage, Lennox Farms, Main Street Family Denta, M & M Food Market, Scott Reinhart Trailer, Auto Centre Dufferin, Bill McLare, TD Canada Trust Shelburne, John Widde, John's No Frill, Vivid Hair Studio - Nelly Pont, Trisha Linton Cares TL, Dr. Brian Ferguson Chiropratic, Zehr's Orangeville, Shelburne Family Chiropratic, McBride Automotiv, Stutz, Brown and Self, Trainer Games Shelburne and Margorie Grime

The winner of the Westjet 'Gift of Flight', presented on April 6 was Peter Reynolds of Orangeville.

"A very special thank you is extended to Megan Young, Shelburne Golf and Country Club; DJ Mastermix - Michael Roberts; the Murder For Hire Troupe; Sherri-Lyn Ferguson; Nelly Ponte; Beatrice Reed; Brenda Haines; Cindy McKenna; 101.5 myfm Orangeville; Country 105 Shelburne; and all those who helped sell Westjet tickets," says Ms. Avison.

Deanna Avison, who was inspired to begin the event to help children, such as her twin grandchildren, who have autism, says, "We will be back again next year - Saturday, April 4th, 2020. Thank you for opening your hearts to children with autism."

MPP Jones says Ontario's 2019 Budget includes "big takeaway" for all residents

Written By MIKE BAKER

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones is standing behind the Progressive Conservative government's pledge to balance Ontario's budget by 2023/2024.

In presenting the first provincial budget of the Doug Ford era, Ontario's Finance Minister Vic Fedeli revealed something of a surprising document last Thursday (April 11), with very little in the way of drastic cuts that has, at times, defined previous PC governments.

Instead, Mr. Fedeli announced the 2019 Ontario Budget is "all about putting people first", while laying out a definitive plan towards balancing the provincial books over the next five years. To date, Ontario's deficit stands at an eye watering $11.7 billion.

"We are restoring fiscal balance, making Ontario open for business and open for jobs, while we're protecting what matters most - our health care, education and other critical public services," Mr. Fedeli told media last week. "These are the commitments that we have made to the people of Ontario."

While there are several key takeaways from this year's document, some of which will be highlighted below, Ms. Jones was keen to press home the point that the 2019 Budget includes no new taxes for residents or businesses when talking to the Citizen this week.

"Frankly, the budget, if we look at it in an overall view regardless of age, whether you are working or looking after children, we have made a commitment as a government to make sure there are no additional taxes this year," Ms. Jones said. "I think that's a big takeaway for everyone."

This was a first for Ms. Jones who, after spending years serving as a member of the official opposition, was involved in her first budget as a representative of the sitting government. She pointed towards increases to childcare tax credits for low-income households, pending changes to the car insurance industry and the introduction of a new dental care program for seniors as three areas she's particularly pleased about.

The new Ontario Childcare Access and Relief from Expenses (CARE) tax credit is based on a sliding scale for families earning up to $150,000 per year. Low income households will benefit the most, Ms. Jones said, with families earning less than $20,000 per year eligible to receive up to $6,000 per child under the age of seven from the province. Families will receive up to $3,750 per child between the ages of seven and 16, and up to $8,250 for a child with a severe disability.

On average, the CARE tax credit will provide approximately $1,250 per family to around 300,000 households in Ontario. The credit is expected to cost the provincial government in the region of $390 million per year.

The announcement of the CARE tax credit follows hot on the heels of the PC government's pledge to spend $1 billion over the next five years to create 30,000 new child care spaces across Ontario.

Ms. Jones states the PC government wants to lower costs for motorists by encouraging insurers to provide "more options" to drivers in Ontario.

"We're promoting more consumer choice. That will increase the competition and ensure that the money we're spending when someone is an accident is actually going towards rehabilitation and health care services instead of lawyers fighting each other," Ms. Jones said.

Statistics show that Ontarians pay amongst the highest auto insurance premiums in Canada, with drivers in the GTA hit the hardest. While details regarding proposed changes are scarce at present time, Mr. Fedeli indicated the general idea is to provide drivers with an opportunity to build a more customized insurance plan that caters to their needs.

