Council working to lower tax rate increase

Written By Paula Brown
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

Shelburne Council has continued discussions on the town's operating budget for 2022.

On Monday (Dec. 20), Shelburne Town Council held a special meeting to continue budget talks in an effort to lower the suggested tax rate.

A draft budget presented to council earlier in December consisted of a tax levy increase not exceeding 13 per cent resulting in an 8 per cent tax rate increase, including an approximate 1.12 per cent ($100,000) tax levy increase for arts and culture, a 5.09 levy increase related to staffing and utilizing $200,000 from the Town's tax stabilization reserve.

Town Staff have previously noted that the draft budget while "unrealistic" in respect to the suggested increases was critical in showing the financial pressures the Town is facing heading into 2022.

Council throughout the budget process has indicated their intent to lower the suggested tax rate increase of 8 per cent to 5 per cent ($246,800).

After receiving a detailed breakdown of the draft 2022 budget from director of financial services, Carey Holmes, Council began the process of prioritizing items at their Dec. 13 meeting and completed the list of cuts on Monday.

Changes to the budget included:

- Reducing council conferences and education ($6,000)
- Virtual meetings ($8,500)
- Postponing Human Resources position ($63,345 - 10 months)
- IT contract services ($17,537)
- New administration flooring ($16,000)
- Reducing DEI Committee ($5,000)
- Reducing arts and culture ($85,000)
- Skilled and trades hub ($9,000)
- EDC conferences ($2,500)

Holmes said the combined changes to the budge totaled $212,882, leaving an additional $33,938 in cuts needed to reach the 5 per cent tax rate goal.

The Town of Shelburne in the 2021 final budget and 2022 draft budget used a tax stabilization reserve, set up to help offset financially challenging years, to bring down the increase in the tax rate due to the pandemic.

An update to the borrowing amount from the tax stabilization was dropped from $200,000 to just over $143,350 at the Dec. 13 meeting. Council suggested re-increasing the tax stabilization borrowing amount to cover the remaining amount needed.

"I personally wouldn't be opposed to drawing on the tax stabilization reserve for that amount, particularly given the fact that what we're drawing from that reserve based on this draft budget is less than what you had originally anticipated we might need when you present the framework," said Mayor Wade Mills. "If we pull that $34,000 we're still under where you initially thought we would be."

Staff have previously cautioned council about becoming dependant on the tax stabilization reserve. Despite this, Holmes noted that while the amount is budgeted for use it does not necessarily mean at year end the town will have to use it.

A motion was passed by council for staff to return with a final draft with the changes including the additional $177,288 draw on the tax stabilization reserve, resulting in a tax rate increase of 5 per cent.

Shelburne Council is expected to have a public presentation of the final draft operating budget on Jan. 10, with an adoption of the budget scheduled for Jan. 24.

Firefighter's 11th Annual Toy and Food Drive sees great support

Written By Sam Odrowski

The Shelburne & District Firefighters Association has wrapped up their 11th annual Toy and Food Drive fundraiser.

Firefighters from the local fire department braved the cold and snowy weather this past Saturday (Dec. 18) as they collected donations of food and toys through their final event outside of Foodland.

"The community was phenomenal," said Mike Morrell, coordinator for the annual fundraising event and Captain at the Shelburne & District Fire Department. "It all came together very well, and in the end we were able to pull it off to help two organizations."

Speaking with the Free Press, Morrell noted the kindness of both community partners and residents who helped raise the donations over the month long campaign.

"To see that community support to help those that need help, and to be able to give that back, it's an awesome feeling," said Morrell.

Each year the Shelburne and District Fire Department Toy and Food Drive fundraiser collects food donations for the Shelburne

Food Bank, Shepherd's Cupboard, as well as toys and gift cards for Dufferin Children & Family Services (DCAFS).

Jennifer Moore, executive director at DCAFS, said approximately 300 families will be receiving some type of support through the gift cards or toys this year.

"Many families are having to choose between paying rent and buying food, let alone purchasing additional items during the holiday season. These donations, particularly gift cards, greatly assist families in being able to provide for basic needs as well as have their children enjoy the holiday season," said Moore. "We are incredibly grateful to everyone who volunteered their time and to all who donated - you really have made a difference in the well-being of our community."

