'Mending Hearts' a moving musical memorial put on by CDDHS students

Written By MARNI WALSH

Last Friday (Nov. 8) Central Dufferin District High School (CDDHS) students honoured Canada's military men and women with a musical memorial.

"Mending Hearts" highlighted the valiant efforts of the fighting and the fallen, with music performed by the school band as commemorative photos ran on a screen behind them. The music, selected by music teacher and conductor, Andrea Parsons, emphasized the sacrifices made for freedom.

Nov. 8 was a national day to mark Indigenous contributions to Canada's war efforts. In the spirit of reconciliation, CDDHS Vice Principal, Adam Rowden told the audience that "students had prepared a program to bring light to the contributions made by Canada's Indigenous communities."

According to Veterans Affairs Canada, 12,000 Indigenous soldiers fought in both the First and Second World War, as well as the Korean War. Despite their noted skill and valour, indigenous soldiers did not receive the same assistance as other soldiers under the War Veterans Allowance Act. Many indigenous veterans - having been absent from the reserve for military duty - found they no longer had Indian status, nor right to benefits available to non-Aboriginal veterans due to Indian Act restrictions.

Student speakers emphasised the theme saying, "In Canada, we are working on healing the wounds of generations of inequality and discrimination placed upon First Nations peoples by the government of Canada as a whole. Even with this adversarial past, when the call sounded for Canadians to sign up for war, members of the First Nations, Metis and Inuit communities answered."

"It's important that we covered, this theme this year, especially during treaty week," said Andrea Parsons. "It was important to the students - they wanted to recognize all the people who served and gave their lives for Canada."

She added, "The students are always eager to get on board with new ideas, and play unique music that represents everyone."

She also noted her gratitude for the staff who participated in the band to help guide the student musicians.

The band's first piece, The Drums of the Saamis by Samuel R. Hazo, was a stunning and moving composition featuring percussion and flutes. As conductor, Andrea Parsons, told the Free Press that Paul Ormandy, a professor at York University, had been working with six of the percussion students over the last month. Their impressive performance was testament to all they had achieved together.

New college fair format a 'great success' for CDDHS

Written By MARNI WALSH

Between 250 and 300 Centre Dufferin District High School students attended a College Fair on Nov. 13.

Held in the school cafeteria between 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m., students from Grades 11 and 12, as well as Careers course students, and parents, were welcomed to visit with a variety of colleges that were set up in stations throughout the auditorium.

The College Fair was held in the style of an open house, where eager students, filling the room, were able stop by a variety of booths and ask questions about possible post-secondary program choices, the campuses, and available student residence facilities. Interested students could also pickup Viewbooks from the different presenting colleges.

The same students were invited to a University Fair the previous week, in which 15 of Ontario's 21 universities, as well as the Canadian Armed Forces, presented information on their programs and all that they could offer the students as their post-secondary institution of choice.

"This is the first year for the new format,"

CDDHS Guidance Counsellor Susan Trowel told the Free Press. "Previously, colleges and universities scheduled individual visits, and students signed up for the sessions of interest to them."

She added, "The invitation to represent went out to all Ontario colleges last spring."

Although, some colleges had previous engagements, and a few scheduled to present were unable to attend due to the weather, Ms. Trowel says, "the representatives we had in attendance did a fantastic job of hosting."

Eight of the 12 colleges originally scheduled to attend the CDDHS College Fair on Nov. 12, which did present, included: Humber College, Georgian College, Northern College, Fleming College, Niagara College, Conestoga College, Sheridan College, and Fanshawe College.

As Guidance Counsellor, Susan Trowel says, "In response to our new format, the feedback from the colleges and universities has been that this was a success and they were very impressed with our students and the quality of their questions. We are hoping to continue using this format next year."

Early 2020 budget projections call for 5.5 percent tax increase

Written By PETER RICHARDSON

Shelburne Treasurer Carey Holmes tabled the draft 2020 Budget for Council consideration on Monday, and it didn't make for positive reading.

