BEWARE OF THE SCARE: Several spooky characters provided visitors of the 2024 Haunt in the Park display at Fiddle Park in Shelburne with a memorable experience on Saturday, Oct. 26, when the event was in full effect. The scares started on Friday, Oct. 25, and a "Mini-Boo" was held during the daytime on Oct. 26 for younger attendees to enjoy. There's still time to catch a "Full Scare" from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. tonight (Oct. 31) before the event comes to a close. While the event is volunteer-run and free to attend, Haunt in the Park's organizers ask that attendees bring a non-perishable food item or monetary donations for the Shelburne Food Bank. Legion temporarily closes after president resigns
 Ceremonies still taking place locally to commemorate Remembrance Day

Written By PAULA BROWN
 LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

The Shelburne Legion, Branch 220, will remain closed throughout the majority of November following the resignation of their current president.
 Chuck Arrand, Zone Commander for E-3 of the Royal Canadian Legion, told the Free Press that he received the resignation of Shelburne Legion President Judy McCarrol on Oct. 22, before their 7 p.m. monthly general meeting. Unable to elect a viable candidate, the Zone Commander was forced to enact a temporary closure of Branch 220.
 "In the bylaws and regulations of the Royal Canadian Legion, a branch cannot open its doors without a president," explained Arrand. "Closing [the legion] was an absolute last resort; all other avenues were exhausted before we arrived at this decision."
 Traditionally, when a local legion is unable to or fails to elect a president to oversee the branch it is closed permanently. The permanent closure means that the building, along with all of its assets, are sold and the revenue from the sale is donated to charities within the community it resides.

 Arrand said the permanent closure of a legion is typically due to the membership aging out and failure to find younger members.
 In the case of the Shelburne Legion, instead of permanently closing, Arrand was able to receive permission from Ontario Command to have a temporary closure for 30 days and allow for an election of a new president at their next meeting on Nov. 26.
 "If there is no successful election on Nov. 26 it will go from a temporary to permanent closure, unfortunately," said Arrand.
 Despite the temporary closure of the local branch, Arrand remains optimistic about the longevity of the Shelburne Legion.
 "I believe that there is a very viable solution for Nov. 26 and that the membership will rally to come up with someone they can support, who will stick with the job," said Arrand. "I believe, in my heart, that they will elect a president. They will overcome this obstacle, and the Shelburne branch will be around for a very long time."
 The local legion sidestepped a similar result in September after then-President Phillip Norris stepped down from the role and was succeeded by McCarrol.

 "I'd had assurances that they would stay in place until Nov. 15, but that was not the case. The situation became untenable for them and they resigned," said Arrand.
 The temporary closure of the Shelburne Legion comes as veterans, legion members and local residents prepare to commemorate Remembrance Day on Nov. 11.
 "I'm a veteran myself and I'm married to a veteran, so when I stood up there and closed the branch temporarily, it was absolutely heartbreaking. It was heartbreaking to see a branch come to that point in time and not be able to change the outcome any more than I did," said Arrand. "There's no worse month for a legion to be closed than November."
 The Dufferin Veterans Association will be hosting an event at the Museum of Dufferin on Nov. 2 in honour of Veterans Week, and the Town of Shelburne, in partnership with the Dufferin Veterans Association, will be taking on the task of hosting the community's Remembrance Day service on Nov. 11.
 "Remembrance Day will not be lost in Shelburne," reassured Arrand.

Dufferin teenager to compete in cattle, equestrian, poultry shows at Royal Winter Fair for first time in event's history

Written By SAM ODROWSKI

A 16-year-old Dufferin County resident will compete at an unprecedented level during the 102nd Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

While it takes a high level of talent and dedication to show livestock in just one competition at the Royal, Ava Campbell of Mono will be vying for ribbons in several.

She will be a contender in two horse shows, a cattle show, and a poultry show, with her chickens and ducks.

"We're very proud of this accomplishment, and in our recent memory of the fair, this is the first time that we have seen something like this," said the Royal Winter Fair's CEO Cyrus Cooper about the number of competitions Campbell's competing in. "It's quite a feat."

The Royal Winter Fair takes place from Nov. 1 to 10 at Exhibition Place, where the best competitors across Canada compete at a national level.

"Every year, the Royal is circled on various competitors' calendars, whether you're an Olympic rider or a young, aspiring rider," Cooper noted.

Campbell's ability to train and present animals well is what's led her to qualify for so many different competitions at this year's Royal.

She is eager to show different kinds of livestock and is working hard to prepare in hopes of taking home some ribbons.

At past Royal Winter Fairs, she has done well in horse riding competitions, as this is her main focus.

"A couple of years ago I won a lot of classes in the smalls [horse category], and then I was overall grand champion in the ponies," Campbell recalled. "Last year I was third overall in the Jump Canada Medal Finals Equitation Class."

She has again qualified to compete in the Junior Hunters Division Horse Show as well as the Jump Canada Finals.

"She's been showing horses [at the Royal] for years and competing," said Campbell's father Mark. "The Royal is like the playoffs, if you will, for horse riding."

To qualify, Campbell regularly competed in horse shows at the Caledon Equestrian Park and Angelstone Tournaments in Rockwood.

"You show the horses all year and then you qualify through points. You have to be top eight in Ontario to go [to the Royal] for the horses," Campbell explained.

Throughout the winter, she's in Florida training on horseback, and taking online school so she can remain committed to her passion for riding.

Campbell is hoping her dedication to horse riding throughout the year will yield positive results at the Royal.

"It's rewarding when you continue to get better throughout the year, and then seeing the hard work pay off... going to these big venues and doing well," she enthused.

SHOW SEASON: Ava Campbell showed a heifer at the Markham Fair earlier this year with good results. From a young age, she's had an interest in cattle shows and participating in them. This year, Campbell finally had that opportunity and will be competing at the Royal Winter Fair.