The donated items specific to DCAFS were picked up by the organization on Dec. 20 to be given to families in time for the holidays.

Food items will be donated to Shepherd's Cupboard in the New Year when the local food bank reopens.

WDG Public Health issues work-from-home order as of Dec. 20

Written By Paula Brown
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

Medical Officer of Health and CEO for Wellington-Dufferin-Guelph (WDG) Public Health, Dr. Nicola Mercer, has issued an order instructing businesses to allow employees to work from home where reasonable.

The notice was announced by WDG Public Health last Thursday (Dec. 16) and went into effect as of Monday (Dec. 20).

"Each person responsible for a business or organization that is open shall ensure that any person who performs work for the business or organization conducts their work remotely, unless the nature of their work requires them to be on-site at the workplace," said Mercer in the release of the order.

Wellington-Dufferin-Guelph Public Health reported the first local case of the Omicron variant on Dec. 10 and has since seen multiple confirmed cases of the variant resulting in schools closing and moving to online learning, and isolation of youth hockey teams.

"With the growing presence of the Omicron variant, now is the time to protect our progress," said Mercer. "As we enter the holiday season with a rising case count, we must take action and utilize proven public health measures such as limiting social interaction to ensure our schools remain open and we limit the strain on our local businesses during one of their most important times of the year."

Although businesses have been instructed to enable remote work for employees, the order does not apply to any government operations or delivery of services. Also exempted from the order is any person, public-funded agency, or organization that delivers or supports government operations and services including those of the health care sector.

For those who can't work remotely, Mercer has suggested limiting the gathering of workers as much as possible by utilizing virtual options for meetings, ensuring physical distancing in break rooms as well as other location where employees may eat or drink. She also recommended staggering lunches and breaks.

The instructions issued by Mercer will be enforced by public health officials and by provincial offences officers.

Failure to comply with the order may lead to penalties including fines, imprisonment, and/or closure of the premise.

While the remote order went into effect on Dec. 20, Mercer noted that she can't provide an end date for the instructions.

"My current expectation, in consultation with the Chief Medical Officer of Health, is that they will be in place over the holiday season," said Mercer. "It is not possible at this time to account for the potential impact of the Omicron variant of concern, about which much is currently being learned. I may amend these instructions (if and as required) and will rescind them as soon I determine they are no longer necessary."

WDG Public Health reported 106 active cases of COVID-19 in Dufferin County, more than half of which are reported in Orangeville, the day the order went into effect.

Notice of a Public Meeting for a Zoning By-law Amendment Regarding On-Farm Diversified Uses in the Township of Melancthon

Council for the Township of Melancthon has initiated a work program to update its zone regulations with respect to on-farm diversified uses. The update will specifically address the definition of and regulations for on-farm diversified uses, which are essentially small businesses which operate in conjunction with an active farm operation.

Interested members of the public are welcome to attend a virtual public meeting with Council to learn more and comment on this initiative. The meeting date is Tuesday, January 25th, 2022 at 6:00 p.m.

If you wish to attend the virtual meeting, the virtual meeting link will be posted to the Planning Notices page of the Township's website - <https://melancthontownship.ca/planning/planning-notices/>. If you do not have the capability to attend a virtual meeting, please provide written comments and a phone number where you can be reached to the Township Clerk prior to the public meeting.

The Township of Melancthon has had zone regulations for on-farm business in place since 2012. On this basis the proposed amendment would serve only to update these existing regulations. The amendment would be applicable to the entire Township and therefore a key map has not been provided. A draft of the amendment as well as some additional background information is available for download from the Township's website.

The purpose of the public meeting is to ensure that sufficient information is made available to enable the public to generally understand the proposed Zoning By-law Amendment. Any person who attends the public meeting shall be afforded an opportunity to make representations to Council in respect of the proposed amendment.

If you wish to be notified of the decision of the Council for the Corporation of the Township of Melancthon in respect to the proposed Zoning By-law Amendment, you must submit a written request (with forwarding addresses) to the Clerk of the Township of Melancthon at 157101 Highway 10, Melancthon, Ontario, L9V 2E6 fax (519) 925-1110

If a person or public body files an appeal of a decision of the Council for the Corporation of the Township of Melancthon, as the approval authority in respect of the proposed Zoning By-law Amendment, but does not make oral submissions at a public meeting or make written submissions to Council before the proposed amendment is approved or refused, the Ontario Land Tribunal may dismiss all or part of the appeal.