The Budget document held few surprises and does not hold a lot of good news for residents who perhaps were hoping for any form of tax relief. Next Monday (Nov. 18), will be the special budget meeting, where Council will dissect the work of staff and attempt to fine tune the 2020 Budget. Until then, here is an overview of what to expect in 2020.

Following next weeks of special meetings, a public meeting will be held on Nov. 25. It is expected that Council will pass the budget on Dec. 2.

Operating expenses for 2020 will be a shade under $9.4 million, which will be offset by operating revenues of approximately $1.9 million, leaving a balance of $7.5 million to be made up from taxation.

This will result in a budget framework, 7.54 percent higher than 2019. The Framework, was previously adopted by Council on Oct. 7. A massive 87 percent of the operating expenses is made up from residential taxation. For the average homeowner, of a property assessed at $325,895 dollars, this will mean a tax increase of $10.32 per month, or $123.85 per year, which represents a tax rate increase of 5.5 percent in 2020. This represents only the Town portion of the tax bill. However, the rate will change with the assessed value of a home. For example, a single family dwelling in the Greenbrook subdivision, assessed at $440,000 dollars will see an increase of 8.5 percent, or $268.42 annually.

Looking at salaries and wages by Town Department, the figures break down as follows: bylaw 1 percent; administration 16 percent; Council 3 percent; crossing guards 2 percent; development 5 percent; economic development committee 2 percent; emergency services 46 percent; Town Hall 2 percent; water and sewer 5 percent; and public works 18 percent.

Labour is always the single largest expense in any undertaking. From another viewpoint, here is a breakdown of where your tax dollars are spent. For each dollar, 37 cents goes to police protection, 25 cents is for Public Works Services, 11 cents for General Government and Town Hall, 10 cents for Recreation and Culture, 7 cents in Planning and Development, 5 cents for Fire Protection, 2 cents for Council and Committees and 3 cents for other Protective Services.

In 2020, the following capital projects are factored into the Budget, totalling more than $1.3 million: HVAC upgrades and a generator for Town Hall, a new police cruiser and new equipment for the police department, a new car for the bylaw Officer, paving, debt repayment and remediation for infrastructure and a new mini excavator, to be shared by the Public Works Department and the local cemetery. Fully, 58 percent of these will be funded from municipal reserves, 10 percent from taxation, 5 percent from Water and Sewer Rates, 8 percent from the Gas Tax and 19 percent from Grants.

The Town expects to see an increase in Water and Sewer Revenues of 5 percent and 10 percent respectively. Water and Sewer capital Projects will total just under $3.2 million in 2020, with the single largest expense being the arsenic treatments for Well 3, to the tune of $1.77 million. The Town is hoping that 39 percent of these capital projects will be funded by Grants, however, barring this, further long-term debt will have to be undertaken as these projects are critical to the Town.

Currently, the debt per household in 2020, will total $1.5 million. This represents the present standing of Shelburne's debenture loans, from Infrastructure Ontario. The shortest timeframe to retire a portion of this debt, is six years, or by 2026. There is a limit to how much the Town can logically and morally borrow, without surpassing their ability to repay the amounts. At this time, Shelburne is dangerously close to that limit and there are numerous expense heavy Infrastructure projects that must be undertaken in the next few years.

PAYING THEIR RESPECTS: Conductor and music teacher Andrea Parsons leads the CDDHS school band in a moving memorial service for Canada's military men and women on Nov. 8.

'Mending Hearts' a moving musical memorial put on by CDDHS students

The unmistakable indigenous rhythms of the drums, symbolizing "bridges of peace," filled the auditorium with beats as strong and true as the hearts of First Nations people. Drummer Hailey Hewitt from the Micmac Cree Tribe and coach, Paul Ormandy were featured along with flute soloists Katie Waters and Laura Wagstaff.

The 75th anniversary of the Second World War Italian campaign, in which 93,000 Canadians, along with their allies, played a vital role, was also a focus of the memorial. Students from CDDHS travelled to Italy last year to visit the battlefields of World War II - to learn and to remember.