JUNIOR CHAMPION: Ava Campbell took home a Junior Champion Waterfowl ribbon for the ducks she showed at the Ontario Poultry Breeders Show earlier in the month.

Campbell's mother Elizabeth also has a love for horses and riding. She competed in the Royal Winter Fair when she was a teenager as well and is always excited to see her daughter do the same.

"Her mother plays a big role in the helping with the horse and the training as well," Mark noted. "The horses have always been a big part of my wife's life."

Campbell's been invited on a recruiting trip to the University of South Carolina and hopes to earn a scholarship to compete with the school's equestrian team.

For the Royal's cattle show, Campbell will be competing in it for her very first time.

She's competed in sanctioned cattle shows at fairs in the region through the summer to prepare.

Campbell will be showing a full-blood Simmental heifer, owned by cattle breeder Charles Burns of Kingsfield Farms.

Burns said Campbell first developed an interest in showing cattle about seven years ago when they met at the Royal and has been persistent in pursuing the opportunity ever since.

"She kept asking me until I said, 'sure,' and let her show at the Markham Fair for a couple years, and I told her she can show at the Royal this year," Burns recalled.

He added that Campbell has the right temperament for showing animals.

"There's some people that animals just trust, they don't flinch, they're not scared of them. They seem to trust the person right away, and she has whatever that skill is," Burns noted. "The animals don't run away from her."

For the competition, Campbell's focus will be on ensuring her heifer looks at its best at any given moment, standing tall and remaining calm.

When it comes to the ducks and chickens Campbell is entering in the Royal, she was recently named Junior Championship for her waterfowl at the Ontario Poultry Breeders Show.

She said she's eager to compete in this category as well.

The Royal Winter Fair features a variety of competitions that allow qualifying Canadians to demonstrate their skills and move on to international championships.

"We're very proud of the fact that the Royal offers the opportunity to compete at a high level for various individuals from all walks of life, age, and gender as well," Cooper said. "That's what's unique about the Royal every year, and that's what makes it special."

What then must we do?

“What then must we do?”

It is a line said, then put to paper, by journalist Billy Kwan in the 1982 movie, The Year of Living Dangerously. It was based on a question posed in the Book of Luke in the Bible.

It was a time of turmoil in Indonesia, and Billy Kwan was trying to get word out of what was really going on.

Billy's question was never answered, because he was tossed out of a hotel window by security personnel for daring to display a banner critical of the president.

Some questions may never be answered.

The Coroner's Office in British Columbia just released a report about drug-related deaths in the province. Illicit drug deaths in B.C. were down slightly compared to the same time last year, however, the deaths of women and girls in the same period have increased dramatically.

The report says that so far this year – mid-October – there have been 1,749 deaths due to illicit drug overdose. There were 187 overdose deaths in August, and 183 in September. That's six people dying from a drug overdose every day.

The potent opioid fentanyl, remains the primary cause and was detected in 85 per cent of drug deaths.

That is an incredible number of preventable deaths in a province with a population of just over 5 million people.

Compare that to deaths as the result of car accidents in the province at 284 on average per year over the last five years.

If there were the same number of people dying in car crashes that were overdosing, there would be a huge uproar and response to get it under control.

In Ontario, it is reported by Ontario Public Health that in a four-and-a-half-year period leading up to 2023, there were 10,024 accidental substance toxicity deaths in Ontario.

That's an incredible number. If the nation were involved in some kind of war, and that number of people were killed, there would be a demand to cease fighting and bring them home.

Yet, every day, someone in Ontario dies from a drug overdose.

During the COVID-19 pandemic, drug and alcohol-related deaths nearly doubled in Ontario.

Illicit drugs can cripple a society. In the late 1770s, the British introduced opium to China. Before long there was a serious drug problem that invaded all levels of society in China.

The British got what they wanted, by making sure half of China was too stoned to care, and they walked in and took over.

But what must we do to stop all this carnage?

Apparently education does not work. When I was in school, we received numerous lectures about the dangers of drug abuse – and my class was not the first to receive this shocking information.

Schools have been preaching against illegal drug use since at least the 30s.

Luckily, no one I know ever became a drug addict.

If you are told all the time that something can ruin your life, why do people still pursue that option?

While education about the danger of drug use has increased, so has the number of addicts and deaths to go along with it.

The U.S. had a 'war on drugs' a few years ago. That didn't work either.

When I was in college, my film crew had the misfortune of being hired to shoot some footage with a group of 'actresses' from Hollywood. Special note here – if your daughter runs off to Hollywood with the intention of becoming a famous actress, and she calls you later telling you she got work as a model – she's not modelling in the conventional sense. Far from it.

During this shoot, one of the 'actresses' said that cocaine didn't seem to be very popular here. She then asked me if I could 'score them' some cocaine.

I replied that I had no idea where the local drug dealer lived, and I also told them I don't do drugs.

This did not go over well, and the entire film crew was labelled as 'squares' because we didn't routinely wake up in a strange place with powder on our noses and no idea of what happened the previous night.

So what must we do, to stop this carnage that is taking so many lives?

Education doesn't seem to work, prison time doesn't seem to work.

The really sad thing is many of the people who have died from overdoses, are not regular users, but just some ordinary person who went to a party, and was given a substance laced with a deadly drug.

The experts in drug use, haven't been able to come up with an answer.

Maybe it's just one of those questions that will never be answered.

BRIAN LOCKHART
FROM THE SECOND ROW

Chagos Islands: No happy ending

If you believe the British government (which you should never do), a new agreement will bring justice for the people of the Chagos Islands, who have lived in exile for more than half a century after the main island, Diego Garcia, was turned into a giant American airbase in the middle of the Indian Ocean.