Further information regarding the proposed amendment is available to the public on the Township's website or by contacting the Township of Melancthon Municipal Office on Monday to Friday, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Ontario accelerates COVID-19 booster shot rollout

Written By Paula Brown
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Ontario government has accelerated the roll out of COVID-19 booster doses expanding eligibility to anyone 18 years-old and older as the number of cases in the province surges.

The province announced on Dec. 15 that as of Monday (Dec. 20), eligible individuals can schedule their booster appointment through the Ontario booking portal, by calling the Provincial Vaccine Contact Centre, through Indigenous-led vaccination clinics, participating pharmacies, and primary care settings.

"Everyone has a role to play in the next phase of our provincial COVID response. It's all hands on deck and it starts with booster shots," said Premier Doug Ford during the press conference on Dec. 15.

Chief Medical Officer of Health Dr. Kieran Moore previously announced individuals 18 years-old and older would be eligible for a booster shot as of Jan. 4.

The province also announced the shortening of the interval time between the second dose and booster shot from six months down to three months.

"I need you to book your booster as soon as you're able to because we know without a shadow of a doubt that these vaccines work and boosters are the best way to prevent the worst," said Ford.

With the shortening of the interval time, individuals who were eligible prior to the expansion and have already booked their booster shot appointment at the six month interval can contact the Provincial Vaccine Contact Centre to re-book for an earlier date or change the appointment through the Ontario booking portal.

Pharmacies in Dufferin County where appointments for booster shots can be booked include:

- Grand Valley Drug Store (Grand Valley) – Moderna
- Broadway Pharmacy (Orangeville) – Moderna
- Fifth Avenue Pharmacy (Orangeville) – Moderna
- Jeffers Pharmacy Limited (Orangeville) – Pfizer
- Orangeville Pharmacy (Orangeville) – Moderna
- Rexall (Orangeville) – Moderna and Paediatric Pfizer

- Rolling Hills Pharmacy (Orangeville) – Moderna
- 489 Broadway Shoppers Drug Mart (Orangeville) – Pfizer and Paediatric Pfizer
- 150 Broadway Shoppers Drug Mart (Orangeville) – Moderna and Paediatric Pfizer
- 25 Broadway Shoppers Drug Mart (Orangeville) – Pfizer and Paediatric Pfizer
- Sobeys Pharmacy (Orangeville) – Moderna and Paediatric Pfizer
- Wal-Mart Pharmacy (Orangeville) – Moderna and Paediatric Pfizer
- Zehrs Markets (Orangeville) – Pfizer
- Caravaggio IDA Drugs (Shelburne) – Pfizer
- No Frills (Shelburne) – Pfizer
- Shelburne Town Pharmacy (Shelburne) – Moderna

New COVID restrictions in effect

Written By Paula Brown
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

The Ontario government has introduced new restrictions on capacity limits and gathering sizes in the wake of rising cases of COVID-19.

Premier Doug Ford announced the new measures during a press conference last Friday (Dec. 17), which became effective as of Dec. 19. The new measures reduces social gathering limits for indoors from 25 people to 10 and outdoor gatherings reduced from 100 people to 25.

"We need to meet this variant head on. We need to do everything we can to push it back," said Ford on the Dec. 17 press conference.

"It's clear Omicron will not take a holiday," said Chief Medical Officer of Health Kieran Moore, adding that the measures will allow time for the vaccination of booster doses.

With the new restrictions, capacity limits have been reduced to 50 per cent for a number of businesses including:

- Restaurants, bars, strip clubs and other food and drink establishments
- Personal care services
- Gyms and personal physical fitness trainers
- Retailers (including grocery stores and pharmacies)
- Malls
- Indoor recreational amenities
- Indoor clubhouse at outdoor recreational amenities
- Tour and guide services
- Photography studios and services; and

- Marina and boating clubs

Restaurants and bars now have a seating limit of 10 people at a table and are required to close by 11 p.m., with the exception of takeout and delivery which are permitted to run past 11. The sale of alcohol has also been restricted after 10 p.m.