This section of the memorial included a short film; a poem entitled "PTSD," written by student Sara Pluta and read by grade 12 student Nick Ho; and the band's second composition entitled "Remember," an Irish ballad, featuring musicians Ella Hawkins, Eden Lloyd, Annie Cameron and Aiden Hunt. Inspired by the folk melodies of Ireland, the students reflected on the ballad, and the composer's dedication to "all our close friends and loved ones who have left this world, we remember."

Shelburne Police educating public during Ontario's Crime Prevention Week

This week is Ontario's annual Crime Prevention Week, as promoted by the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police.

This year Shelburne Police is taking an approach on educating some public groups to help prevent crime.

Over the past two weeks officers from Shelburne Police conducted 9 presentations at Centre Dufferin District High School to students. Two important and current topics in relation to youth were covered: Sexting and the New Cannabis Laws. Further Shelburne Police attended all Shelburne financial institutions and had discussions about fraud prevention with their staff.

The sexting presentation warned students of the dangers of taking intimate photos of themselves and sending them to friends or boyfriends / girlfriends. With modern technology taking and distributing photos on a smart phone is easier than ever. This modern practice has significant problems attached to it. First of all, these digital photos sent through the internet, whether directly or through social media sites, can come back and haunt the subject in the future. Once a photo is sent – the sender no longer has control of that photo and it can quickly be distributed beyond the intended recipients, and can resurface years later. Further, anyone in possession of an intimate photo of a person under the age of 18 could be considered in possession of child pornography – a very serious criminal offence. Also, anyone who distributes an intimate photo of a person under the age of 18 could be considered as distributing child pornography – an even more serious criminal offence. The goal of this presentation was to make our youth think more carefully before they take and share intimate photos of themselves, and prevent any issues for them or the people they share the photos with.

The New Cannabis Laws presentation focused on how the legalization of marijuana affects youth. The presentation provided a background of the new legislation and why the rules for youth differ for those 19 years and older. The officers explained that although marijuana is now legal in certain circumstances, the penalties for breaking the laws in regards to cannabis have increased; especially for youth. Essentially anyone under the age of 19 cannot cultivate, harvest, possess, consume, be under the influence of, purchase, attempt to purchase, or distribute any form of cannabis; not anywhere or at any time.

Finally, a Shelburne Police officer attended each financial institution in town and discussed current fraud types that police services in the area have recently investigated, and that at some level involved a financial institution. A two way dialogue was used to discuss how indicators of some of these crimes may be noticed at the banking level, and how the institutions and the Shelburne Police Service can better communicate any suspicious information to help prevent these frauds from being carried through, and potentially be more easily solved through earlier intervention.

"Crime prevention is a key responsibility of police services in Ontario. Educating our community members, being engaged with our community, together with an obvious police presence at our institutions, residential areas, commercial areas and public areas are some of the most effective ways police can prevent or divert crimes from happening in the first place. At Shelburne Police we pride ourselves in making community engagement and involvement a priority in our everyday approach to policing", states Sgt Paul Neumann.

Man arrested for stealing poppy donations

Orangeville Police Service has arrested an Orangeville man in connection with an ongoing illicit drug investigation in the community.

On Monday, October 28, 2019, at approximately 9:35 p.m. a male attended the Tim Hortons restaurant at 92 First Street. When staff members were out of sight he removed the donation container from the Royal Canadian Legion poppy donation box that was located on the counter. At approximately 1:00 a.m. on October 29th, the same male attended the Circle K Convenience Store located at 75 First Street and attempted to remove the donation container from another poppy box on the stores checkout counter. A store employee observed the male attempting to steal the container causing the male to flee the store with only a piece of cardboard from the display. At approximately 3:30 p.m. the same afternoon (October 29th), the male attempted to steal approximately $70.00 worth of items from Zehrs Markets at 50 Fourth Avenue. The male was arrested by Zehrs loss prevention officers but escaped their custody while being escorted back into the store. In all incidents the suspect was captured on security video cameras and the footage was turned over to police.