Included is the implementation of a new 'driver care card', which will serve as a debit-style card for people making insurance claims. In what is a first in Canada, the cards would, following an accident, be loaded with money that individuals could use towards paying for various services, including rehabilitation and physical therapy.

Another important facet, says Ms. Jones, is the introduction of a new dental coverage initiative for low-income seniors across Ontario. The new program will offer complete coverage to individual seniors making less than $19,300 and couples making less than $32,300. The program is slated to begin this summer.

"The issue of seniors accessing dental care is something that will make a real difference in lives of our low income seniors who are still engaged and participating in the community, but, frankly, are struggling to make sure their personal health care is looked after," Ms. Jones said. "I was pleased to see this program introduced."

In total, the PC government is projected to spend $163.4 billion in 2019. Health care spending accounts for a significant portion of that, coming in at $65.3 billion this year. Included in that total is an additional investment of $384 million in hospitals and $267 million in home and community care in 2019. The PCs also plan to invest $3.8 billion for mental health, addictions and housing supports over the next ten years.

Also included is a plan to make home ownership and renting more affordable for Ontarians by helping to increase the supply of housing through a new Housing Supply Action Plan.

"The housing supply concept, or challenge if you prefer, is something that hits many ministries. The Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing is taking a lead on how we can make sure we have more supply available for people just entering the market, or seniors who want to downsize or change the model they have," Ms. Jones said. "There are lots of conversations going on and, while I can't give specifics at this time, when we make our announcement, this won't be just one chance. This will be a series of initiatives down the road that will make it easier for people to enter the market."

While the budget isn't nearly as painful as some expected it to be, there are still several areas for concern for local residents. NDP leader Andrea Horwath condemned the $1 billion in cuts announced to the Ministry of Children, Community and Social Services, with others criticizing the government for a 15 percent decrease to the Indigenous Affairs portfolio.

Ms. Jones noted a significant portion of those cuts, particularly to the children and community and social services sector, can be attributed to "ministry collaboration".

"Transforming how we provide services to our most vulnerable is a priority for (Minister Lisa MacLeod), and the fact we are able to do so many of the programs (under that portfolio) cross ministry," Ms. Jones said. "As an example, in my own ministry as Solicitor General, we actively work and engage with projects and initiatives with the Attorney General on probation, parole and bail issues. It impacts both of our budgets, but makes the service better for all."

There will also be drastic changes coming to the way people can buy and consume alcohol in Ontario moving forward. The Ford government is proposing that tailgating at sporting events become a legal practice, opening up bars and restaurants to sell alcohol starting at 9 a.m., and even permitting public consumption of alcohol in public areas, specifically parks.

That practice will only be permitted here in Dufferin-Caledon if our local municipalities embrace and endorse it, Ms. Jones says.

"One of the things that used to really frustrate me as a member of the opposition was when the government of the day would make changes without having municipality buy-in or support," Ms. Jones said. "We will only be introducing this in municipalities that want it. The opportunity for alcohol to be consumed in public places would, and must, come hand in hand with a municipal bylaw stating that is something they want in their community."

Ms. Jones held meetings with local constituents on Friday to discuss parts of the budget. Those discussions, she says, went fairly well, with many questioning our local MPP on education, health care and the overall deficit.

"When governments are faced with the kinds of debt and deficit we were left with, we have two options. One is to make very drastic changes to the services we provide, or put in place policies and legislation that will build a bigger economic pie," Ms. Jones said. "Some of our detractors would say 'why aren't we getting rid of the deficit faster', but it comes back to the fact we still have a responsibility to fund the services Ontarians need and expect."

'Primrose for the Planet' tackling Drawdown EcoChallenge

Written By MARNI WALSH

Drawdown EcoChallenge is a 21-day engagement program focused on carbon reduction, presented by EcoChallenge.org. The challenge explores solutions by Project Drawdown, a comprehensive plan to reverse global warming.

"Since the EcoChallenge started on April 3, team 'Primrose for the Planet' has acquired 33 very active members and accumulated 4,576 points, earning a current ranking of 29 out of 956 teams participating worldwide, and is recognized as the second top team in Canada," says the Primrose Captain, Jennifer Payne.