Britain is officially handing the Chagos Islands over to Mauritius, which is supposed to be a good thing. A joint statement by the UK and Mauritian governments says the new agreement will "address the wrongs of the past and demonstrate the commitment of both parties to support the welfare of the Chagossians."

US President Joe Biden agreed, saying the agreement demonstrates that "countries can overcome longstanding historical challenges to reach peaceful and mutually beneficial outcomes." When they talk like that, you know they're up to no good.

Clive Baldwin, the senior legal adviser at Human Rights Watch, demurred: "The agreement...does not guarantee that the Chagossians will return to their homeland, appears to explicitly ban them from the largest island, Diego Garcia, for another century, and does not mention the reparations they are all owed to rebuild their future."

The Chagossians were deported and dumped into exile in 1973 in a post-colonial deal between the United Kingdom and the United States, which wanted a big bomber base in the Indian Ocean with no troublesome locals nearby. The same parties are now modifying that deal, but only to deflect criticism. Nothing really changes.

Mauritius and the Chagos Islands 2,000 km to the northeast were both uninhabited until the European empires imported African slaves, and later indentured Indian labourers, to grow various cash crops. Mauritius got its independence from Britain in 1968 – but only after agreeing to let the United Kingdom keep the Chagos Islands.

Britain had no particular use for these low-lying islands or the people living on them – they are only "a few Tarzans and Man Fridays", a Foreign Office official noted. However, it did want a discount on the expensive Polaris missiles it was buying from the United States for its submarine-borne nuclear deterrent. (The actual nuclear warheads were British-made.)

The United States was looking for a bomber base within reach of everywhere in Southeast Asia, the Indian subcontinent and the Middle East, preferably with no inconvenient civilian population. So it was a match made in heaven: the B-52s moved in, and the local Ilois (as the residents of the Chagos Islands called themselves) were moved out.

That last bit was awkward, because the Ilois didn't want to go. However, there were only 2,000 of them and they had no weapons. They were bundled aboard ships, their pets were shot or gassed, and they were dumped in various shanty-towns in Mauritius and the Seychelles. Now they number around 10,000, about a third of them in England.

Many of them still want to go home, and the beauty of the new agreement is that they can't. They are still not allowed to return to Diego Garcia, the big island where most of their parents and grandparents lived, and they will have no voice in negotiating the treaty between the UK and Mauritius that sets all this in concrete.

Why go through all this legal nonsense if nothing really changes? Because an international law from 1960 (UN General Assembly resolution 1514) bans the break-up of colonies before they get independence.. That means that the UK broke the law by forcing Mauritius to hand over the Chagos Islands in return for its independence.

The new treaty will tidy all that up. Mauritius regains legal sovereignty over the Chagos Islands, which is very satisfying for Mauritian national pride. However, Mauritius agrees to continue the existing deal on Diego Garcia (including the ban on return by the Chagossians) for the indefinite future.

The weirdest thing about all this cruelty and cynicism is that there is no 'good' (i.e. pragmatically useful) reason for it. Britain was and still is only looking for leverage with the United States on other issues: the only British uniforms to be seen on Diego Garcia are in the control tower and the cafeteria.

The American obsession with expelling the entire civilian population of the archipelago, including people who lived on small islets 160 km. away from the runway, makes even less sense.

Overseas US air bases elsewhere do not require thousands of square kilometres of depopulated space around them. The Ilois are not nationalists (too few and too mixed), or Muslims (they're mostly Christians), or any other sort of group that might have grievances against Americans. Indeed, they would have been happy to have some jobs on the base.

It never made sense. It doesn't make sense now. And it looks like it will continue not to make sense for a long time to come.

Hockey fans throughout Dufferin County meet Mats Sundin at book signing

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

A sea of blue and white jerseys descended on one of Orangeville's local arenas as Toronto Maple Leaf fans and hockey fans alike gathered for a moment to meet NHL legend – Mats Sundin.

Local book store, BookLore, hosted a special book signing event with Sundin on Oct. 23 at the Alder Arena as part of a tour celebrating the launch of his newly released autobiography, Home and Away.

"I had known for some time that we were getting Mats Sundin, but had to keep it secret until the publisher, Simon and Schuster, announced his tour. We put in a proposal for him and were overjoyed that we were chosen – it was only a week tour and we were the only independent bookstore," said Nancy Frater, owner of BookLore.

BookLore sold 300 copies of Sundin's book ahead of the book signing, with a portion of the profits going to the Orangeville Wolves.

"I think the best aspect for us was that BookLore could contribute something to our community by bringing an NHL star of his caliber and even more so by donating a percentage of the book's profits to the Orangeville Wolves," said Frater. "I wanted to collaborate with a hockey team and the Orangeville Wolves, a special needs hockey team, was the perfect choice because everyone deserves a chance to play on a team. The parents, coaches and others connected with the Wolves put so much into their support of this team."

HOCKEY HERO: NHL superstar Mats Sundin met with players from the Orangeville Wolves on Oct. 23 ahead of a book signing event at Adler Arena hosted by BookLore celebrating the launch of his autobiography, Home and Away.

Before the doors opened for fans, players from the Orangeville Wolves had a moment to meet with Sundin one-on-one for photos, autographs and a charismatic fist-bump.

"They struggle day-to-day, and when they get singled out like this on a positive level, it brings their level up that much more. These are memories that they will talk about forever," said Kim Thompson, co-manager of the Orangeville Wolves.

As they stood in a winding line, fans held onto photos, posters, jerseys and other memorabilia from Sundin's 13 seasons with the Toronto Maple Leafs, 11 of which he was captain.

Some fans, like Kayla Mantle, took the time to begin reading their copies of Home and Away while they waited for their moment to meet with the hockey superstar.

"I cried in the first chapter. I'm very nostalgic and sentimental for Mats Sundin," joked Mantle while speaking with the Free Press.