On Thursday, October 31st, Orangeville Police officers observed the suspect walking on Bythia Street. The suspect was arrested and taken into custody.

Andre Baluse, 21, of Orangeville, was charged with three counts of Theft Under $5000, Escape Lawful Custody and Possession of Cocaine. The accused man was released from custody and is scheduled to appear in court in Orangeville on December 3rd, 2019, to answer to the allegations.

Local Collaborative completes site visit over OHT application

Written By MIKE BAKER

It would appear that the Hills of Headwaters Collaborative is on the cusp of receiving an Ontario Health Team designation.

Back in October, the Citizen released two extensive stories highlighting exactly what such a designation would mean for services in the local community. In this third and final part, we caught up with some on-the-ground community members, including local doctors and a volunteer patient advisor, for their thoughts and feedback on the potential move.

Bob Borden has been a patient family advisor with the Dufferin Area Family Health Team for a number of years. He has been a part of the Hills of Headwaters Collaborative since the very beginning, bringing a vital patient-first voice to the table.

"I have always been interested in doing things that are going to help with health care in our community," Mr. Borden stated, when asked why he joined the Collaborative. "For me, the most impressive thing about the group we have here in Dufferin County and Caledon is there really is no pecking order. Everybody's voice in that room, at that table, is equal, no matter your background, no matter who you represent, and no matter where you come from. As a volunteer patient advisor, I have been a fully active, voting member alongside doctors, administrators, frontline workers."

It's that togetherness and eagerness to work seamlessly together that has set the Hills of Headwaters Collaborative apart from most other applicants in the OHT process. One common theme prevalent in every single discussion this reporter has had with individuals involved in the process is the sense that the figureheads, and organizations involved in the application truly are pulling together in the same direction for the betterment of the people they serve.

Dr. Amy Catania has been a spoke on the wheel of the health care system in Dufferin County for approximately 14 years. While she started out as a staff member at Headwaters Health Care Centre, where she now holds the position of Chief of Family Practice, Dr. Catania has spent the past seven years as an expert generalist physician, based in Shelburne. When rumours started to emerge earlier this year that the Headwaters region was in with a real shot of earning OHT status, Dr. Catania sprung into action.

"The vision of an OHT makes practical sense," stated Dr. Catania, who played a pivotal role in a local palliative care working group that has since become a major priority for the Hills of Headwaters Collaborative. "There is a lot of redundancy in the health care system, and it is siloed in so many ways. Having one team, with one vision working toward the same priorities, would help align our local organizations and providers."

She added, "When we are all one team, we will be able to seamlessly support a patient and their journey."

While there are many unknowns involved in this process, largely due to the fact this is a brand new venture, that in itself offers something of an opportunity to the Headwaters-based Collaborative to, potentially, act as a provincial leader in how to go about setting up an effective OHT.

Offering his insight into the potential benefits an OHT would bring to the community, Bolton-based physician Dr. Michael Gagnon sees this move as an opportunity for the health care sector to evolve into a better version of itself.

"The concept itself really just seems to be to provide more efficient care to our patients. It's really about establishing better communication and having appropriate services in place at the appropriate time," Dr. Gagnon stated. "At the same time, we should attempt to define or change services that are redundant, or ineffective."

Elaborating more on how the OHT model could improve services for patients, Dr. Gagnon stated the goal is to make navigating the complicated health care system in Ontario much simpler for those who require specific services.

"We all know how difficult it can be to figure out who to call and when at any given time when you are unwell. The hope is that these system issues are resolved and that patients will have a clear understanding of whom to call and when. The idea is that anyone on their health care team can be the right person to call, as they will all have access to the information required to provide help and assistance."

Dr. Gagnon has largely been involved with the palliative care table within the Hills of Headwaters Collaborative. As Medical Director at Bethell Hospice, he has been able to provide unique insight into the palliative care world that, he hopes, will help to shape a new and improved service for local residents in the near future.

