END OF AN ERA: Bob Kim and his wife, Louise are retiring after 39 years of running Town Milk and Variety in Shelburne. They would like to offer their appreciation to the community for supporting them over the years.

Convenience store owner retires after 39 years of business in Shelburne

Written By Paula Brown
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

For almost four decades, Bob Kim has been there for the convenience of the community with his corner-store, a staple place to buy anything you needed from snacks, to lottery tickets, to newspapers and magazines.

Now, after 39 years in business, the owner of Town Milk and Variety has decided to officially retire, turning the local convenience store over to new owners.

Kim and his wife, Louise, originally took over ownership of Town Milk and Variety in 1983 from Kim's brother-in-law. At the time Kim was running a store in downtown Toronto, but said they were looking to move to a quiet place with more open space.

"My brother-in-law, he kindly gave up the spot so I took over from there," said Kim.

Over the years, Kim took on other ventures with the convenience store including video rentals, until it eventually became what it is today.

The couple's plan was originally to retire and sell the business in 2021, but they chose to push it another year – just shy of what would be the businesses 40th anniversary.

"It's been a long time, we've talked about it over the years and it just clicked," said Kim.

A staple in the community for the better part of four decades, Kim when asked about the best memories he's experienced over the years immediately recalls the youth in the Shelburne community.

"Some of the kids from school they'd hang around and it's kind of a meeting place sometimes," said Kim. "We see people grow up – my kids, neighbours, customers – they go off to school and come back and they're successful, and I see the progress which is nice."

Now that they've retired, the Kim's are already making plans for what they'll do with their free time, including travelling.

"We really want to do a trip to a few different countries we've never been to. My daughter lives in the States so I'm going to visit and we've never travelled in Canada so we're going to do that too. Just activities that we want to enjoy," said Louise, Kim's wife.

Kim said he hopes to visit his home country of South Korea.

After working in the community for 39 years with Town Milk and Variety and having now been retired for a couple of weeks, the Kim's both admit they miss their customers.

"Everyone morning I look and see my customers and friends, but I don't see them now so it's kind of weird," said Kim.

He and Louise also add their appreciation to the community for supporting them over the years.

"Thank you to the community for visiting our store and making business without them we cannot succeed so I really thank the community," said Louise.

Dufferin Golden Egg Hunt returning to Shelburne

Written By Constance Scrafield

This is the second year for the Dufferin Golden Egg Hunt, created and sponsored by Claire Knight and Dave Crowe, owners of GoWithCrowe real estate. The Golden Egg Hunt is running from April 11 to 18.

Ms. Knight explained, "The idea spawned from everyone being inside, something fun. Also, to drive people back to shopping local; get people back into the habit of going into local stores and restaurants since they've been shopping online for so long."

In order to make it all happen they partnered with several local businesses to get involved with the Golden Egg Hunt.

The idea has one thing in common with the normal notion of an Easter Egg hunt and another that is different: bring your children to find a Golden Egg but there is only one Egg per family as there are a total of 250 Eggs. Each of them has a collection of treats inside, donated by several businesses, to share among a family of children making each Egg a present for everyone.

"Even now there is still much uncertainty about what is and is not running again this year. No one is too sure, so we wanted to offer a game that can happen," she told the Free Press. "We wanted to do it again this year and we've added an Easter Bunny who will be going around visiting the participating businesses."

In addition to the businesses, they partnered with the townships of Mulmur, Melancthon and Shelburne.

She added, "Each Golden Egg has a ticket too, for a draw which will be made live on Easter Monday at 7:00 p.m. All the tickets have a multitude of different prizes donated from a lot of businesses throughout Dufferin County. The draw will be shown live on social media @gowithcrowe and #gowithcrowe."

For people who miss seeing the live draw, they can check on Instagram for their ticket number, itemized with the prizes.

There are basically five locations where the Eggs can be found. Super Burger in Mulmur, Market in the Mills in Hornings Mills, Maple Grove Farm Market in Mulmur, Jelly Craft Bakery in Shelburne, Dufferin Public House (Duffy's) Restaurant in the old church and Shelburne Family Chiropractor.

"They have the Eggs," Ms. Knight told the Free Press. "Just go and some of them are having an egg hunt. Every place is different but they are set up for children of no specific age. Each Egg has some really cool stuff in them, Parachute Guys, bunnies and tattoos. Multiple things for multiple children."

