

Let's Remember to honour those who served and sacrificed for our freedom during Veterans' Week (November 05 – 11) and on Remembrance Day on November 11th.

Let's also pay tribute to current members of the Canadian Armed Forces (CAF) who protect our peace and security.

Taking an active role in Remembrance ensures we never forget the price of freedom. It's our obligation to pass on the torch of Remembrance to younger generations to ensure the memory of these sacrifices never fades.

On November 11, please take a moment to remember our Veterans and those who made the ultimate sacrifice.

Lest we forget.

80TH ANNIVERSARY OF D-DAY & THE BATTLE OF NORMANDY

This year marked the 80th anniversary of D-Day and the Battle of Normandy. Both are recognized as some of Canada's most important military engagements of the entire Second World War.

The Battle of Normandy, codenamed "Operation Overlord," began on June 6, 1944 when some 14,000 Canadian soldiers came ashore at Juno Beach in occupied France on D-Day, as part of a massive assault that turned the tides for the Allies in Western Europe.

The price of victory in the Battle of Normandy was tremendous. Canada's soldiers experienced the highest casualties of any divisions in the British Army Group in the campaign. Some 359 Canadian soldiers were killed on D-Day alone, more than 5,000 made the ultimate sacrifice, and thousands were wounded during the two-and-a-half-months of fighting in Normandy.

The Canadians who fought in D-Day and the Battle of Normandy were among the more than one million who proudly served Canada in the name of freedom and peace.

110TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE START OF WWI

This year marks the 110th anniversary of the start of WWI.

Canada found itself at war when Germany invaded Belgium on August 04, 1914. Young Canadians from across the country enthusiastically enlisted with thousands arriving at local recruiting stations wanting to do their part.

Canadians saw their first major action at Ypres on April 22, 1915, facing the first poison gas attack of the war, while helping hold the line against German troops.

WWI would drag on for four harsh years and would see more than 650,000 Canadians and Newfoundlanders serving in this war with more than 66,000 making the ultimate sacrifice and more than 172,000 being wounded.

The Canadian battles and campaigns of the First World War, including Ypres, Vimy, and Passchendale, increased Canada's standing on the world stage and contributed to our country having a separate signature on the Treaty of Versailles.

We will never forget the tremendous sacrifices they made in defence of the peace, freedom, and security we enjoy today.

We will remember them.

2024 POPPY CAMPAIGN

When we wear a Poppy, it's one small, but important way we can show our gratitude and honour those who've served Canada.

Each year, Royal Canadian Legion Branches in Canadian cities, towns, and communities, including here in Dufferin-Caledon, organize the Poppy Campaign.

Legionnaires volunteer their time to support their local Legion Branches with the campaign. This year's campaign will run from October 25 to November 11.

Poppies are free to anyone who wishes to wear one; however, our local Legion Branches greatly appreciate any donations to the Poppy Fund. The funds raised during the Poppy Campaign are held in Trust at the Branch level. When you make a donation to the Poppy Fund, you can know you're directly supporting Veterans and their families within our community, as well as the vitally important work the Legions perform throughout the year.

Let's show how much our Veterans, and their sacrifices, mean to each of us by wearing a Poppy.

Five per cent tax increase proposed in draft budget

Shelburne council presented with $10.8 million shortfall to be covered by taxation

Written By PAULA BROWN
 LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Shelburne Town Council is looking at a five per cent increase in the tax rate for its 2025 draft budget.

Carey Holmes, director of financial services and treasurer for the Town of Shelburne, presented a detailed report on the 2025 draft budget for the public during council's regular meeting on Monday, Nov. 4.

The estimated amount to be raised by taxation in 2025 is just over $10.8 million, calculated by taking the total operating expenses of $13.6 million for 2024 and subtracting the revenues of around $2.7 million.

The total estimate for the 2025 general operating expenses of $13,655,223 is split up amongst 10 expenditures: general government and town hall ($3,050,951); council and committees ($185,303); planning and development ($1,410,142); police protection ($1,129,409); fire protection ($880,622); other protective services ($679,515); operations, waste management and storm ($2,690,316); cemetery ($167,134); recreation and culture ($1,596,317); and a one-time transfer to reserves ($1,865,513).

Some of the increase in expenses is the result of three additional staff positions in the town, which include a part-time bylaw officer position moving to full-time, a by-law administrative assistant and a part-time landscaper. The town has also budgeted to include Automated Speed Enforcement (ASE) based on a revenue-neutral structure.