Elaborating on Dr. Gagnon's point about making the system simpler so as to allow patients to navigate it more easily, Dr. Catania has pitched an idea that should, in theory, eliminate all the chaos and confusion that is prevalent in today's health care sector.

"I would like to see that patients and their caregivers have a team of providers that they can develop a relationship with, who will follow them from hospital, to home, to community. Not only would they feel more supported, they would not have to tell their story repeatedly," Dr. Catania said. "Their care would be supported by the system, and not just themselves and their caregivers. I look forward to a time when there are no ore transitions for patients, or their providers."

Progress with the Headwaters Collaborative's application has been significant. Last week, the local team welcomed a group of provincial representatives for an in-person community visit. It has been noted that this site visit is the final stage in the OHT application process.

In a release distributed to local media, it was revealed that more than 60 people representing frontline staff, patients, primary care physicians, leaders and governors participated in the site visit. Various partners representing the Hills of Headwaters Collaborative provided a presentation on key aspects of the application, as well as painting a picture of the development already seen locally, particularly when it comes to relationships between different service providers.

"Our site visit was another watershed moment for us. We used our time with our assessors to drive home the fact that we are already on the path to a shared model of care," said Kim Delahunt, Interim President and CEO at Headwaters Health Care Centre, and co-chair of the Hills of Headwaters Collaborative. "We have seen enormous commitment from so many across our group. We are ready, willing and able."

In what was something of another milestone for the local Collaborative, an inaugural forum for the various patient, family, caregiver and client advisory committees was held on Oct. 29, bringing individuals from 30 different health and care partners in Dufferin County and Caledon together under one roof.

"That central forum really was a huge thing for us. It brought so many people together in one place, to talk about, in a sense, rebuilding and redesigning the way we approach health care in our region," Mr. Borden said. "We had a really good two hour facilitated discussion, where, at first, we educate these people about what an OHT is, then start to introduce the idea, the shared concept of a centralized health care committee."

Having had the opportunity to discuss the proposed OHT model to patients in the area, Mr. Borden expressed his belief that the public, in general, just want to see a health care system that is easy to understand, simple to access, and, interestingly, willing to listen and potentially learn when it comes to developing care plans for patients.

"One of the things I read recently, and it really resonated with me, is that we are all the CEOs of our body. We know our body the best, because we live with it 24 hours a day, 365 days per year. We know our conditions the best. Therefore, we should be heard very clearly within the medical community. We should be listened to," Mr. Borden noted.

Present during the provincial site visit, Mr. Borden could barely contain himself when asked to rate the Headwaters Collaborative's chances of becoming one of the province's first OHTs.

"If I had any money to put a bet down, I would bet yes," Mr. Borden stated. "The body language and messaging we got, both at the time and through messages shared later in the day amongst staff, I think the officials walked away very impressed."

Left to consider potential first steps as an OHT, Mr. Borden, Dr. Catania and Dr. Gagnon all agreed the local Collaborative was already well on its way to implementing many of the ideas presented that would improve health care delivery in the region. Now, the focus remains for the group to simply carry on down that road.

"We have three priorities right now with palliative care, mental health and addictions and homecare. There are active tables working on those right now. They will simply carry on working on their table," Mr. Borden noted. "It's not a matter of starting anything new, it's a matter of carrying on and getting things in place."

He added, "The main thing that will need to happen is the establishment of a lead organization, figureheads and governors who will put together ground rules for moving forward relative to how an OHT will operate in our area, what it will look like a few years down the line, and how we would go about measuring success of the model. There's lots of exciting things on the horizon."

For Dr. Catania, regardless of whether or not the Headwaters Collaborative is designated as an OHT, she believes the community has already won due to the increased relationships that have been born out of this process thus far.