"The challenge goes until April 24, and encourages participants to select and complete actions that progress the top ranked solutions to global warming, as assessed by Project Drawdown. Actions have varying difficulty levels and fall under eight different categories," Ms. Payne says.

She added, "There's something for everyone to do, regardless of where you're starting from, where your passion lies, or how ambitious you are."

According to Drawdown, the project was founded by author, entrepreneur, and environmentalist Paul Hawken. Mr. Hawken is an expert in sustainability and the study of changing the relationship between business and the environment. His organization gathered researchers from around the world to identify and model the 100 most substantive, existing solutions to address climate change.

Drawdown is defined as the point in time when the concentration of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere begins to decline on a year-to-year basis. The organization says their purpose is to provide a variety of tools to individuals and organizations interested in stopping global warming and reversing climate change.

Ms. Payne, who played a leading role in the development of the very successful "Farm to School Program" in Dufferin County, says Drawdown EcoChallenge participants are "setting out to prove that everyday actions can make a big impact." Team 'Primrose for the Planet' is one of three currently participating in the Headwaters' region. The other two recognized teams are Team Headwaters and EcoCaledon.

"The challenge runs from April 3 to April 24 and is a fun and easy way to make a difference for our community and the planet," says Jennifer Payne. "Check out drawdown.ecochallenge.org and join a team."

Health system shakeup yields 'new era of collaboration' says Headwaters Health CEO

Written By JAMES MATTHEWS

Dufferin County has gotten behind local health service providers in their efforts to work toward an Ontario Health team that will reflect the region's needs.

Stacey Daub, President and CEO at Headwaters Health Care Centre, updated Dufferin County council during its meeting April 11 about how the province's centralized Ontario Health agency, to be established next year, will impact health service delivery in the area.

Health Minister Christine Elliott announced in February that health care administration would be consolidated with the creation of a super agency to be called Ontario Health. As many as 22 provincial agencies, including the 14 Local Health Integration Networks (LHINs), will be folded into Ontario Health.

Ms. Daub said Bill 74, The People's Health Care Act, will bring about the biggest change in more than 50 years to health care delivery in Ontario.

"No previous government in the years that I can remember has put forth such substantive reform propositions," she said. "And we expect that agency (Ontario Health) to progress very quickly. The hope is that will streamline and really align the direction of the health service agencies across the province."

The provincial ministry's hope is to advance locally-driven and developed systems of health care toward four goals: Improving health outcomes and population health in a community; improving the patient experience in the system; improving the care provider's experience; and to maximize value and efficiency within the system.

"What we have in Dufferin is very different to what you have in downtown Toronto, to what you have in Wawa," Ms. Daub said. "So there is a real local element to the delivery of health care. The intent is to get local leaders to work together."

The province hopes to have Health Ontario up and running by next year. Locally, Ms. Daub said many Dufferin County leaders have gotten together with an eye toward figuring how to best ferry the health care community into those changes.

REFLECTING ON BILL 74: Headwaters Health Care Centre President and CEO Stacey Daub says the coming changes to health care delivery across Ontario are 'substantial'.

"It is an opportunity for us to partner together to build a locally-developed and locally-delivered health care system," she said.

The new Health Ontario also marks the devolution of the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care, she said.

"They expect about 80 percent of the ministry itself will be devolved into this agency with the intent to getting the ministry back to perhaps its rightful place in doing policy and strategy," she said, "and not getting into the business of mucking around with health organizations across the province."

The second part of the legislation's reform initiatives may be disruptive to Ontario's health delivery. But, Ms. Daub said, they're not new to other parts of the world.

"Most other jurisdictions around the globe have moved to more integrated health care delivery systems," she said. "In Ontario, we still have a very siloed system."

She added, "(And) sometimes the system can be quite challenging to make your way through because there are separate organizations who are supporting patients and citizens."

MAKING A DIFFERENCE: Artwork by local student Charlotte Payne has become the profile picture for the Drawdown EcoChallenge team "Primrose for the Planet." It depicts the Earth with a large crack in it, held in human hands, with the desperate caption "Help". Her mother, the captain of the Primrose Eco Challenge team says, "We can't ignore the urgency of taking action on climate change. Even if you already consider yourself to be 'living green,' this is a great way for us all to challenge ourselves to do better."