"I watched him play for the Nordiques when I was eight or nine years old, and ever since then it was all about Mats Sundin for me. I had the framed posters in my room and the Leafs bedding on my bed. I really respected him growing up and as an adult, it hasn't really wavered. My love for the Leafs is consistent, but you always have your favorites, and he was always mine."

Many of the adults at the book signing, who reminisced about growing up watching Sundin as captain of the Toronto Maple Leafs, shared in the excitement of meeting their hockey hero with the next generation of fans; their own children.

Orangeville resident, Kris Ponte was accompanied to the book signing by his sons, 10-year-old Nicky and 7-year-old A.J.

"They're getting to meet my hero," Ponte told the Free Press. "I think these guys are a lot more excited than I am, but it's pretty cool to see someone that you grew up admiring and following and cheering for. It's not every day you get to do that, it's a real opportunity."

Home and Away, is an unfiltered look at Sundin's time playing hockey in Sweden and across North America. Starting with his childhood growing up in the outskirts of Stockholm Sweden, Home and Away explores Sundin's experiences being drafted in 1989 at 18 years old to the Quebec Nordiques, his trade to the Toronto Maple Leafs in exchange for the highly popular Leaf captain, Wendel Clark, and the 13 season he spent with the team.

Sundin's autobiography, Home and Away was published on Oct. 22.

HALLOWEEN SPIRIT: The Shelburne BIA's Treats in the Streets event saw children and youth dress up in their Halloween costumes and trick-or-treat at local businesses in the downtown core on Saturday, Oct. 26. The event kicked off at Jack Downing Park, and attendees enjoyed finding photo booths and pumpkins for the Great Pumpkin Hunt. The event was free to attend, but donations to the Shelburne Food Bank were graciously accepted. Treats in the Streets also ran in conjunction with Haunt in the Park's Mini Boo at Fiddle Park, where the spooky characters had their masks off, and kids were encouraged to drop by. The first-ever Treats in the Streets event was held in 2017.

Dufferin Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) officers recently charged a Grey Highlands man with impaired operation related offences after receiving a traffic complaint.

Officers were dispatched to a traffic complaint in the area of Highway 89 in Mulmur on Oct. 25, just after 9:30 p.m.

After getting to the area, Dufferin OPP

None of the charges against Bachelder have been proven in court.

The Dufferin OPP would like to remind motorists to plan ahead when consuming alcohol or drugs.

"Use a designated driver, cab, ride-share, public transit or stay overnight. Any amount of alcohol or drugs can impact your ability to make sound judgements. In a split second you could ruin your future, injure or kill others, and tear a hole in the heart of everyone who loves you," said Dufferin OPP's statement.

Highway 89 in Mulmur on Sunday, Oct. 27, shortly after 9:15 p.m.

When the officers arrived on scene, they were quickly led into an impaired driving investigation.

As a result of the Dufferin OPP's investigation, a 52-year-old man from York Region has been charged with operation while impaired - alcohol and drugs.

The accused individual is scheduled to appear before the Ontario Court of Justice in Orangeville.

As a result of the incident, the York Region man's driver's licence was suspended for 90 days and his vehicle went to the impound for seven days.

The operation while impaired charge has not been proven in court.

Two people charged with impaired driving, one described by Dufferin OPP as white ghost

Dufferin Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) officers have charged a person dressed up as a ghost with impaired operation related offences as the result of a motor vehicle collision.

On Oct. 27, 2024, just after 12:30 a.m., Dufferin OPP officers were dispatched to a single motor vehicle collision in the area of Glengarry Road in Orangeville.

The vehicle had struck a fire hydrant along with a street sign.

"The driver was described as a white ghost who exited the vehicle and started to push it down the road after the collision. While this was happening, the passenger jumped into the driver's seat in an attempt to flee the scene," said Dufferin OPP.

Both parties were arrested for impaired operation related offences.

A 48-year-old male from Orangeville has been charged with:

- Operation while impaired - blood alcohol concentration (80 plus)

- Driving while under suspension
- Operation while impaired - alcohol and drugs

A 44-year-old female from Orangeville has been charged with:

- Operation while impaired - blood alcohol concentration (80 plus)
- Operation while impaired - alcohol and drugs

"This Halloween, plan your ride wisely: Don't let ghosts be the only ones haunting the roads," said Dufferin OPP's press release.

The two accused individuals are scheduled to appear before the Ontario Court of Justice in Orangeville. Both their driver's licence were suspended 90 days, and their vehicle was impounded for seven days.

None of the listed charges have been proven in court.

Pine River Institute is finalist in 2024 Defender Services Awards

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Pine River Institute is another step closer to its goal of winning the 2024 Defender Services Awards.

The local organization provided an update to the Free Press on Friday (Oct. 25), noting that they are now one of two remaining finalists in the Outdoor Accessibility and Education Awards category. The winner of the category will take the grand prize – a 130 Defender vehicle and $25,000 USD.

“We’re so pleasantly surprised; we didn’t expect to get this far,” said Heather Kelly, communications director at Pine River Institute.

The Defender Service Awards are an annual initiative that looks to recognize charitable organizations. The awards include five categories that reflect the Defender brand’s commitment to bringing a positive impact to the community through acts of service and humanitarian efforts around the world.

This year, the initiative will be awarding six customized Defender 130 vehicles to six charitable organizations in the U.S., Puerto Rico and Canada. The organizations that are selected support the communities they reside in with charitable work every day. The category sponsors will also be awarding $25,000 USD to each of the six winners.

In September, Pine River Institute was announced as a finalist in the Outdoor Accessibility and Education Awards category, which focuses on supporting people who can benefit from the outdoors.

“Our category is about the value of getting outside and for us at Pine River, that is certainly a big part of what we do with the students,” said Kelly.