"We have an opportunity to develop a local system that works for our community needs. Dufferin and Caledon have an advantage given the relationships that have been forged over years of trying to make the system work for our patients," Dr. Catania stated. "Relationships are the most important foundation to the system, and without them change will not be successful. We are lucky to work in a community that already has well developed relationships between our partners."

A final decision from the Province regarding which of the 31 communities currently involved in the OHT application process will be approved, is expected later this fall.

'Vital' municipal well projects approved by Council ahead of 2020 budget

Written By PETER RICHARDSON

Stephen Burnett, the Municipal Engineer, presented Council with an Engineering Update on ongoing projects, which included the Well 3 Arsenic issue, the Water Supply Class EA for Wells 7/8, 5/6, and 1/3, Wastewater Class EA, SCADA, Water Storage and 420 Victoria Street.

With Well 3, the design stage still continues, but when concluded, the design will be submitted for MECP approvals following which a public tender will be offered over the winter, with construction to begin in Spring of 2020 at an estimated cost of between $1.77 million and $2.12 million. The lower amount is expected to be accurate.

In order to meet the new permitted arsenic levels in drinking water, Wells 5 and 6 are currently being blended with Wells 7 and 8 to bring the levels below the 10ug/L limit. Alone, Wells 5 and 6 are in the 15-16 ug/L range. Well 3 is currently producing 11 micrograms(ug) /L. Well three is blended with the distribution system currently, but will be undergoing a treatment system in 2020.

It was determined that the pump sizes in Wells 7 and 8 were inadequate to meet provincial guidelines for pumping both wells simultaneously, and would need to be updated to 40HP from the existing 30HP, in order to maintain the required flow rate for blending with Wells 5 and 6.

The report also pointed out that Well 1 has been taken out of service for reduced flow and would need to be rehabilitated. Well 3 is also losing flow rate and it was recommended to also be rehabilitated. Should this not be successful, new wells would be required at both sites.

The report also showed, that the existing wastewater system does not have the capacity to accommodate future demands. Research into a solution is ongoing and pending MECP approvals. In addition, upgrades are required to the Town's SCADA system and a second water storage facility is required by the MECP.

Mr. Burnett requested that Council approve the upgrading of Wells 7 and 8, as well as the rehabilitation and testing of Wells 1 and 3, at a total cost of $380,000, plus non recoverable HST. After some discussion, Council approved the request.

Contaminated ground

The grounds at 420 Victoria, which has been a Works Yard since the 60's, were found to be heavily contaminated. Originally estimated at $75,000 dollars, the costs of the remediation escalated to some $236,642 as more issues were encountered that were mandated to be corrected.

The intention, was to be able to surplus the land and sell it, once decontaminated. CAO Denyse Morrissey presented her report Monday night, indicating three options for Council.

One was to do minimal remediation and use the land as an equipment storage facility. Two was to fully remediate the land and to list the property as surplus and then sell it, while the third option was to convert the site to a municipal parking lot. Options one and three, incurred additional costs of $10,000 dollars annually, to monitor the soil conditions, in perpetuity. Although the second option came in at a cost of just over $500,000, it did offer the best value for money, as it would allow the Town to sell the property and recoup some to all of its investment.

It was suggested that the entire cost could be borne by the capital reserves, and that all proceeds from the sale then be allocated back to the reserve. After some discussion and a motion to have the Town foot the cost of rezoning the land and participating in its sale and redevelopment, Council decided to accept option two and to discuss the proposed motion at a later Council meeting.

Fieldgate subdivision

In other business, Fieldgate Homes was given approval of its Draft Plan for the subdivision at Hwy 89 and CR 124, adjacent to the Tim Hortons.

Council approved a total of 250 homes for wastewater treatment servicing, pending future upgrading, as the development unfolded. The issues of foot traffic and school busing were also addressed as was the preservation of the protected lands north of the development boundaries. Fieldgate is now cleared to apply for a site plan approval, once all the drawings and details are submitted to Council.