NOTICE OF STEP-DOWN

Developer Driven Class Environmental Assessment for Improvements to Highway 10/89 in the Town of Shelburne

Preliminary Design and Class Environmental Assessment Study

The Project
Shelburne 89 Developments Ltd. (Shelburne Developments) retained Dillon Consulting Limited (Dillon) to complete the Preliminary Design and Class Environmental Assessment (EA) for the following improvements to Highway 10/89 in the Town of Shelburne, Dufferin County, Ontario:

- New Highway 10/89 intersection, approximately 300 meters east of the Highway 10/89 and County Road 11/County Road 124 intersection
- Improvements to Highway 10/89 to accommodate the new intersection, such as a raised median and widenings to accommodate left turn lanes.

The original scope of work for the project included improvements to the Highway 10/89/County Road 11/County Road 124 intersection. However, as a result of consultation with the Town of Shelburne and impacted stakeholders, it was determined that these improvements will be completed as a separate project in the future, as warrants for need are met through additional development in the Town of Shelburne.

Construction of the new Highway 10/89 intersection and improvements to Highway 10/89 are anticipated to occur in summer 2019, subject to approvals.

The Process
The project was initiated as a Group "B" undertaking following the Ministry of Transportation, Ontario (MTO) Class Environmental Assessment (EA) for Provincial Transportation Facilities (2000). Based on the revised scope of work and information collected during the study, the project team has determined there are no significant environmental impacts associated with the project. Therefore, this project is eligible to be stepped down from a Group 'B' to a Group 'C' project and an Environmental Screening Document will be completed for internal use.

Public and Agency Consultation
Following the publication of this Notice of Step-Down, a 30 day review period will commence where affected parties can request that the project continues to be assessed under a Group 'B' process. If no requests are received by May 21, 2019, then the project will be stepped down to a Group 'C' project. Please contact one of the team members listed below if you object to the step-down to a Group 'C' project, have specific questions or comments or would like to request a meeting with the project team regarding the study. # Vic Thapar hoping to lead Liberals into fall federal election

Written By JOSHUA SANTOS

Vic Thapar is seeking the Dufferin-Caledon Liberal Party nomination in the fall federal election.

“Our issues and concerns are not being raised in Ottawa by our long-time federal representator (MP David Tilson),” said Mr. Thapar. “He has not focused on Dufferin-Caledon.”

Thapar previously ran, unsuccessfully, during the Orangeville municipal election, where he received 1,490 votes. He said, during that time, residents discussed concerns about all levels of government.

“They don’t see you running for council,” said Mr. Thapar. “They talked about everything.”

Mr. Thapar said he is still in the vetting process to run as a candidate but he had no problem voicing his support for the Liberals Party.

He noted the Liberals are the only party that represents “every person”. He said they care about the quality of life, fairness and make families and healthcare a priority.

“This party represents the middle class and lower-class people,” said Mr. Thapar. “I believe this is the time to make a change and make things happen.”

He did not shy away from discussing the Conservative party, saying they represent the business and high class community.

Mr. Thapar was born in India, where he received his medical degree. He worked as a general physician there, but is not licensed to work in Canada.

He previously worked with the Government of Alberta in their department of employment and immigration.

As a department supervisor for Home Depot in Orangeville, he said he talks to all kinds of people who want to discuss a wide range of issues. He said he always wanted to help people by representing Dufferin-Caledon, properly.

He said residents discussed the idea of mandatory mental health services for all Canadians, enhanced veteran affairs programs and more daycares and help for those fleeing prosecution from other countries.

Mr. Thapar previously worked with Bob Gordanier during his Liberal provincial election campaign. They were up against Progressive Conservatives incumbent Sylvia Jones and Green Party candidate Laura Campbell. Mr. Thapar said it was a good opportunity for him to understand the Liberals Party.

“I knew Bob since, I’ll say about 2013, and I have been in touch with him,” said Mr. Thapar. “When the election came, I was fully dedicated with him. I went door-to-door campaigning and advocating for him.