Food and drink services are prohibited at sporting events, concert venues, theatres, cinemas, casinos, bingo halls, and other gaming venues.

Dancing is not allowed except for workers or performers.

The restrictions do not apply to areas of business or place being used for a wedding, a funeral or a religious service, rite, or ceremony.

Ford noted on Dec. 17, that no decision has been made on whether schools will re-open for in-person learning following the end of winter break in January.

"We are simply not in the position to say," said Ford.

However, Dr. Kieran Moore said on Dec. 21 that at Public Health "they don't see a reason" to close Ontario schools.

With Omicron, he said "we're not seeing any significant impact on children's health", noting there are no children in pediatric ICUs in Ontario.

Moore also noted that Omicron's hospitalization rate is 0.15 per cent in Ontario as of Dec. 21, which is significantly lower than the province's general rate of hospitalization for COVID-19.

He added that there are no Omicron admissions that Public Health is aware of in ICUs.

Not a good look

Dr. Kieran Moore, Ontario's Chief Medical Officer of Health made quite the statement last Friday.

He said that someone who's double vaccinated shouldn't visit their elderly triple vaccinated relative's house over the holidays because the risks are too great.

Instead, he advised that they should meet outside, masked up, and socially distanced.

These types of comments don't exactly fill people with confidence that the COVID-19 vaccines are very effective. In fact, it casts doubt.

It's really not a good look.

A healthy person, who doesn't have symptoms and is likely in the 99.85 per cent of Ontarians who aren't currently infected with COVID-19, should be able to assess their own situation and make a rationale decision on the matter, like a grown adult.

With the recent 3,000 to 4,000 daily case counts, one might think everyone has COVID-19.

But when looking at the reality, using Public Health Ontario's COVID-19 Data

Tool, there's been 24,926 new cases of COVID-19 recorded in the last 14 days (average length of infection) out of a population of 14.57 million. This accounts for 0.171 per cent of the total population in Ontario.

Of course, there's likely more cases of COVID-19 then what's being captured by the Province, but it gives you a rough idea. Even if there's three to five times as many people infected, it's still less than one per cent of Ontario's total population.

I'm not saying people should be irresponsible, but they certainly shouldn't live in a constant state of fear. The stress, anxiety, and uncertainty caused by the mainstream media and Public Health is creating one of the worst mental health epidemics in recorded history.

People are afraid of each other like never before.

And much of the hysteria being spread isn't based on fact.

A couple weeks ago I wrote a column on Dr. Kieran Moore's false statements about hospitalizations rising in the 5-11 age group when they were at zero and remained at zero.

Now, many media outlets and the Science Table are acting like the Omicron variant is the black plague and we must again lock down small businesses through capacity limits and refrain from visiting loved ones over the holidays.

It's true the Omicron variant is more transmissible; we can see it in the rate at which COVID-19 cases are climbing. But there's a growing body of evidence that Omicron is no worse than Delta or the original Wuhan strain of COVID-19.

Just look at our own ICU numbers in Ontario.

On December 6, as reported in CBC, there were 168 patients in ICUs across the province being treated for COVID-related illness.

The number as of December 21 is 165, as reported by our Minister of Health Christine Elliot.

That's right.

We now have less people in the ICU then we did over two weeks ago but that won't stop Doug Ford from putting further restrictions on small businesses while he still collects a full pay-cheque.

The rationale for doing the "circuit breaker" lockdown was because the Ontario COVID-19 Science Advisory Table's reading of early data out of Denmark that indicated Omicron is just as severe as previous variants. However, new data from Denmark, just one week later, shows Omicron has proven much milder.

There's also good news locally.

As of Dec. 21, Omicron's hospitalization rate across Ontario sits at 0.15 per cent of all COVID-19 cases, which is significantly lower than the province's general hospitalization rate for the virus.

According to Dr. Moore, there's also no Omicron admissions in the ICUs.

Early reports of it being more transmissible yet milder appear to be true, however more will be known with time.

Let's hope for the best, but not leave it to Public Health to prepare for the worst.

We can't afford any more lockdowns.

Always on my mind Christmas

The Christmas season is here.