One general expense the Town of Shelburne is expected to see a decrease in for the 2025 budget is police services. In 2024, the total billing cost for OPP services was just over $3.1 million and in 2025, the cost has come in at $1.6 million for a total savings of roughly $1.5 million.

Neighbouring legions ensure funds are still raised for local Veterans during Shelburne Legion's closure

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Despite the temporary closure of the Shelburne Legion Branch 220 ahead of Remembrance Day, local Veterans will continue to receive financial support as two neighbouring legions are helping with fundraising efforts for the 2024 Poppy Fund Campaign.

The Dundalk Legion Branch 285 and Orangeville Legion Branch 233 have received special permission to provide poppy donation boxes and assist in collecting donated money for the Poppy Fund, during the Shelburne Legion's temporary closure. The Poppy Fund provides financial assistance to Veterans and their families.

"The thought of Shelburne not having poppies, and knowing that they have a significant amount of Veterans in comparison to us just didn't sit well with me," said Shannon Larsen, a Dundalk Legion member assisting in the Shelburne Poppy Fund campaign. "I've seen the first-hand effects of what [war] can psychologically do to a person and how people can sometimes be too proud to ask for help. But, when it comes time and they find the strength and the ability to ask for help, if it's not for the Poppy Fund, the help is not there."

The Shelburne Legion was forced to temporarily close its doors as of Oct. 23 following the resignation of the legion's president at their monthly general meeting on Oct. 22. Based on the bylaws and regulations of the Royal Canadian Legion, a branch cannot open its doors without a president to oversee the caretaking of the building and finances.

As a result of the temporary closure, all bank accounts for the Shelburne Legion have been frozen and its volunteers are unable to collect for the Poppy Fund as they "can't represent themselves as the Shelburne Legion while it's closed," said Chuck Arrand, Zone Commander for E-3 of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Each year in the lead-up to Remembrance Day, members of the legion with the assistance of volunteers and local cadets hand out poppies to community members, who in turn give donations to support the Poppy Fund.

The Poppy Fund assists veterans and their families in various ways, including purchasing construction materials or providing maintenance for housing and care facilities for elderly and disabled persons, bursaries, and getting service dogs for veterans.

Through the Dundalk Legion alone, the Town of Shelburne has received 36 Poppy Fund donation boxes and roughly 8,000 poppies to give to residents. The Dundalk Legion has additionally provided donations of Canadian flags, flag poles, wreaths, and wreath cards for the Town of Shelburne's Remembrance Day Ceremony.

"It makes me very happy knowing that they're working together to cover off the area for the time that the [Shelburne Legion] is closed and that the veterans of Shelburne in the long run, will be looked after," said Arrand.

The money raised through the poppy boxes, which are set up throughout Shelburne, will be donated back to the Shelburne Legion following their reopening at the end of the month.

County of Dufferin seeks input on Community Resilience Hub design

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Dufferin County residents have the opportunity to have their say in the design of a future community hub.

The County of Dufferin announced in a press release on Oct. 30 that they are seeking the input of residents on the design of a pilot Community Resilience Hub, which will be an outdoor structure designed to meet the everyday needs of residents with the additional goal of increasing capacity to prepare for and respond to climate change impacts and emergencies.

"Resilience is our ability to respond, adapt to, and recover from challenges and is strengthened when we have strong ties to our community," said Steve Murphy, manager of 911, preparedness and corporate projects at Dufferin County. "Our neighbours are often the first we turn to during times of crisis. A Community Resilience Hub acts as a trusted and vibrant neighbourhood location where you can access physical resources and strengthen social connections."

Features for day-to-day use may include shaded seating, local art, pollinator gardens, drinking water, a community bulletin board, and workshops. In cases of disruptions, such as power outages, heat waves, storms, and health crises, the hub will transform to provide basic resources and a link to emergency services.

According to the 2023 Dufferin Climate Adaptation Strategy, the community has already experienced climate-centric emergencies in recent years including; a 100-year flood in 2017, which resulted in the closure of local roadways and strained municipal drainage infrastructure; record high temperatures and heat warnings in 2017 and 2019; and ice storms in 2013 and 2016, which caused extensive damage to properties and widespread power outages.

To capture the community's input on the design of the Community Resilience Hub, the County of Dufferin has launched a survey for local residents to complete.

The survey looks to find out; which local climate risks concern residents the most; what feature they would most like to use or enjoy at the Hub; what types of programming they would like offered; and what green infrastructure, such as rain gardens, should be included.