What instigated this idea, so Mr. Crowe told us, "We were driving along talking about how the community needed something to give it a spark. We came up with the idea of doing something."

Originally, they considered going to hide the Eggs in the parks but because of Covid, they logistically could not do it.

"We're very focused on 'shop local'," Ms. Knight said. "I used to own a retail store."

As promotion for the Gold Egg hunt, there are 10,000 postcards going to homes.

There are many fine reasons for Ms. Knight and Mr. Crowe to have begun this delightful idea: to support local businesses and get people outside who have been largely inside over the course of the pandemic.

For those who have been doing online shopping, they are now encourage to shop locally. They can pick up their Egg at one of the locations and the winners of the draw will go into the store to pick their prize and get it from the retailer.

"I think we've had a lot of Egg-citement," Mr. Crowe joked. "People have been asking if we're doing it again this year. They can get a second draw ticket for the draw if they take a photo of their Golden Egg and post it on social media."

It is important that each family respects taking only one Egg per family to allow more families to enjoy the hunt.

Ms. Knight and Mr. Crowe and their family put the eggs and things together: "Our kids think it's great - they might think we're a little crazy. I've been living in and around Shelburne my whole life and I care about the community," said Mr. Crowe. "It's important to have things like to keep that to keep up spirit and positivity. We want to continue to do this every year."

NDACT shares tips for homeowners being impacted by proposed pit in Honeywood

NDACT presented a proposal for a 'better way' to the community on January 15th 2022, and the community overwhelmingly agreed with the approach.

Since then, NDACT has been working very hard evolving the proposal elements and is now working in good faith with Strada to negotiate the finer points of an agreement.

A community group working with the applicant is unheard of and if this approach reaches a final signed agreement, it could well be the model that all aggregate operations will employ. NDACT said it's nice to be on the leading edge of change.

Section 12 (e) of the Aggregate Resources Act states that an applicant must show if there are any possible effects on ground and surface water resources including private wells and natural water features.

Strada notified NDACT and property owners they will be conducting these studies over the next couple of years and would be seeking permission to access the properties of landowners within a kilometer of their proposed quarry site. They also held a ZOOM meeting for these landowners on March 10, 2022.

As a property owner you should be aware that you do not have to give consent to Strada to access your land, however the wider the study area is the better for not only Strada, but the landowners.

NDACT would recommend landowners wait to provide access to their property until NDACT and Strada have signed an agreement. The benefit to landowners would be a clearer understanding of the Wells and Natural Features program being developed, including the extent of the study area and access to the remediation fund should someone's well/natural feature be impacted in the future.

If you were in the 1 kilometre range and did not receive a notice from Strada in the mail about the studies or the ZOOM meeting please contact info@ndact.com.

Council provides input on County's Draft Land Needs Analysis

Written By Peter Richardson
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

A Special Council Meeting was held in Shelburne on Monday (March 21), which started with Mayor Wade Mills declaring March 21 as World Down Syndrome Day.

Council then went into closed session to discuss confidential matters related to the Town.

Next, Council heard a report from the Town planner, Steve Wever, concerning the County of Dufferin Municipal Comprehensive Review (MCR) - Land Needs Assessment.

This assessment, concerns the Official Plan of the County and bringing it into conformity with the Provincial Growth Plan for the Greater Golden Horseshoe as required by the Places to Grow Act and the Planning Act.

Part of the MCR is a Land Needs Assessment to determine if there are sufficient opportunities to accommodate forecasted growth up until 2051.

To this end, the County has requested all municipalities to supply their input, via five questions from the County, by March 31, 2022.

The County forecasts a growth to 18,328 persons by 2051 for the town of Shelburne. This figure is potentially in line with Shelburne's plan for a growth to 15,000 persons by 2041. A total of 3,054 new dwellings will be required to accommodate the growth by 2051.

Currently, Shelburne has an intensification target of 38 per cent. This represents the percentage of new residential units within the existing built-up area of the Town in the form of infilling, redevelopment of existing buildings, under-used land and additional residential units within existing homes. To meet the County's target of 40 per cent to 2051, Shelburne's target would need to increase to 48 per cent. This would require, 1,466 new residential units.

The estimated capacity within the built-up area is only 513 leaving a shortage of 953 units. This would mean increased residential densities and building heights within the built-up area to reach 48 per cent.

This also means that 1,588 residential units would be needed in the Designated Greenfield Area (DGA), which is the residential area not in the core of Shelburne's built up area.