The Pine River Institute looks to help adolescents struggling with addictive behaviours as well as mental health challenges, and regain control of their lives through their programming. The Pine River Institute has a four-phase program for youth and their families that starts with a six to eight-week-long Outdoor Leadership Experience in Algonquin.

According to Pine River Institute, there are more than 100 teens and families on their waitlist, which they typically stay on for anywhere from six months to one year.

In order to help operate their program, Pine River Institute utilizes a fleet of eight vehicles. The organization has two vehicles up north at their Outdoor Leadership Experience, one in Orilla at their transition house and five on the main campus in Mulmur.

Dan Ardis, Pine River’s, senior director of operations and campus life, spoke with the Free Press in October about the impact winning the vehicle would have for the organization.

“Our students and staff are in the wilderness 365 days a year, through all seasons so we’re hard on our vehicles – they are also one of our most expensive costs so a new vehicle would really help us a lot,” he said. “It’s important to note that there are not many vehicles on the market that have passenger capacity and capabilities that we need, with offroad, and trailering as well. We need a vehicle that can pull a heavy trailer of snowmobiles and gear, with 4WD, enough room for passengers, and stand up to a great deal of wear and tear.”

Dufferin County residents have been a significant factor in Pine River Institute’s achievement of being a finalist in the 2024 Defender Services Awards. The contest is based on a voting system, and local residents cast their ballots in support of Pine River Institute until the Oct. 17 deadline.

“It really speaks to the power of community because we wouldn’t be where we are, if people didn’t vote. We’re really pleased that it has created a space for people to rally around what Pine River does and more broadly, the needs of youth mental health and addition. It’s already a win for us,” said Kelly.

The winners of each category of the 2024 Defender Services Awards will be announced at Destination Defender in California on Nov. 23.

Local Big Brothers Big Sisters to hold online holiday auction, seeks donations

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Dufferin and District is putting the call out to local businesses to help provide donated items for an upcoming fundraiser.

The local chapter will be hosting an online holiday auction starting on Nov. 12 at 9 a.m. and running until Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. Local residents will have the opportunity to bid on a variety of donated items while helping to raise much needed funds for local Big Brother Big Sister programming.

“It’s a fun way to raise money for the programs and give people an opportunity to have access to some pretty cool prizes,” said Natalie de Ruiters, fundraising and group program coordinator.

With less than two weeks until the auction’s launch, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Dufferin and District is looking for more items to include in the online auction.

“We’re hoping to have items on there that would get people excited and want to buy to give as gifts or for themselves,” said de Ruiters. “We’re not specifically looking for any certain items. We’re just happy if people are generous to contribute. So far, we have a lot of experiences in this auction and a lot of gift certificates. Services are a really great way for businesses to contribute to our auction, but also advertise their own company.”

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Dufferin and District has a goal of raising $3,000 through the online auction.

The money raised from the holiday-themed fundraiser will support Big Brothers Big Sisters’ core mentor program, where they match an adult volunteer with a youth in the community to provide guidance and support. The funds also go towards supporting the organization’s school programs, group programs and their Big Bunch program, which is for children on the waitlist awaiting their big brother or big sister match.

“By contributing and donating to Big Brothers Big Sisters, you are directly investing in the future and the lives of the children we serve,” said de Ruiters.

While raising donations to support their programming, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Dufferin and District is also hoping to use the fundraiser to highlight their need for more volunteers.

Last year, the local chapter of Big Brothers Big Sisters served over 200 children. At the time of print, they served roughly 55 kids through their school mentoring program and around 24 through one-on-one matches; while 14 kids remain on a waiting lists for a match.

“The experience overall is deeply rewarding, not just for the child, but also for the mentor. A lot of our mentors enjoy the time they get to spend with a child and feel like a kid again themselves; they create these really beautiful bonds,” said de Ruiters.

De Ruiters added that they’ve struggled to have enough Big Brother volunteers to match with Little Brothers in the community. In Shelburne, in particular, there hasn’t been a Big Brother volunteer in the program since 2020.

“We don’t have the volunteers for those kids right now, so we really need volunteers to keep coming out with us,” said de Ruiters.

Inquires and applications to become a Big Brother or Big Sister can be done by visiting the Big Brothers Big Sisters of Dufferin and District website.

Locally businesses looking for more information about Holiday Online Auction or who are interested in making a donation can contact Natalie de Ruiters by email at natalie.deruiters@bigbrothersbigsisters.ca.

Ontario government proposes $200 rebate to offset federal carbon tax, high interest rates

Written By SAM ODROWSKI

In response to the federal carbon tax and high interest rates, the Government of Ontario is proposing a $200 rebate for all eligible taxpayers in the province.

The rebate proposal is part of the 2024 Ontario Economic Outlook and Fiscal Review, and a statement from the province says families with children will receive an additional $200 for each eligible child.

“We’re doing everything we can to keep costs down for Ontario families, but the federal carbon tax and high interest rates are still hurting taxpayers across the province,” said Premier Doug Ford. “This $200 taxpayer rebate will give Ontario taxpayers, especially families with children, some much-deserved help so they can make ends meet.”

If the proposal moves forward, the province will begin mailing cheques to recipients of the taxpayer rebate in early 2025.

“A family of five with two adults and three children would receive $1,000, if eligible. In total, this rebate is expected to provide $3 billion in support for approximately 12.5 million adults and 2.5 million children,” reads a statement on the proposal from the province.

“The government is able to provide taxpayers with this relief because of higher-than-expected revenues as a result of the impact of inflation on provincial sales tax revenues and the impact of recent changes to the federal government’s capital gains tax.”

Local resident plans marathon walk around Fiddle Park

McNeil trading skates for running shoes to support Royal Canadian Legions

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

When Steve McNeil plans one of his charity fundraising events, it usually takes the form of a marathon skate.