Those interested in sharing their input on the pilot Community Resilience Hub can access the survey online at joinindufferin.com or pick up a hard copy at the Edelbrock Centre, located at 30 Centre Street, Orangeville. Hard copy surveys can be dropped off at the provided box or mailed to the Edelbrock Centre.

The ideas given in the survey will directly inform three different design options that will be brought back to the community to vote on in 2025.

Killers among us

In April of 1973, a teen taking a shortcut to school came across the bodies of Wendy Tedford and Donna Stearne.

They were two teenage girls who were shot to death in an alleyway in Toronto.

Fifty-one years later, their murder is unsolved, and after this amount of time, it is unlikely this case will ever be solved and no one will be brought to justice.

The Toronto Police Service website lists over 600 cold case murders in their files. That's over 600 unsolved murders.

The majority of unsolved Toronto murders, judging by the number of mugshots showing the victims, and available information, were gang-related. Your chances of being on this list are much higher if you are a minority. The vast majority died from gunshot wounds.

Given the way these gangs operate, probably a third of the guys on the website were responsible for another third of the murders on the pages, and those guys were responsible for the other third of unsolved murders on the pages. I doubt the police are working very hard on these cases.

However, there are still a staggering number of unsolved murders of innocent people across the province.

Sonia Varaschin, a 42-year-old nurse, was murdered in her Orangeville home by a person or persons unknown in 2010. The case remains unsolved.

In 1984, a 38-year-old mother of two young children, named Barbara Chapman, was murdered in her home in the village of Frankford – a small rural town on the shores of the Trent River. No one has been arrested in her murder.

In July 1988, a young woman named Lois Hannah disappeared from her home in Kincardine after attending a dance in the Town of Lucknow. She hasn't been seen since and foul play is suspected.

Leah Salina Sousa was a 13-year-old girl living in Cumberland Beach with her mother and infant brother. On Sept. 1, 1990, someone broke into their house, beat her mother into unconsciousness, then sexually assaulted Leah and bludgeoned her to death in the backyard. No one has been arrested.

Julian 'Julie' Wolanski, was a 16-year-old girl who was found beaten and shot to death in a ditch by the Humber River in northwest Toronto in 1962. No one was ever charged for her murder.

In June 1991, a couple, 62 and 59, were travelling across the country in their RV. They stopped at a rest stop near River Bend. A man knocked on the door of the camper saying he was a police officer. He shot both the woman and the man, as well as a passerby who stopped to see what was going on.

The woman and passerby died, however, the man survived his wounds. No arrest has been made in the case.

In December 1996, a Moffat, Ont. resident, Wayne Greavett, received what appeared to be an early Christmas present. It was a bomb disguised as a flashlight. The bomb exploded in the family home, killing him instantly.

The murder remains unsolved.

London, Ont., for some reason has more than its fair share of murders. Several serial killers terrorized the region in the 60s and 70s, and there are still unsolved murders in the area.

A 22-year-old single mother named Patricia Bovin was murdered in her home by an unknown assailant in 1989.

In 1968, 31-year-old Helga Beer was strangled to death in the back of her car. No arrest has been made in that case.

That same year, 16-year-old high school student Jacqueline Dunleavy left her job at a convenience store and was murdered shortly after. No arrest was ever made.

BRIAN LOCKHART
FROM THE SECOND ROW

In January of 1956, a 5-year-old girl named Susan Cadieux was lured from a playground by a man. The next morning she was found dead. The killer was never identified.

When you do a nationwide search, it is astounding the number of murders that are unsolved. That means there are plenty of murders living among us.

Some cases will never be solved. Other times a simple piece of evidence years later, will lead to the killer.

In the U.S., the BTK killer terrorized Wichita, Kansas, murdering at least 10 people, including an entire family of four. He taunted the police and media through letters. He suddenly disappeared.

Over a decade later, he wanted to be back in the spotlight and started sending letters again.

This time, he made the mistake of sending his message on a floppy disk, which police were able to trace back to his church. The BTK killer will spend the rest of his life in prison.

It's scary to think all these murderers are walking around, and one of them could be your neighbour.

Botswana & America: Different elections

Botswana's elections have always been seen as a model for Africa, but the one last week has a somewhat wider relevance. The way its politicians handled victory and defeat could serve as a model for politicians in the United States.

Botswana has been democratic since it got its independence from Britain in 1966, and for all that time it has been governed by the same party, the Botswana Democratic Party. Now the BDP has finally lost power – and there has been no uproar, no claims and counter-claims, no crisis.