Again, this is a problem, as only 398 units are available, creating a shortfall of 1,190 units.

The County forecasts 3,380 new jobs to the year 2051, many of which will be commercial or institutional jobs. They predict only 492 industrial jobs, with a present capacity of 709 jobs. Leading the County to conclude that no new industrial lands are required.

The existing commercial and institutional land will only accommodate 1,560 jobs of the forecast 1,945, leaving a shortage of 385 jobs.

They County recommends the Town increase employment densities and ensure that future residential settlement expansions consider commercial institutional needs.

The County's 5 questions for the MCR Land Needs Assessment (LNA) are:

1. How do the projections outlined in the LNA meet with your vision of the community over the next 10, 20, and 30 years?

The essence of the question is whether or not the community would like to exceed growth projections or are they too aggressive.

The town planner, Mr. Wever acknowledged that the population projections are in line with those of the Town, but that it is unclear if and how the additional forecast to 2051 could be accommodated on remaining land within the current municipal boundary.

Without an expansion, Shelburne would have to plan for significantly higher density development and more intensification than previously planned.

He also feels it is unclear how the draft 48 per cent intensification target could be reasonably achieved, or how it would affect the character of Shelburne.

It would mean a much more urban Downtown Core than previously planned and would require a bypass for the heavy truck traffic now present in the core.

Mr. Wever also feels that the proposed 65 people and jobs per hectare by the County for the Shelburne West area could be achieved.

2. Are servicing expansions planned that would ensure continued uninterrupted growth?

Although Environmental Assessments are in the works for water and waste water infrastructure, improvements are expected to be required to accommodate forecast growth to 2041. The additional forecast to 2051 will require future updates.

These needs could affect the pace and timing of developments.

3. Are there constraints (or opportunities) to land development or servicing that should be additionally considered?

Again, Mr Wever pointed out the lack of a bypass to elevate the truck traffic through the downtown core, which affects the viability of mixed-use pedestrian-oriented development at a higher density.

Also, transportation options in the community and regional connections to higher order transit are lacking.

(4) What efforts has your Municipality taken, (or plans to take) that would increase the speed at which development can take place (i.e. zoning to permit more as-of-right development)?

The Town has initialized standardized development agreements, instituted Development Charges cost sharing and credit agreements, as well as adopted a community improvement plan in 2019.

There are servicing studies and annual allocation reviews. There is the Shelburne West Secondary Plan, a Parks and Recreation Master Plan and a Transportation Master Plan.

(5) For Municipalities where the LNA outlines a need for an expansion to settlement boundaries, can you outline the specific geography where you would like to see those expansions take place (or would be best suited)?

This answer was simple for the Town – Shelburne West Urban Expansion Areas (the only remaining land within the town boundaries).

Having heard this report and being in agreement with it, Council voted to accept it and to forward it to the County as well as any other municipalities requesting it.

This concluded the Special Council Meeting and it was adjourned.

The mother of invention

If 'necessity is the mother of invention,' then maybe innovation is the child of invention.

Or something like that. It has long been considered that most, if not all, inventions have been thought of, created, and produced, based on a need for that product or tool.

Somewhere, at some time, someone realized if they had a tool or device to make a job easier, that they knew someone else would buy and use, then they could create that tool to make life easier.

Although, many modern inventions have a tendency to stray from 'need' to 'would like to have' for no other particular reason.

Movies weren't really created for a need. They were created for entertainment. Someone figured out if you took a series of photographs and flashed them at 24 frames-per-second, it would give the illusion of movement and live action. Pretty smart.

Video games are another example of something you may want, but don't need. No one really needs a video game and playing Minecraft won't make your life any easier. It was the innovative process derived from the invention electronics that makes it possible for you to sink a battleship with a cruise missile or pilot a 747 on your computer from the comfort of your easy chair.

That's pretty clever – and a lot of people have made a lot of money designing games for no other reason than someone will buy them for their entertainment value.

Necessity has of course, spawned most of the great inventions in society.

"If only there was a way..." must have been a thought in the minds of a lot of people over the eons.

Someone figured out you catch more fish with a net, than you do dangling a single worm from a hook.

Someone figured out that attaching a sail to a boat, will propel you through the water a lot easier than hanging over the side with a paddle.

And someone realized that if you took tiny little kernels of wheat, ground them down, added water, and baked, you could make bread and feed your family.