Fire Captain Andy Kennedy says, "Fundraising by our Firefighters Association will hopefully result in a SaveStation being installed in the Violet Hill area in the near future as well." SaveStations empower people to save lives by promoting wide-spread public access and understanding of life-saving defibrillators. An event on November 3rd at the Orange Hall in Rosemont gave guests an opportunity to practice using the defibrillator. "As a Firefighters Association, we are proud to be putting these lifesaving devices in our community and hope that we are setting an example for others to follow," says Andy Kennedy. ## Centre Dufferin Royals junior girls capture coveted District 4 championship

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

As far as championships go, the District 4 junior girls final basketball game between the Centre Dufferin District High School Royals and the Erin District High School Raiders turned out to be what an exciting final between two top teams should be.

It was a tight and close game that came down to the final minute of play as the two teams matched each other basket for basket for the entire four quarters.

The Royals came to the final game as the number one seed and a 7 - 1 record for the season.

They knocked out Wellington Heights Secondary School in the semi-final to earn the right to go to the District championship.

Erin was the number two team in the standings with a 7 - 1 record. They dispatched Westside Secondary School in their semi-final game.

The championship game was played out in the gym at Centre Dufferin on Monday, November 11.

At the end of the half the game was tied 11 - 11.

When the buzzer sounded to end the third quarter, the Raiders had a one point 16 - 15 lead.

The final quarter turned into a battle to see who could get the edge and take the win.

With two minutes left on the clock, Carly McLean, hit two baskets on foul shots to give the Royals a one point lead.

With 1:30 left on the clock, Royals' Taylor Pate was fouled and hit the shot to put the CDDHS team ahead by two.

The Royals left the court with a 25 - 23 win and the District title.

"At first we were really stressed out, but then our coach (Matt Barlow) told us to just calm down and play the game that we loved and that really got our heads in the right place and that pulled us forward," said Royals point guard, Emilie Hill, after the win. "We were communicating with each other. We were moving the ball around and communicating. We tried a couple of different plays. It all came down to us moving the ball."

Teammate, Karly Doolittle, said it was a tough game but the team pulled together to get the win.

"It was pretty tight, pretty stressful, but once we calmed down and on defence started securing the rebounds, that really helped us," Karly said. "Once we calmed down we were able to run through our plays. Once we started playing good 'help' defence, that helped us because they had a couple of girls that could go hard to the net."

The Royals won the game 25 - 23 to claim the District championship. They will now go on to regional competition at CWOSSA.

The Royals will advance to regional competition at CWOSS, in Simcoe on Friday, Nov. 15, and Saturday, Nov. 16.

The team will compete in a round robin style tournament on Friday with winning teams going on to the semi-finals and final game on Saturday.

Wolves Bantam rep trying to get on plus side after loss to Clearview

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

A 3 - 1 loss to the Clearview Canucks on Friday (Nov. 8) night at the Centre Dufferin Recreation Complex leaves the Shelburne Wolves Bantam rep team with a 4 - 5 record for the season.

The first period was scoreless as both teams put up a good defence and kept shots on net to a minimum for the period.

Wolves forward, Tyler Higginson, scored the opening goal in the second period when he took a pass to the front of the net and picked off the corner of the Clearview goal on a shot from the point.

The Canucks tied the game a couple of minutes later then took the lead on a second goal later in the period.

The Wolves put out a good effort in the third period but they couldn't score.

The Canucks notched a third goal with 3:14 left on the clock for a two goal lead.

The final was a 3 - 1 win for Clearview.

"We played really good in the first," said Wolves goalie Zachary Baird after the game. "In the second we played good at the start but I think we got a little cocky and got a little lacks late in the period. In the third we gave it our all. On offence we passed really good and set it up. We crashed the net."

Wolves defenceman, Jack Moylan, said the team played well but slowed down in the second period.

"We played alright in the first but broke down in the second and third," Jack said. "I thought we should have had those guys but we'll get them next time. On defence, we kept the puck away from the front of the net and played the body really well and kept them away."