It's a time of lights, gifts, seeing those relatives you haven't seen since last Christmas, and maybe most important of all, a time for making memories that will last you a life time.

Most of us have a least one memory of a special Christmas that stands out more than any other.

Maybe that really special Christmas hasn't happened for you yet – this might be the one.

My best Christmas memories come from events that happened around or leading up to the holidays, not necessarily Christmas day itself.

I do remember sitting, rather terrified on Santa Claus' knee, probably in a mall somewhere when I was about five years old, and him asking what I wanted for Christmas.

I nervously said I wanted a G.I. Joe action doll. Yes, miraculously on Christmas morning, there was G.I. Joe, in his green fatigues and army issued cap.

I recall one Christmas when a group of college friends all went to downtown

Toronto for a Christmas lunch together before we parted for the holidays.

When we came out of that restaurant it was just cold enough to snow, and it was. They were huge snowflakes, the kind you rarely see, and there was no wind, it was very calm and still. Those huge flakes fell straight down from the sky turning Younge Street into a giant, but very calm snow globe.

We all stood on a street corner to say out goodbyes as each of us were off to our home towns at various places around the province. The guys shaking hands, the girls hugging everyone.

I don't know why, but the memory of those giant flakes and that group of friends has always stuck with me as a special memory.

There is an old saying, "you can't go home again."

I guess it means, there are times in your life that are special, but you will never recapture that magic in the same way.

It may be a summer at a lakeside cottage, or just a period of time you spent with special friends and had some great experiences. For me, a couple of seasons at summer camp fit that bill.

You may have a great memory of that time, but if you tried to recapture that same feeling in time and space, you just won't be able to recreate the past quite the same way.

Some Christmases are like that.

A few years ago I spent Christmas Eve in Niagara Falls. After dinner I decided to take a cruise through town just to see what was going on.

Even on Christmas Eve that city is busy around the casino area.

It was around 9:30 p.m., when I stopped at a red light next to a local pizza place.

I was surprised to see that not only was it open, there were patrons inside ordering pizza.

One guy was sitting alone in the corner of the restaurant. Two other guys were ordering at the counter.

I guess not everyone celebrates Christmas, but I thought how sad it was, that on Christmas eve this one guy was sitting alone eating a slice of pizza. Was there no one who reached out to him over the holidays?

Country singer Willie Nelson has released a lot of well-known songs over the years.

One song called 'Always on My Mind' – it was actually written by someone else – is about a musician who is on the road a lot. He laments the fact that he is losing his wife because he is away so much, but he tells her she is 'always on my mind.'

Sometimes just thinking about someone isn't enough.

Maybe this Christmas you can make someone's life a little brighter just by making a phone call.

While someone may have been on your mind, if you don't let them know, just thinking about them really doesn't matter – at least to them.

Even better, make the effort to visit them. You might be surprised at how many people will be spending Christmas alone because no one has reached out to them.

I hope you enjoy your holidays and look forward to a happy and prosperous new year.

Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night!

Shelburne driver charged with impaired driving

Members of the Dufferin Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) laid multiple charges over the weekend, including charging two drivers with impaired operation.

On Saturday (Dec. 18), at approximately 7:09 a.m., a Dufferin OPP officer was conducting speed enforcement in the area of Airport Road in the Town of Mono. The officer initiated a traffic stop and was led into an impaired driving investigation.

As a result, Randy CHRISITE, 42-year-old, from Shelburne was charged with:

- Operation with impaired - concentration (80 plus)

Later that day (Dec. 18), at approximately 2:51 p.m., a concerned citizen contacted police to report a possible impaired driver in the Town of Shelburne. Officers located the vehicle on County Road 124 and were led into an impaired driving investigation.

As a result, Katherine WRIGHT, 41-year-old, from Priceville, has been charged with:

- Operation while impaired - alcohol and drugs
- Operation with impaired - concentration (80 plus)

The two accused parties are scheduled to appear before the Ontario Court of Justice in Orangeville in February 2021, to answer to the charges. The charges have not been proven in court. Their driver's licences were suspended for 90 days and their vehicles impounded for a period of 7 days.