The curious thing is not all societies figured out all the answers on their own – except for maybe one.

There are societies that had advanced writing systems and mathematics, yet never figured out the wheel.

In some places, the people came up with some very good solutions to raise crops and feed their people, and yet the concept of metals was non-existent.

There is one concept that seems to be almost universal and even the most primitive societies managed to figure it out – the bow and arrow.

From North America to Europe, Africa, Asia, South America, and even isolated island communities, they all managed to figure it out. There is an island off the coast of India that is so remote and hostile, they have absolutely no connection with the outside world. Yet they have been seen firing arrows at passing aircraft or anyone who comes near their island.

Many inventions have been shared between different societies. If one group came up with a new idea, sooner or later a visitor from a nearby region would see it and take the idea home with them.

And yet the bow and arrow was created in places where there was no shared information.

The weapon is incredibly complicated when you think about it.

First someone has to come up with the idea of propelling a pointed shaft at a target. An arrow head must be designed to slice through whatever you are shooting at. A bow must be designed to have the right amount of curve, flexibility, and spring, to shoot the arrow with force.

And someone had to put enough thought into the project to realize that attaching a stabilizer to the rear of the shaft, in the form of feathers or something similar, will help guide the arrow through the air in a straight line.

I've done quite a bit of research trying to find out how a society that never invented the wheel, or never came up with the concept of a written language or mathematics, still managed to figure out that aerodynamics needed to send an arrow through the air in a stable fashion – and did it independently with no outside influence.

There seems to be no answer to that. I guess if you really need something, someone will figure it out.

Ukraine: lessons for Taiwan, lessons for China

GWYNNE DYER
OUR WORLD TODAY

Almost a month in, China is still being extremely coy about its attitude towards the Russian invasion of Ukraine. The regime is acutely aware that there are many parallels between the Russian-Ukrainian relationship and the Chinese-Taiwanese one, and that the Russian attempt to conquer Ukraine is failing, or at least stalled.

It's only recently that Russia's President Vladimir Putin began denying that Ukraine is a real nation, but that has been Beijing's position with regard to Taiwan from the start. From Mao Zedong to Xi Jinping, every Chinese leader has warned, implicitly or in just so many words, that if Taiwan declares independence from China it will be invaded.

For 73 years, ever since the Nationalist regime lost the Chinese civil war in 1949 and retreated to Taiwan, it has been the risk of a war with the United States that has deterred the victorious Chinese Communists from invading the island and finishing the job. But that threat may be a paper tiger, for there is no actual alliance between Taiwan and the United States.

Like Ukraine, Taiwan gets many expressions of sympathy and support from Washington, and even fairly advanced weapons (although Taiwan has to pay for them), but it does not have a promise that the US Navy will stop a Chinese attack across the Strait of Taiwan, or indeed that the United States would use force in any way to defend Taiwan.

While the chaotic US withdrawal from Afghanistan was still underway last August, US President Joe Biden, seeking to reassure various friends and allies, said "We made a sacred commitment...that if anyone were to invade or take action against our NATO allies, we would respond. Same with Japan, same with South Korea, same with – Taiwan."

That cheered many people in Taiwan – but later in the same day a senior American official, speaking 'not for attribution', said that "US policy has not changed." The real US policy is still 'strategic ambiguity', which is a policy designed to keep China worried while leaving the United States free to help Taiwan or not as the mood of the moment dictates.

Testing no longer required to enter Canada next month

Written By Paula Brown
Local Journalism Initiative Reporter

Fully vaccinated travellers will no longer need to provide a pre-entry COVID-19 test result to enter Canada as of April 1.

The federal government announced in a press conference last Thursday (March 17) it would be eliminating the testing requirement for fully vaccinated travellers entering into the country by air, land or water.

“Adjustments to Canada’s border measures are made possible by a number of factors, including Canada’s high vaccination rate, the increasing availability and use of rapid tests to detect infection, decreasing hospitalizations and growing domestic availability of treatments for COVID-19,” said Jean-Yves Duclos, Minister of Health. “As vaccination levels and healthcare system capacity improve, we will continue to consider further easing of measures at the borders – and when to adjust those measures – to keep the people in Canada safe.”

While pre-arrival COVID-19 testing requirements will change by the start of April, fully vaccinated passengers arriving to Canada from any country may still be subjected to mandatory random testing.

The government said traveller selected for the random testing are not required to quarantine while awaiting test results.