Mr. Thapar said he would represent Dufferin-Caledon well because he is very outspoken,

“If you bring any concerns to me or any issues you’re facing, I will never be afraid to put them on the table,” said Mr. Thapar. “Whatever the concerns are, how much help I can be, I always bring them to the table so as a whole unit, we can discuss what can be done and what we can do for our people of Dufferin-Caledon.”

A nomination meeting to select the newest candidate for the federal liberals has not been announced by the Dufferin-Caledon Liberal Riding Association. Michele Fisher is the only other individual to officially confirm their candidacy for the Liberal Party.

NDACT calls for action against aggressive aggregate asks

Written By MARNI WALSH

A list of aggressive “asks” by the Ontario Sand Stone and Gravel Association has emerged from the March 29 exclusive Provincial Summit on Aggregate Reform held in Caledon.

The representatives of the aggregate industry met with Progressive Conservative government officials to discuss “removing red tape” for the industry. Despite protests, Stakeholders such as the Federation of Agriculture, Environmental Protection groups, and citizen coalitions, including the North Dufferin Agricultural and Community Taskforce (NDACT,) were shut out of discussions.

Last week, NDACT revealed some of the most concerning of the Aggregate Industry requests:

- Removing the ability of a municipality to set hours of operation for pits and quarries
- Allowing below-the-water table aggregate operations anywhere, including places where they are currently excluded (e.g. oak ridges Moraine national Linkage and Core areas)
- Allowing commercial fill to be brought in as part of the rehabilitation process - without requiring additional approvals or having to abide by current Table One soil requirements
- No requirement for new studies or approvals once a licence is approved when they apply for or amend an operational permit
- Removing the Niagara Escarpment’s role in approving pits and quarries
- Removing the requirement for appeals under an aggregate permit to be heard at Local Planning Appeal Tribunals (LPAT) and create a special tribunal specifically for the industry

• Proclaim permit by rule allowing routine approvals to be automatic upon submission

- Permit aggregate extraction within endangered and threatened species habitats
- Expropriation of municipal road allowances to permit access to aggregate.

After years of fighting to protect the Headwaters against a massive open pit mine in Melancton, and working to institute protective measures in the Aggregate Resources Act and the Provincial Policy Statement, battle weary residents are voicing disappointment, but not defeat.

“Between the bickering heralding the October federal election and playing whack-a-mole with the Ontario government’s social and environmental “reforms”, it is hard to stay positive,” says Food and Water First Executive Director Donna Baylis. “However, this is not the time to lose heart. We need to be as determined as ever, persevering to hold our ground. We are the guardians of the legislation untold numbers of people have enacted for us and our children, to make our society better. We can’t allow one moment of exuberance to be self-destructive.”

NDACT Chair, Karren Wallace warns, “Governments don’t take a lot of stock in form letters and on-line petitions, so please send your individual comments by May 1, 2019 to aggregatereform@ontario.ca. If the only comment you submit is the importance of the agriculture sector to the Ontario economy, so be it. This government seems to understand money.”

CDDHS hosts senior district badminton championship

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

Teams from six regional high schools arrived at Centre Dufferin District High School on Thursday, April 11, for the District 4 senior badminton championships.

The top two teams from each category in the competition will go on to compete at CWOSSA.

Students competed in single boys, single girls, girls doubles, boys doubles, and mixed doubles categories.

"We have around 60 teams here today," explained tournament coordinator, Amanda Storey. "This is the tournament to go on to CWOSSA and then to OFSAA. They do a round robin, then the quarter-finals, semi-finals, and finals will be a best two-out-of-three. There's 12 to 14 players on each team from the different schools."

Unlike most school sports, badminton doesn't have a dedicated regular season schedule. Teams and individuals practice among themselves and arrange exhibition games if they can, to get ready for the one day competition.

"It's tough," said CDDHS Royals singles player Ben Callegari of the competition. "In past years it's been a bit slighter but this year it's crazy. You've got to work that much harder to get where you want to go. There's some really good players out there."

Ben made it to the final but lost his match to a player from Emmanuel Christian High School.

It was a full day of competition in the gym beginning at 9:00 a.m. and wrapping up around 3:00 p.m. with the final games.