"The Dufferin OPP reminds motorists to plan ahead when consuming alcohol or drugs. Use a designated driver, cab, ride-share, public transit or stay overnight. Any amount of alcohol or drugs can impact your ability to make sound judgements," said Dufferin OPP in a press release. "In a split second you could ruin your future, injure or kill others, and tear a hole in the heart of everyone who loves you."

If you have information about suspected unlawful activity, please contact the OPP at 1-888-310-1122 or Crime Stoppers to remain anonymous at 1-800-822-8477 (TIPS) or www.crimestoppersdm.com.

Local author publishes children's book

Written By Sam Odrowski

A one-of-a-kind children's book has recently hit the market, written and illustrated by local author, Constance Scrafield.

Scrafield's recently published book, titled "Katie and Her Dinosaur", takes readers through the scientific journey of a girl named Katie, who, with the help of a talented scientist, clones a prehistoric dinosaur.

Scrafield recently sat down with the Citizen to speak about the book.

"Well, it's quirky and it's very different," she said, about Katie and Her Dinosaur.

"I like to think that it's wonderful to read, that it's really fun to read because it's odd-ball...a piece of unique literature."

The story starts with Katie hearing that Sammy, one of her classmates, has a dad who is a scientist and that he's working on the cloning of a dinosaur, using DNA from bones found in Alberta.

Katie, who loves dinosaurs, says she has to meet Sammy's dad to learn more about the scientific experiment and he is later introduced as Dr. Boggles.

She is taken to Dr. Boggles lab and completely enthralled with it, which Dr. Boggles finds strange at first, but encourages her along the way, in case she ever wants to become a paleontologist.

"The story goes from there," said Scrafield. "First of all, there's a very big excitement about this, how it [the cloning] takes in the petri dish."

Scrafield noted her daughter, Patricia enjoys how Katie is obsessed with science in the book, as girls are usually less interested in STEM education, which is Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math.

"From Patricia's point of view, that's part of the push, but otherwise, it's a whimsical, fanciful story, and it's fun to read," Scrafield enthused.

"The other thing I would say about it is that I don't condescend the children - I don't. Like it's really good for kids up to 10 years old, 10 or so depending on the level of reading."

Dr. Boggles also speaks to Katie as an adult instead of a child, using some words that are more than a couple syllables, so it may be an opportunity to help improve reading skills.

Most of all though, it's just a fun book to read before bed.

The story is 25 pages long, with three chapters, and illustrations sprinkled throughout. It could be read by the chapter or all at once over the course of 30 to 45 minutes.

"You can read it with your mom or dad, big brother, big sister, whoever. It's a good night time story," Scrafield said.

Those looking to buy the book can purchase it directly from Scrafield by sending her an email at celticfair@hotmail.com or visiting Amazon, Barnes and Noble, or Xlibris, which is the company who published the book.

Looking ahead, Scrafield said she's working on a novel, based on a true story, totaling 320 pages, about her travels across Africa with her then husband.

"I drove from London, England to Cape Town, [South Africa] in a Volkswagen Kombi," she recalled. "What makes that fun is it's probably the only Volkswagen Kombi that went across Africa."

Scrafield said everyone else they saw was driving jeeps or trucks, as they handle the terrain there much better.

"We were going across the desert and going through the jungle, going across the Serengeti, in our Volkswagen Kombi. And we still made it because my husband was a genius driver," she noted.

All of the letters, short stories, and documentation from the trip was brought home, back to Canada, but sadly, much of it was lost in a house fire.

"I lost everything, so I had to remember the story, all the things that you written down on it," Scrafield said. "I had told the stories lots of times of those things, I had a pretty clear memory of lots of it, but there was some of it I just [forgot] - it was some time ago."

The novel is written in the third person, which Scrafield says is a very fun writing style to play around with.

Scrafield said there are currently plans to publish the book next year.

Headwaters announces plans in response to Omicron

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Headwaters Health Care Centre president and CEO, Kim Delahunt, has published a public message regarding the local hospital's plans in response to the COVID-19 Omicron variant.

The Dec. 21 letter said the hospital is assembling an incident management structure and is working with leaders inside and outside the facility to ensure safety.

"Our immediate priority is ensuring access to vaccinations for our staff, physicians and inpatients," wrote Delahunt.