For unvaccinated or partially vaccinated travellers the pre-entry testing requirement are not changing.

Unless otherwise exempt, all travellers five years of age or older who do not qualify as fully vaccinated must continue to provide an accepted type of pre-entry COVID-19 test resulting including:

- A valid negative antigen test administered or observed by an accredited lab or testing provider no more than one day before initial scheduled flight departure or arrival;
- A valid negative molecular test taken no more than 72 hours before initial schedule flight departure or arrival;
- A previous positive molecular test taken at least 10 days and no more than 180 days before scheduled flight departure or arrival. Positive antigen test results will not be accepted.

The government said, fully vaccinated travellers travelling in Canada before April 1 will still need to show a valid pre-entry test.

Despite the lifting of the pre-entry COVID-19 test all travellers will still be required to submit their mandatory information on the ArriveCAN app before their arrival in Canada.

Travellers who arrive without completing the submission may have to test on arrival and quarantine for 14 days regardless of their vaccination status. People travelling on cruises or planes must submit their information within 72 hours before boarding.

Dufferin County launches 2022 Bill Hill Scholarship program

The opportunity to obtain one of seven $2,500 post-secondary scholarships has returned to the region.

The County of Dufferin announced that the Bill Scholarship program is back on Monday (March 21).

Introduced by former Warden Hill in 2015, the program recognizes seven students who pursue post-secondary education and training in the areas of science and technology, business and social sciences, agriculture and environmental studies, arts, and skilled trades.

Two scholarships will be awarded to students who identify as Black, Indigenous,

First Nations, Métis, Inuit, or Person of Colour. Each student will receive a one-time $2,500 scholarship.

“We look forward to this program every year. It’s an investment in the next generation of leaders and changemakers, and our collective community and future,” says Trisha Linton, Chair, Dufferin County Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Community Advisory Committee. “I’m pleased to see the return of two scholarships that recognize and elevate members of our BIPOC community.”

To qualify, students must submit a 300-word essay and proof of admission to a post-secondary institution or training program by May 15, 2022.

Originally known as the Dufferin County Scholarship, it was renamed in 2019 in honour of former Council member and Warden Bill Hill. Since its launch in 2015, the program has recognized 27 students and awarded a total of $67,500.

For more information and complete application details, please visit www.dufferincounty.ca/administration/bill-hill-scholarship-program or contact scholarship@dufferincounty.ca.

Provincial junior hockey starts semi-final round of playoffs

Written By Brian Lockhart

Fans of Junior C hockey in Ontario have plenty to look forward to as the Provincial Junior Hockey League moves into the semi-final round of playoffs.

Locally, the battle for the North Carruthers Division championship is shaping up to provide a lot of very exciting play-off action that will see some very evenly matched teams on the ice.

This year the season was extended into March after the January shutdown so teams could get in 30 games to complete the final standings.

All eight teams in the Division entered the quarter-final round at the end of the regular season.

When the quarter-finals ended, all the favoured teams came out on top with few surprises during the series.

The Stayner Siskins won their quarter-final over the Huntsville Otters in three games after Huntsville had to withdraw from competition. The Otters had a run of COVID-19 on their team making it impossible for them to complete the next game within regulation time.

The Otters forfeited and bowed out of the season.

The Alliston Hornets managed to eliminate the Penetang Kings in four games,

BRIAN LOCKHART

HORNETS ON THE ATTACK: The Carruthers Division of the Provincial Junior Hockey League has now started the semi-final round of playoffs. The quarter-finals wrapped up last week with the four top seeds in the Division advancing. The Penetang Kings and Alliston Hornets battle it out in game three of their quarter-final best-of-seven series.

although they had to work hard to get the job done. The Hornets won by a single goal in three of the games and game four went into overtime.

The Orillia Terriers have dispatched the Midland Flyers after a series that went four games.

The Caledon Golden Hawks and Schomberg

Cougars had their series go six games after Caledon put up a good effort.

That series ended with a 4-1 win in game six on March 18.

The four remaining teams will now enter the semi-final round to determine who will go to the championship.

Stayner finished in first place in the regular season. Alliston, Schomberg, and Orillia finished a single point apart in the standings so there's going to be some evenly matched teams on the ice.

Stayner and Alliston will be up against each other for their series. Orillia and Schomberg will battle for the win in their best-of-seven effort.

The winners will meet in the final for the Division title.