Winning players and teams will go on to compete at the regional CWOSSA event at the University of Waterloo on Thursday, April 18. Winners of the regional competition earn the right to go to the provincial level and compete at OFSAA.

The high school junior badminton competition was held at Westside Secondary School in Orangeville on Tuesday, April 9.

Around 60 teams from six high schools competed in the District tournament with winners earning the right to move on to regional competition at CWOSSA.

Junior C hockey heads into provincial Schmalz Cup final

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

There are only two teams left in the Provincial Junior Hockey League.

After eight months of regular season, League and Conference playoffs, the Napanee Raiders will face the Grimsby Peach Kings in the provincial Junior C Schmalz Cup championship final.

In this region, the Mount Forest Patriots won the Pollock Division championship and went on to play the Alliston Hornets who were the Carruthers Division champions.

The battle for the North Conference championship ended with a win for the Hornets in a series that went six games.

That placed the Hornets against the Napanee Raiders in the semi-final of the Schmalz Cup playoffs.

The Hornets hit a wall when they went up against Napanee, losing the series in a four game sweep that ended on Friday (April 12) in Alliston.

"All the teams know how to win, they've all just won a championship, they're all good teams," said Alliston head coach Travis Chapman after the final loss. "We learned in the Mount Forest series you can't nights off and you can't take time in the game off because the other teams are really good. For us as an organization you start looking at how you play and how you might have to change what you're doing as you move forward. I think anytime you get this far you have to learn what works and what doesn't work. You learn a lot about yourself as an individual and as an organization."

The Napanee Raiders will now face the Grimsby Peach Kings in the final series battle for the provincial Cup.

The Peach King won the South Conference final over the Wellsely Applejacks in a series that went six games.

They went on to win their semi-final over the Exeter Hawks in a series that also went six games.

That series ended on Saturday, April 13, on Grimsby home ice with 4-3 Grimsby win.

Centre Dufferin's Co-op Corner

Student: Chloe Hill
Placement: Shelburne Family Dental

This week Chloe Hill from Centre Dufferin District High School shares a little bit about her experience and how Shelburne Family Dental is contributing to our community's future.

Shelburne Family Dental was originally opened in 1970 by Dr. Robert Bond, and was taken over by Dr. Dino DiSanto in 2000 and new patients are always welcome. This office provides dental care to the community such as crowns, fillings, extractions, root canals and cleaning appointments. They make molds for whitening trays and mouth guards, as well as orthodontics for all ages. The wonderful caring staff here includes 3 Dental Hygienists (Sherry, Jenn and Melanie), 3 Dental Assistants (Cathy, Janna and Sarah), 3 Office Administrators (Jutta, Amanda and Jennifer), and 1 Sterilization Assistant (Jill).

Within Shelburne Family Dental I work for the most part alongside a Dental Hygienist, and in the future I hope to do some work with the Dental Assistants as well. My tasks/duties in this office include taking apart and wiping down used rooms, setting up clean rooms, placing dirty instruments in the Ultrasonic machine, rinsing and drying off instruments, and finally packaging and sterilizing instruments. I pull and file patient charts, and also book and bill hygiene appointments. I have had the opportunity to assist the Hygienists with probing, as well as to pour up models and make whitening trays. Some tasks/duties I hope to be introduced to during my placement time are assisting the Dentist with basic fillings and routine extractions. Special equipment which I use at this office include a vacuum forming machine, a model air bubble remover, sterilizers, model trimmer and a dremel tool.

One of the other jobs brought to my attention while working in this office is a Restorative Hygienist who places fillings. I have also learned that becoming a Dental Assistant can lead you in different directions such as working with Public Health, or as a Sales Representative for a dental company. Other intriguing jobs include Laboratory Technicians and Office Administrators/Receptionists.

Beneficial involvement my placement has with the community is contributing to fundraisers, funding a Science Award at CDDHS and also giving donations to teams. As well, Hygienists in this office have gone in to local primary school classrooms to teach kids about good oral hygiene and how to properly brush their teeth.

NDACT calls for action against aggregate asks

"In 2011, 28,000 people showed up to Foodstock," says Wallace. "The following year 40,000 people showed up to Soupstock - all in the name of shutting down the mega quarry. What is being proposed here for the aggregate industry would seem to make another proposal for a mega quarry a walk in the park."