However, McNeil will be trading his skates for a good pair of walking shoes as he will be trekking along the trails at Fiddle Park in Shelburne for an 11-hour walk on Nov. 11, raising money for the Royal Canadian Legion.

A mail carrier with Canada Post for over 20 years and a hockey referee for 41 years, McNeil said his careers have prepared him to be outdoors in any type of weather, so if the day isn't picture perfect, he will go ahead with the walk as scheduled.

For the past 12 years, McNeil has skated 35 marathon events across Canada, 19 hours and 26 minutes each time, to raise funds and awareness for families battling with Alzheimer's and Dementia. He started the marathons in memory of his mother, Eunice McNeil, who was born in 1926 and who battled Alzheimer's disease for 20 years.

After his wife Tina passed away following a 39-day battle with brain cancer, McNeil said he thought it was time to raise funds for more charities.

McNeil decided to raise funds for legions across the country, as many of them are having difficulty staying open.

"I'm a volunteer at the Shelburne Legion and we do fantastic things there, and we have for quite a while," McNeil explained. "Most of the volunteers there give everything they've got, whether it's wing night or the Sunday morning breakfasts. My wife and myself have been hosting the Friday night suppers. In doing that, I started thinking how lucky we are in Shelburne because in my estimation, one of the top legions in the country, when it comes to volunteering and having our numbers in the black rather than in the red. There have been so many legions across the country that are hurting and have closed due to financial reasons."

After injuring his shoulder, McNeil started walking at Fiddle Park to keep exercising.

During his walks, he came up with the idea of supporting legions through a walk. McNeil plans on hiking the outer perimeter of the park on the gravel road.

"At 12:01 a.m., I'll take my first step and I'll walk in the park," McNeil explained.

McNeil approached the Town of Shelburne to get the backing of council for the walk, as technically the park is closed after dark. Council backed him up and members say they think it's a great idea.

"I'll walk from midnight to about 10:30 in the morning, then I'll leave the park and walk along Main Street to the cenotaph and watch the ceremony at 11 o'clock," McNeil said.

He's asking people to donate $11.11 to their local legion to support ones across the country.

McNeil is relying on social media to spread the word about the walk.

He has a theory about fundraising.

"It relies on three things," McNeil explained. "You have to get people's attention, you have to get them interested, and once you do that there's a good chance you will get them involved."

If anyone wants to come out and join McNeil during the walk, even to walk just a single lap, they are welcome.

You can learn more about Steve's efforts at his website at: www.1926skate.com.

The event will be held at the Grand Valley Public Library (4 Amaranth St. E) from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Nov. 9.

"Bring your unwanted jackets, hats, mittens, scarves, sweaters and other winter clothing and accessories and swap them for something else," said a press release from the County of Dufferin.

"Clothing swap parties are a sustainable way to get rid of unwanted accessories, clothing and/or shoes while swapping them for items you need for free."

The event will feature light refreshments and there will be a chance for attendees to win prizes.

While the average Canadian buys 70 new pieces of clothes per year, data shows only half is used while the rest is thrown away or left unused.

"Textiles contribute to 10 million tonnes of waste in landfill in North America, of which 95 per cent could have been reused or recycled," said the County of Dufferin's press release. "Fast fashion is also a significant contributor to the climate crisis. Global textile production produces 1.2 billion tons of CO2e emissions annually, which is more than both maritime shipping and international flights."

Attendees of the Winter Warmth Clothing Swap Party can bring up to 10 items and can take home as many items as they bring.

All clothing must be clean and in wearable condition, without stains or tears.

Undergarments, socks and bathing suits are not permitted at the event.

It's important to note that only winter clothing is to be brought to the swap party, such as winter jackets, snow pants, toques, mittens, gloves, scarves and sweaters.

The event is on a first come first served basis, meaning no items will be placed on hold or reserved for attendees to come back and take.

To participate in the Winter Warmth Clothing Swap Party, bring items to the Grand Valley Public Library from 6 to 8 p.m. on Nov. 6 or 7 or from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Nov. 9. Items can also be dropped off on the day of the event, Nov. 9, from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.

After dropping off an item, the library will provide a ticket based on the number of items provided, which must be brought to the event.

Anyone who brings items that go unclaimed can have them back at the end of the event by notifying staff.

Although unclaimed items will be donated, the County of Dufferin stressed this is not a donation-based event.

"Participants are expected to take as many items as they bring in for the clothing swap," said the county's press release.

Anyone who is looking for places to donate clothing in Grand Valley can visit the Ameritex Diversion Donation Bin at 202373 Dufferin Rd 109 or call 416-543-1448.

Accepted items include clothing, footwear, backpacks, belts, scarves and household textiles, which includes things like bedding, stuffed toys and towels.

Items that should not be dropped off at the donation bin include toys, furniture, carpets, mattresses, soiled or dirty clothing and dirty textiles.

Donations to this bin supports Seconds Count, Salvation Army and Mission Thrift.

SCARES & TERRORS: A variety of displays and volunteers dressed up in various Halloween costumes provided a frightful experience to those who dared to attend Haunt in the Park's "Full Scare" on Saturday, Oct. 26 at Fiddle Park in Shelburne. The event has been taking place for over 30 years, organized by the Little family, and each year it offers something different to the community.

New Liberal candidate nominated for Dufferin-Caledon

Written By ZACHARY ROMAN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

There's a new Provincial Liberal candidate for Dufferin and Caledon.

On Oct. 20, Tess Prendergast was officially nominated as the Provincial Liberal candidate for Dufferin-Caledon at a Dufferin-Caledon Provincial Liberal Association meeting in Caledon Village.

Prendergast currently serves as a Councillor for the Town of Orangeville and is a French teacher and librarian.