"We are also working with our partners to extend our vaccination efforts to our community and we hope to share more detail with you soon."

With COVID-19 cases surging across the province and region the hospital has seen an increase demand for testing at the COVID-19 Assessment Centre, and Delahunt said they are working on expanding service including additional human resources to provide support.

Headwaters has also begun planning for additional capacity in the hospital in an event the region experiences a surge in demand for care.

Expanded hours of operation at the COVID-19 Assessment Centre are expected to be shared later this week.

As part of their plan in response to the Omicron variant, HHCC has increased their infection prevention protocols.

On Monday (Dec. 20) the local hospital announced more restrictive visitation including not allowing designated care partners to accompany outpatients except in special circumstances, not permitting designated care partners in the emergency department, and permitting one designated care partner in circumstances of end of life; life altering or critical illness; in active labour; pediatric care; mental health crisis.

The hospital has made COVID-19 vaccinations mandatory for designated care partners. "As we head into what we anticipate being a challenging winter we urge you to remain vigilant in adhering to all public health guidelines, get vaccinated once your turn becomes available, and keep virtually connected to loved ones who may be isolated," said Delahunt.

As of Dec. 22, Wellington-Dufferin-Guelph has a reported 560 active cases of COVID-19, 119 of which are in Dufferin County.

Teen Scene

We have some exciting changes coming to Teen programming in 2022! Starting in January, our Children's Librarian, Brittany, is going to take over Teen programming—she has lots of wonderful ideas and wants to hear from Teens, too! Jade has enjoyed her time immensely making connections with the Teens of our community through programs and talking about YA books. While Jade will always be happy to chat YA books (and still wants you to pop in and say hi), she's taking on some new responsibilities here at SPL!

Children's Programming

'Tis the season for warm and cozy books! Stock up on your festive reads now, and look forward to many evenings snuggled up with a good book.

For Tweens and Teens, the registration for our new Tween & Teen program "Booking it" will open. This completely new program will have a featured novel with weekly activities based on themes occurring in the story, and video instructions to accompany each activity on YouTube. Each participant will have a copy of this novel to take home and read at their leisure. Everyone will be provided with a customized bookmark each week that includes thought-provoking questions and an opportunity to express themselves creatively (with doodles!) What better way to start off the New Year than with a new program!

Oh what fun it is to BUILD a one horse open sleigh! As always, we are posting weekly LEGO challenges on our Facebook and Instagram accounts. Questions about programming, pictures of LEGO challenges and craft creations can all be sent to children@shelburnelibrary.ca.

New Books

We have so many new books, so come in before the holidays and choose some great reads!

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF SHELBURNE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

UNDER SECTION 53 OF THE PLANNING ACT

Take notice that the Committee of Adjustment of the Corporation of the Town of Shelburne will hold a public meeting on:

MONDAY, JANUARY 10, 2021

The public meeting is scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m., or as shortly thereafter as possible, and will be held in an online virtual meeting format, as outlined below. The purpose of the meeting is to consider the following planning application(s):

COMMITTEE OF ADJUSTMENT

- Application for Consent B21/05 – Jeff Hamilton has submitted an application for consent for a property located at 220 Owen Sound Street. The subject property is legally described as Lot 6, Block 5, Plan 5A. The property has an existing total area of approximately 831.19 square metres with 15.17 metres of frontage on Owen Sound Street and 55.80 metres of flankage on Second Avenue West. The purpose and effect of the application is to sever a portion of the property to have a land area of 307.88 square metres and 19.81 metres of frontage on Second Avenue West to create a new residential lot for a future semi-detached dwelling. The retained land will have an area of 545.51 square metres and is used for an existing converted dwelling with three (3) dwelling units. The applicant has also submitted an application to further sever the subject land so that each unit of the proposed semi-detached dwelling will be on a separate lot (B21/06).
- Application for Consent B21/06 – Jeff Hamilton has submitted a related application for consent for the property located at 220 Owen Sound Street, to further sever the proposed lot (B21/05) so that each unit of the proposed semi-detached dwelling will be on a separate lot. The proposed severed land and retained land would be equal in size, each having an area of 150.5 square metres and 9.9 metres of frontage on Second Avenue West and each is proposed to be used for one of the semi-detached units.