After the Division championships, the remaining teams will enter into competition for the Conference title.

Due to the extended regular season this year, the Schmalz Cup championship will be played in a tournament style.

The tournament will feature the four conference champions in a round-robin format to determine rankings for the semi-finals to be played on May 14.

The championship final game will take place on Sunday, May 15.

The tournament will be held on the ice at the University of Guelph.

Tips for young hockey players during provincial qualifiers

Written By Brian Lockhart

With the provincial hockey qualifiers now in full swing, there can be a lot of pressure on a young player to do their best and not disappoint team when on the ice.

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association is offering tips to players on how to give your best performance on the ice and maintain good character both during and after a game.

Communication on the ice is very important but it may be even more important in the locker room.

If a teammate approaches you with some feedback about a play that went wrong or a way they believe you can improve, your focus should be on everything they are saying. This builds trust between players and shows that you respect their opinion.

While many teams have a stand-out player who is an MVP, it's still a team.

Working together as a unit will bring the best opportunities forward for everybody and allow for a greater chance of group success. A single pass from a player could change the fortunes of an entire team.

Be accountable - everyone makes mistakes, however don't let that mistake be a poor effort that leads to a slip-up on the ice.

Owning your actions will build respect in the locker room and show your teammates that you care enough about them to admit when you were in the wrong.

The qualifiers can put a lot of pressure on a hockey player, but no matter what happens, don't let your emotions get the best of you. You should always stay calm when with your team.

Your body language can have a great effect on your teammates whether you realize it or not.

You don't want to be remembered for the wrong reasons.

When you remain focused, you will get your best results on the ice.

Be a friend to your teammates. You never know what your teammate could be going through off of the ice. Even when it doesn't involve hockey, extending an invitation to a teammate will build camaraderie.

Those friendships could be reflected the next time you are on the ice together.

Follow these simple rules to get your best performance with your team.

Bob Gordanier nominated as Liberal candidate for Ontario

Liberals in Dufferin—Caledon have nominated Bob Gordanier, an agricultural industry advocate and community leader, as their Ontario Liberal Party (OLP) candidate for the next provincial election.

"Bob has been a champion for farmers in his community for decades," said OLP Leader Steven Del Duca. "Always fighting for his community, Bob will make a fantastic MPP for Dufferin—Caledon."

While farming in Dufferin—Caledon for decades, Gordanier has advocated on behalf of Ontario's agriculture industry, as the president of Beef Farmers of Ontario and an executive member of the Canadian Cattlemen's Association. His passion for serving his community also led him to previously serve as a police officer in Port Credit and firefighter in Brampton for years.

One of Gordanier's motivations for running is to protect the remaining farmland in Ontario, after what he's seen as a failure to protect it during the Ford Government's four year term. As well, he's looking to address a lack of support for more affordable housing and the public healthcare system.

"Dufferin—Caledon needs an MPP that will stand up for our community's interests at Queen's Park," said Gordanier. "I've been a champion for sustainable agriculture for decades, and now I'm ready to champion for your needs - a sustainable environment, more affordable housing options, and a better public healthcare system."

Ukraine: lessons for Taiwan, lessons for China

The United States didn't even bother with ambiguity in the case of Ukraine, making it clear from the start that it would not offer any military resistance to a Russian conquest of Ukraine. This is perfectly sensible when your potential adversary has nuclear weapons - but China does too, so the lesson for Beijing is that the US won't really fight for Taiwan either.

That is certainly the conclusion that President Tsai Ing-wen's government in Taipei will draw from recent events, so she will be shopping urgently for state-of-the-art weapons to defend Taiwan with. Given the current mood in the US Congress, she will probably be able to get them.

Yet it's unlikely that Xi Jinping's advisers will be urging him to seize this moment to attack Taiwan, because what he sees in Russia is a brother autocrat, Vladimir Putin, who took a similar gamble and is facing a humiliating defeat. Putin's miscalculation has been so monumental that he may even lose power over it.

There are two elements in Putin's catastrophe that Xi will suspect might also apply to any attempt by him to seize Taiwan by force. The first is just that his inexperienced armed forces, ordered to carry out an amphibious invasion of Taiwan, one of the most complex military operations in the book, may prove to be, like the Russians, simply not up to the task.

He's probably wrong about that. The Russian army is embarrassingly incompetent because, like virtually every institution in Putin's Russia, it is riddled with corruption. Xi has been on an anti-corruption crusade since he took office a decade ago, so it's probably not so bad in China. But he can't be sure of that until he places his bet, and then it might be too late.