She said she was inspired to be the Provincial Liberal candidate for Dufferin-Caledon because she sees firsthand how Provincial policies impact everyday Ontarians. Her experience as a Councillor for the Town of Orangeville has informed her approach to fiscal responsibility and moderation.

"While social progress is paramount, it must be matched with what is feasible within our current government systems and what is responsible to the taxpayer," said Prendergast. "I think people are looking for stability and sensibility in decision-making right now."

Prendergast said tackling Ontario's housing and affordability crises is key, as is improving the healthcare and education systems. She said building housing in areas that already have infrastructure in place is very important, so that the cost of developing greenfield areas does not fall on taxpayers.

Prendergast said there needs to be more investment in the people that work in Ontario's healthcare system in addition to investments in infrastructure.

"I really care for the residents of Dufferin-Caledon, I'll be a true advocate," said Prendergast. "I can't wait to start knocking on doors and talking about the Ontario Liberal Party."

She said now is not the time for flashy investments in large infrastructure projects like highways when there's so many people in Ontario who are using the food bank and struggling to make ends meet.

"The Conservatives seem to be prioritizing profit for developers," said Prendergast. "The Ontario Liberals will prioritize smart budgeting that helps working families, focusing on affordable housing, public healthcare and education."

Prendergast said people in Dufferin and Caledon deserve better than what they've been getting from Premier Doug Ford and MPP Sylvia Jones in the past six years.

"When you vote Liberal, you're voting for stable, predictable, and sensible support. We need a government that's on our side," she said. "Leadership isn't just about passing laws. It's about listening, collaborating, and solving problems. I believe in a sensible approach, one that balances progressive policies with fiscal responsibility... we need to build up our communities, not tear them down through cuts, neglect and decision making that benefits a wealthy few."

Josh Loeffler, President of the Dufferin-Caledon Provincial Liberal Association, said in a news release that Prendergast is ready to bring fresh perspectives and a strong voice for the community to Queen's Park.

He said she's a dedicated community leader and passionate advocate for public services and environmental sustainability.

Loeffler said Prendergast's extensive experience in education, social justice and municipal governance has prepared her for the provincial stage. He said she's long been engaged in local politics and community development, focusing on affordable housing, healthcare, and accessible public transit.

"Her priorities reflect the Liberal values of strong public services, promoting economic opportunities, and ensuring that government decisions are transparent and accountable," wrote Loeffler. "As a French teacher and librarian, she is deeply committed to improving education, public healthcare, and the environment, and aims to bring these values into the provincial legislature."

Theatre Orangeville's 'Twas the Night Gala to return Nov. 16

Written By CONSTANCE SCRAFIELD

Theatre Orangeville's annual 'Twas the Night Gala will be staged at the luxurious establishment – Hockley Valley Resort (783522 3rd Line EHS, Mono) on Nov. 16, where this party promises to be all it has been and more.

The banquet, silent and live auctions, will all be held in the hotel's Montclair Ballroom, which seats 300 people very comfortably. To have the silent auction there means patrons can still see the entertainment and have access to all the chances to spend.

During the course of the evening, Theatre Orangeville's artistic director David Nairn will stand for the 25th year as auctioneer, as only he can – cajoling and teasing bidders to increase offers between competing bidders.

Theatre Orangeville fundraising committee chair Laura Sheehan Austin and committee member Hazel Mason spoke to the Citizen about the excitement growing for this event.

Austin noted this year's 'Twas Gala will be the last one David Nairn is hosting and that needs to be celebrated. As a major support in the theatre's fundraising efforts, she praised a great canvassing committee, with amazing volunteers, collecting silent auction contributions from an unbelievable community. Every year new people join the effort, including the incomparable Joy Bell, who has been with them all this time.

Traditionally: Father Christmas is attending. In the Montclair Ballroom, a pianist on the stage will provide seasonal music and the Theatre Orangeville Youth Singers will sing carols on the stairs.

For this most important fundraising event of the year, Austin is organizing the Silent Auction items, "a huge amount of work," she said, comparing it to "84,000 emails." She is willing though, for "the actual night is so much fun, being in a room with a community who are raising funds, joyously living in a community within two degrees of separation."

Ticket sales are doing well; tables are being reserved.

This year, people were looking for a change in the menu from prime roast beef. The new menu features a vegetarian meal of green salad and stuffed pepper. For meat lovers there is carved beef tenderloin and chicken supreme, with green salad. Dessert all round.

Once again, Anne Marie Warburton, founder and owner of Gallery Gemma at the Alton Mill Arts Centre, is donating a fabulous piece of jewellery.

There are several new Live Auction items, from wine tastings to tickets to the Shaw festival and tickets for the Women's Hockey League; likewise, another professional hockey game of choice. All of which have a one-night accommodation.

Both the Hockley Valley Resort and Adamo Winery have donated combination packages. The Taste of Orangeville offers dinner at Bluebird Restaurant and an overnight stay at the Nest Suites, located above the popular eatery, plus tickets to Theatre Orangeville.

Later, in conversation with David Nairn,

he described his last 'Twas as "bitter-sweet."

For 25 years, he has been "Master of the House and head cheerleader," although he admits that he and his wonderful lady, Leisa Way are looking forward to attending the great event next year as guests.

"The name change to 'Twas kept things fresh," he explained but, withal, the event is generally acknowledged as the beginning of the festive season. He confirmed that in as many of the Theatre Orangeville galas as he has attended and hosted, there has never been one he did not enjoy.

Everyone he has attended has left him with admiration for the support, comradely and fellowship of the community.

When people see the talent of the singers and performers at 'Twas, he reminds them it is because of the support of people that helps these young people blossom, making the point that most of the donations came from local artisans and businesses.

"This is a fundraiser," he was clear. "The money is important – all those sales are vital funds and also a darn good night mingling with friends."