The Wolves Bantams will be back on the ice for another home game on Monday, Nov. 18, when they will host the Wasaga Beach Stars at the CDRC. Game time is 8:35 p.m.

New PAWS legislation proposed for animal welfare services in Ontario

Written By ALYSSA PARKHILL

The Ontario government is expected to pass the new Provincial Animal Welfare (PAWS) Act legislation within the next month or so.

The Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals announced that they will no longer have enforcement and animal welfare investigations in effect in the spring of next year.

The PAWS Act was introduced by Solicitor General and MPP Sylvia Jones last month. If passed, this new legislation will have the harshest and toughest fines for animal abuse in Canada.

"That's an important message to send to people. We have a responsibility to look after our animals, our pets, and if you choose to abuse them or treat them poorly, then you will be charged and dealt with harshly," explains Jones. "We feel that it is extremely important to make sure our animals are protected."

The bill includes a proposal to hire enforcement officers, who would be recognized as provincial employees and will receive consistent and prominent training to ensure that proper charges are laid, and that the officers know what to look for. That was one key factor that the OSPCA struggled with, was accurate and consistent training. Crown attorneys will also be receiving orderly training to get a higher conviction rate.

"One of the frustrations and challenges that many Ontarians saw, was you would see an example of animal abuse, and charged would be laid, but they'd either be thrown out or not proceed. That was partly because there wasn't consistency in the investigation process," says Jones.

According to the official press release on the Ontario website the PAWS Act would introduce new offences to combat activities, such as dog fighting; give inspectors necessary powers to help animals in distress and to hold owners accountable; give the government the ability to empower others, beyond inspectors, to take action when an animal is in the imminent risk of serious injury or death when a pet is left in a hot car; significantly increase penalties for serious, repeat and corporate offenders; improve oversight and ensure increased transparency and accountability including establishing a one-window complaints mechanism for the public; and help in establishing a multi-disciplinary advisory table made up of a wide range of experts, including veterinarians, agriculture representatives, academics, animal advocates and other to provide ongoing advice to the ministry to improve animal welfare.

She added, "The general reaction so far has been positive, and I hope to continue that. Part of the reason why we took our time to bring forward the legislation, is because we wanted to consult, and we've done that pretty aggressively. Over 1600 members of the public shared their values and interests in the issue, but we also spoke to veterinarians, agriculture producers, humane societies, municipalities, police, because there is so many players who participate and want to have their voices heard. I'm an optimist today and hoping that the other parliamentarians will support and pass it."

Student: Ashley Sharkey
Placement: Carrie Bellan Criminal Law

This week Ashley Sharkey from Centre Dufferin District High School Shares a little bit about her experience and how Carrie Bellan Criminal Law Office is contributing to our community's future.

Carrie Bellan Criminal Law covers many different legal services with the help of Jessica Foote Law in Orangeville. They provide services including criminal defense, civil law defense, and family court. These services are extended outside of Orangeville and include areas such as Brampton, Barrie, Shelburne, Newmarket, Alliston, Caledon and Grand Valley. The group of individuals that work here are super kind, understanding and amazing to work with. Carrie Bellan owns Carrie Bellan Criminal Law, and is also the main Criminal Lawyer. Jessica Foote owns Foote Law and specializes in Family Law. Ryen Ironmonger is the secretary and manages both law offices amazingly. Finally, Anne Somerville works under Jessica assisting on cases.

For my co-op I am a Legal Administrative Assistant, yet a major part of my day is helping Ryen file and keep the office pristine and functional. Daily I file both for Carrie and for Jessica, check the mail, and take phone calls. Some tasks I have done include reading through a huge case through which I learned a lot of new information like what the 'Reid Technique' is. This technique reflects on the way police officers question subjects and analyze their behaviours to decide if it "proves" that they are telling the truth or not. Reading this brought up many questions I had, which Carrie answered with ease.

Other jobs and careers I have become aware of that are associated with my placement include Judges, Court Clerks, Police Officers, Bailiffs, Private Investigators, and Paralegals.