The other thing Xi can't be sure of is what kind of sanctions China might face if it invaded Taiwan. Would China's best customers, the developed nations that have shown such unity and determination in imposing unprecedented sanctions on Russia for invading Ukraine, do the same to him if he invaded Taiwan?

Nobody knows, including the players themselves, but China is hugely exposed to any interruption of international trade, and domestic circumstances are not propitious either. Everybody is sick and tired after two years of Covid lockdowns, and the economy is not booming like it used to.

There would certainly be a surge of patriotic enthusiasm if Xi ordered the invasion of Taiwan this year, but he should wait a bit and watch what happens to another dictator who launched a stupid, unwinnable war and got his whole country cancelled.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM "BILL" GEORGE TRAVIS
SEPTEMBER 8, 1943 – MARCH 12, 2022

It is with deep sadness that we announce the passing of William George Travis at the Bethell Hospice in Inglewood on Saturday, March 12, 2022 at age 78. Bill, had resided in Langton and Port Dover, Ontario for the past 38 years while his daughter, Wendy Travis and son and daughter-in-law, Wil and Rose Travis, remained in Shelburne. He was very proud of all his grandchildren, Travis Bodmore (Melissa), Robyn Livingston (Wayne), Roni Travis (Kyle) and Bill Travis (Hannah) and all his great grandchildren. Although sometimes miles would keep them apart, he kept them close to his heart.

Bill was the only child of Barbara Swance and George Travis, George passed away when Bill was only 8 years old. Bill and his mom then moved to Jerusalem after his father's passing to be with his grandparents, William and Lillian Hull and Bill was blessed to be baptized in the Jordan River while he was there. His mom remarried several years later to Ken Swance who became his stepdad and Ken loved him very much. Bill has predeceased his first wife Ruth Travis and his second wife Theresa (Terry) Travis.

Bill retired from his 30 year career of trucking which he has entertained people with countless stories of being on the road and was very proud that he had driven over 2 million miles and was accident free. He spent the last 13 years during his retirement mastering computers, the study of the mind and he loved to putter and fix anything he could get his hands on. He always said "where there is a will, there is a way" and if you knew Bill, it was his way. Bill will be missed by his close circle of family and friends. Special thanks goes to the wonderful staff at Bethell Hospice for your loving care and support this past week and also to Bill's close friends, Scott and Marvin, whom he trusted implicitly.

There will be a Celebration of Life planned for the future, for close family only.

In lieu of flowers a memorial donation may be made in Bill's honour to the Bethell Hospice Foundation in Inglewood. Online condolences may be made at www.imfunerals.com

In Memoriam Funeral Services Inc. has been given the honour to serve the Travis Family.

OBITUARIES

(1970 - 2022)

It is with our deepest sorrow that the family announces the sudden passing of James Robert Wandler, on Wednesday, March 9, 2022 in Orangeville, Ontario. He was born in Brampton, Ontario October 5, 1970. James was deeply loved by his family, including his wife Jennifer Lang, children Robert and Thomas. He was the cherished son of his mother, Trudy King-Skynner of London, Ontario and father, David of Italy Cross, Nova Scotia.

He leaves in sorrow many relatives in the Wandler and Skynner families. James grew up in Markham Ontario with his brother, Jon (2019), and graduated from the University of Western Ontario with a Hon. B.Sc. in chemistry before receiving his CA in Ontario.

Working for PwC Bermuda (PricewaterhouseCoopers), he met the love of his life, Jennifer, under a tree during a storm on a golf course. They married and went on to have two children in Bermuda.

Returning to Canada after 12 years, he and Jennifer raised their children in the country outside of Orangeville. There he took on a new life; developed a deep spirituality, and with compassion and kindness, helped all those he felt needed his comfort. He made many friends in the Centre Fellowship Church in Orangeville.

Spending summers as a child at the cottage on Koshlong Lake in the Haliburton Highlands, he and his brother, Jon were campers and counsellors at the Y camp, Wanakita. He continued to bring his son to the cottage in the pines to play the games of his childhood and enjoy the fun that cottage life brings.

A Celebration of Life for James will be announced at a later date.

Online condolences may be made at jackandthompsonfuneralhome.com. In lieu of flowers, a donation to the Canadian Mental Health Association or a charity of choice would be appreciated.