The proof of how good a night it is can be shown in the number of people who keep coming back. For entertainment, there are some "superstars," super-exciting and a few surprises, we were promised.

Why attend? Because it's a beautiful night out to get dressed up and support our theatre, something we want to continue.

David Nairn said, "The success of annual fundraiser is essential or we wouldn't be able to offer the programs that we do."

Dufferin County Canadian Black Association hosts business networking event in Shelburne

The Dufferin County Canadian Black Association (DCCBA) partnered with the Town of Shelburne to host its inaugural business networking event at Grace Tipling Hall on Oct. 24.

The intimate gathering drew entrepreneurs from across the region, including Mississauga, to connect with local businesses. Open to all Dufferin County businesses, the event fostered meaningful relationships and opportunities.

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones attended, offering greetings and invited business owners to reach out to her office if they need support.

Expert moderator Moy Fung guided engaging discussions.

Distinguished panelists Pooja Sood of Pixel Pilot Marketing Services and Attorney Althea Mitchell of Adlai Law – both Dufferin County professionals – shared valuable expertise and insights on topics from the role of technology and innovation to how to differentiate oneself in the marketplace to grow their business.

Participants praised the event's success, eagerly anticipating future gatherings.

"DCCBA is deeply grateful for the Town of Shelburne's support, local businesses' participation and community members' enthusiasm," said DCCBA President Alethia O'Hara-Stephenson, who founded the not-for-profit organization.

This collaboration's goal is to promote economic growth, diversity and inclusion within Dufferin County.

Recommended Read of the Week:

The Blue Maiden by Anna Noyes – In 1825, sisters Beata and Ulrika, obsessed by Berggrund Island's dark past and their absent mother, find the arrival of a mysterious outsider leading them to The Blue Maiden island, the storied home of the Witches' Sabbath and Satan's realm, where they find the answers they've been searching for.

Why Molly Recommends it: Why are so many stories of suspense wrought around sisters? Here, on frosty well-delineated Berggrund Island, where everyone is afraid of witches, live wild, impulsive Beata, who is tormented by unexplained visions and wistful, romantic Ulrika, forced into the role of housekeeper in her mother's absence. These sister protagonists are, of course, daughters to a predictably stalwart priest with a long-buried secret. The titular Blue Maiden is a small island off the coast, swirling in mist and mystery: always calling out to one sister or another. I love Noyes for her crisp prose and impeccable language. This novel offers an intricate family tale which will appeal to lovers of classical Gothic, just in time for Halloween.

Dufferin County invites community to Open House highlighting building code updates on Nov. 7

Dufferin County's Building Services Division invites residents to attend an Open House on Nov. 7 to learn about important updates in the 2024 Building Code.

This free event will be held at the Edelbrock Centre Meeting Room, 30 Centre St., Orangeville, from 3 to 6 p.m.

During the Open House, residents can learn about changes in building regulations, including guidelines for:

- Two-unit houses
- Farm buildings
- HVAC and plumbing
- New measures for accessibility and radon mitigation

Residents will be able to ask County staff questions to understand the new requirements. Industry and community members are encouraged to join the County to learn how these updates may affect their projects.

For additional information, please contact Dufferin County at 519-941-2816 or visit the County's website at www.dufferincounty.ca/building-services.

The 2024 Building Code comes into effect on January 1, 2025, with a three-month grace period until March 31, 2025 for certain designs that are already underway.

Permit applications must be submitted before Dec. 31, 2024, using the 2012 Building

Code.

Between Jan. 1, 2025 and March 31, 2025, permit applications may be submitted using the new 2024 Building Code.

Permit applications may be submitted using the 2012 Building Code if the applicant demonstrates that their working drawings were substantially complete by Dec. 31, 2024.

By April 1, 2025, Permit applications must be submitted using the 2024 Building Code.

OBITUARIES

STEVE BESLEY
 APR 8, 1961 - OCT 10, 2024

Steve Besley, 63, passed away surrounded by his loving family following a two-year battle with cancer.

The third of four sons, Steve was raised on a family farm in Shelburne, Ontario, and learned the value of hard work early on. Driven to succeed, Steve was an honour roll student and Ontario Scholar. He balanced academics with involvement in 4H Clubs and Junior Farmers, and won multiple dairy and field crop awards. Steve managed bee hives, trained heifers for shows, and was active in many community and philanthropic efforts. Steve attended the University of Waterloo and graduated with a Bachelor of Commerce.

Steve met his wife and lifelong partner, Chris Williams, working at Mutual Life in Waterloo. Together they ventured west in pursuit of a new adventure, settling in Sechelt on the Sunshine Coast of British Columbia to raise their family and start a business. Steve and Chris co-founded Benefit Innovations, a trusted employee benefits consultancy serving clients across BC. Steve's entrepreneurial spirit, disciplined approach and unwavering moral compass made him a fierce advocate for his clients. He cherished his relationships with clients, colleagues, and his family at Strategic Coach.

An ardent lover of the outdoors, Steve found great joy in kayaking around the Trail Islands, cycling around Stanley Park, and hiking through the forest. His adventurous spirit was also evident in his love for travel. He took many trips throughout his life and was always seeking new challenges. We find comfort in knowing that Steve is somewhere planning his next big adventure. We will all miss his tremendous wit.

Steve is survived by his loving wife, Chris; his children, Brandon and Brooke (Mike); his father, Eldred (Pat); his brothers, Dave (Lana) and Brian (Deb); and many beloved nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his mother, Lois, and his brother, Mark.

Although Steve requested no formal service, Chris and the kids welcome friends and family to visit for a cup of his favourite green tea and a walk along the beach in his memory.

In lieu of flowers, Steve would encourage everyone to doggedly support a family member, friend, or community member in need.

Steve, we are heartbroken and you will be forever missed.