A map showing the location of the subject property is provided below.

Further to the COVID-19 Pandemic and the Provincial Orders that limit public gatherings, the Committee of Adjustment meeting will be held electronically through Zoom video conferencing and will be livestreamed. To participate in the meeting electronically through Zoom video conferencing, please contact the Secretary-Treasurer at jwilloughby@shelburne.ca to register in order to have access to the public meeting, no later than January 6, 2021. Should you wish to view the proceedings, you will have the opportunity to view a live stream of the meeting on the Town of Shelburne's YouTube channel:

Loss at home, win on the road caps Muskies weekend

Written By Brian Lockhart

The Shelburne Muskies played their final games for 2021, and split the weekend with a loss on home ice and a win on the road.

The Muskies played a rare Friday night home game on December 17, when they hosted the Durham Thundercats at the Centre Dufferin Recreation Complex.

The Thundercats arrived in Shelburne as a fourth place team with an 8-6 record meaning it was going to be a pretty even match with the Muskies banking on a 7-9 record to start the game.

The Muskies got behind by two goals and couldn't make up the difference.

At the end of the night they had to settle for a 4-2 loss to the visitors.

The following night (Sat. Dec. 18) the Muskies travelled to Ripley to take on the first place Wolves.

This night, the Muskies put on their 'A' game and brought everything they had to the ice.

At the end of the first period, it was 0-0 as neither team was able to bury the puck.

The Muskies managed to take control in the second period and were leading 2-1 when the buzzer sounded to end the frame.

Keeping up the pressure in the third period, the Muskies poured it on and scored one more while executing a solid defence that kept Ripley from scoring.

The final was a 3-1 win for the Muskies.

PREPARING FOR SHOT: The Shelburne Senior Muskies host the Durham Thundercats at the Centre Dufferin Recreation Complex on Friday, December 17. The Muskies took a 4-2 loss in this game but redeemed themselves the following night with a 3-1 win on the road against the Ripley Wolves.

Shelburne's goals came from Luke Richardson and a pair from Blake Lovell.

After the Ripley game, the Muskies have an 8-9 record and 16 points so far for the season. That leaves them in the number seven spot in the WAAA Senior League standings in a line-up of 13 teams.

The Ripley Wolves remain in first place with a 10-3 record including one overtime loss and 21 points.

They are followed by the Seaforth Cen-tenaries, the Saugeen Shores Winterhawks, and the Durham Thundercats.

The Muskies will get a break for the holidays.

Their next scheduled game is for Friday, January 7, when they will be in Shallow Lake to take on the Crushers.

Their next home game is slated for Saturday, January 15, when they will host the Milverton 4 Wheel Drives.

Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Senior girls basketball captures District 4 title

Written By Brian Lockhart

The Centre Dufferin District High School senior girls basketball team have captured the District 4 championship with a win on home court on Monday, December 13.

The team had an outstanding performance this year, going undefeated in the regular season schedule before heading into the playoffs.

Over the regular season the team scored 186 over five games while allowing only 66 points against.

This placed them at the top of the District 4 standings.

The teams made the most of this year's shortened tournament style format. The season consisted of five regular season games with the top four progressing to the semi-finals.

The playoff games all took place in the gym at Centre Dufferin on December 13.

In the semi-final, Centre Dufferin was up against the fourth seed Wellington Heights Secondary School.

That game ended with a 38-28 win for CDDHS.

The other semi-final pitted Westside Secondary School in Orangeville against Erin District High School. Westside won that game 34-19 to earn the right to advance to the final.

The final game got underway at 2:30 p.m. with Centre Dufferin and Westside battling for the District title.

The Centre Dufferin team played a strong game and left the court with a 40-20 win to claim the championship.

remely well together as a team," said coach Matt Barlow. "There was never the same high scorer in any of the games making it hard for other teams to predict who to key in on. What really set them apart, however, was their ability to play defense. The girls relished the opportunity to make it hard on other teams to score and this is what ultimately lead them to the district championship. Their coaches, Mr. Barlow and Mr. Trainor feel extremely lucky to have had the opportunity [to] coach this group. They are very respectful, highly committed, and a 'team first' group of kids."

The last time the Centre Dufferin senior team won the District title was back in 2010.