"We need our 68,000 voices to ring out again and show this government, and future governments, our rare and valuable Class 1 farmland is not for sale," stresses the NDACT Chair. "Agriculture is already open for business. In fact, in 2017, Ontario's family farm and food processing businesses contributed $39 billion to Ontario's economy and employed over 820,000 Ontarians. Agriculture and agri-food processors are the number one economic contributor to Ontario's overall economy. (Source: Ontario Federation of Agriculture)."

"Stay strong," says Donna Baylis. "Know that your opinion counts. Let the government hear your voice protecting our future, even if it is just one paragraph. It may seem a drop in the ocean "yet what is any ocean, but a multitude of drops?" ## Christian Perspectives: The joy surrounding Easter time

Spring is here and as everything is coming back to life. Let us remember what Good Friday really means to us and celebrate Christ's resurrection.

May we enjoy this Easter by taking time to reflect on the power of the Cross and keep our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of faith, who for the joy set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and now sits at the right hand of the throne of God (Hebrews 12:2).

Jesus, who had no sin, took our place on the cross in love and paid the penalty for sin. Satan, who is the author of sin, causes eternal death in Hell to anyone who does not live in Christ. Jesus suffered death for us so that by His grace, meaning by the work of the cross, there is no reason for anyone to taste the death of being separated from God (Hebrews 2:9). Jesus' heart was completely focused on the joy of knowing that we would be His since He tasted death on the cross for everyone.

Jesus was fully man and fully God and He was the sacrifice. If we lean on our own understanding in our sinful fallen state, without being born again by the Spirit of God, we are not able to comprehend what the Scriptures tell us about this week of Passion. It is only by the power of the blood of Jesus that the wages of sin can be removed from one's life. One must believe in the finished work of the cross. The prophet Isaiah writes that Jesus experienced all of life's sorrows such as pain, rejection, oppression, judgement, grief, scorn, bullying, temptation by Satan, hunger, hatred, punishment by God, and yet He never allowed one word of complaint to come out of His mouth. He was pierced for our transgressions and bruised for our iniquities so that we could be at peace with God. It is by His wounds that we are healed and restored.

It was God's will for Jesus to go through this suffering because His life was the offering for our sin. His endurance of the agonizing pain, suffering, and humiliation of being a condemned man by Caiaphas, the high priest, and the religious leaders and then by the Roman governor, Pilate, was all part of God's plan. The soldiers brutally beat, scourged and mocked Him beyond recognition. Satan hated Him and did everything in his power to kill Him, but no man was permitted to take Jesus' life. It was the will and plan of God for Jesus to lay down His life for everyone. Jesus said in John 10:18, "I give no man consent to take my life, but I lay it down of my own accord. I have the authority to lay it down and authority to take it up again. This is the command of my Father."

The soldiers made a crown of thorns for His head and covered Him with a purple robe, bullying Him and slapping Him in the face, saying over and over again, "Hail, King of the Jews." When Jesus was brought to Pilate again, the chief priests cried out, "Crucify Him, for He has claimed to be the Son of God and Caesar is our only king." Pilate then ordered Jesus to be crucified by his soldiers.

Jesus was forced to carry His cross to the site of the crucifixion which is called Golgotha. His hands were nailed to the crossbar with nails that were five to six inches in length and His ankles were nailed to the beam that was probably already positioned low into the ground. They had removed the purple robe, so He hung naked on the cross where passersby could add to the agony by mocking Him. His death on the cross fulfilled the punishment of our sin. Jesus said, "It is finished." Praise the Lord! Death had no power to keep Him in the grave for He is the resurrection and life. He is waiting for all of us to come to Him.

Jesus' obedience to His Heavenly Father and His love for us caused Him to obtain joy so that he could endure the suffering death on the cross. Instead of the joy one would experience of not being crucified, Jesus willingly did all of this to obtain joy! So, let us remember that joy comes when we are obedient. Joy motivates us to walk with God in wholehearted obedience. The joy of the Lord is our strength and salvation. Happy Easter!