There has been no major political violence in Botswana's past, nor did the BDP have a history of heroic struggle for independence against evil oppressors. When the British declared that they were leaving the BDP won the first free election, and Sir Seretse Khama, descended from local royalty, was elected president.

He kept getting elected until his death in 1980, and other BDP leaders followed in his wake (including his own son Ian in 2008-2018) all the way down to last Friday. But Botswana remained a democracy and the country prospered thanks to a small population (2.6 million), a large number of high-end tourists, and diamond mines.

In a continent where most governments are bad and most elections are rigged, Botswana has been an island of domestic peace and democratic rule. It has some major advantages, however. 80% of its population belongs to the same ethnic group (Tswana), which is rare in Africa. It is also a welfare state, which is even rarer.

Even after 58 years in power, therefore, the BDP's defeat in last week's election came as a shock. It was largely due to a high level of joblessness among young people. There's lots of money sloshing around, but diamond-mining doesn't create much employment and the young are frustrated even though they are not going hungry.

The BDP's share of the vote in recent elections has been just above 50%, so its defeat should not have come as a surprise, but few people were old enough to remember a time when it had not been running the country. Despite all the signs, the BDP was psychologically unprepared for defeat.

So what did President Mokgweetsi Masisi do when the votes were counted? He called up Duma Boko, the leader of the victorious Umbrella for Democratic Change (UDC), to congratulate him, of course. That's what the defeated candidates in an election are expected to do in a democracy.

Afterwards, Masisi confessed to a press conference that his party "got it wrong big time. I will respectfully step aside and participate in a smooth transition process ahead of inauguration. I am proud of our democratic processes and I respect the will of the people."

"What has happened today takes our democracy to a higher level," replied Duma Boko. "It now means we've seen a successful, peaceful, orderly democratic transition." That's how responsible grown-ups behave in a democracy, even if it's the first time power has changed hands in 58 years.

Why is this a relevant topic for today? Because the United States, far bigger, much richer and with several centuries' experience of democracy, is holding an election this week, and a significant number of Americans fear that it could lead to a civil war.

I don't know the outcome of Tuesday's vote as I write this, but a civil war certainly wouldn't happen if Donald Trump won the election. There would be great concern that a second term for Trump could greatly damage American democracy and civil rights in particular, but his opponents would realise that violence would just make matters worse.

The bigger risk is an electoral defeat for Trump, because he would be certain to claim that is fraudulent whether he truly believes it or not. Even then a full-scale civil war would be unlikely, but the United States is a heavily armed society where violence is, in H. Rap Brown's formula, "as American as apple pie."

Botswana is not that sort of place. Most countries aren't. But while political issues in the United States are much the same as they are in other developed countries, the ideological passion that Americans bring to them has always been off the scale.

Consider, for example, the issue of slavery. Both the United States and the United Kingdom were deeply in the slave trade for a long time, but when the British finally realized it was wrong they just bought the slave-owners out.

When a majority of Americans reached the same conclusion thirty years later, it set off a civil war that killed at least three-quarters of a million soldiers (about 2% of the population at that time). The policy differences at issue in this election are not very different from those elsewhere, but Americans have whipped themselves into an existential frenzy about them.

Council presented with 5 per cent property tax increase for 2025 budget

“During the costing that the consultant did in 2021, it was estimated that we would experience a significant saving, and this is the first year that we have now transitioned to the cost recovery methodology,” said Holmes. “At the time we did the costing, the consultant projection was $1.5 million, so our savings is what we have projected.”

The Town of Shelburne also received a reconciliation credit of $666,072 from the OPP from 2023, making to total savings of $2.2 million.

It was recommended to take $359,000 from the saving in order to keep the tax rate increase under five per cent.

The remaining $1.8 million in savings was transferred to an unrestricted reserve.

“Staff have not yet prepared a report on any type of recommendation to council on how to utilize that savings,” said Holmes. “It won’t be just a one-year savings, we will see that every year from now on, unless the OPP significantly increase their billing cost.”

The homeowner tax impact of a five per cent increase for the 2025 budget, based on an average single-family home assessment of $335,366, amounts to an additional $138 annually or $11.54 per month on the town portion.

The presentation from Holmes showed residents a detailed breakdown of where $1 of a taxpayer’s money goes: $0.09 to Police Protection, $0.17 for the one-time transfer to reserves, $0.25 to Operations, $0.14 to Recreation and Culture, $0.09 to Planning and Development, $0.08 to Fire Protection, $0.11 to General Government and Town Hall, $0.05 to Other Protective Services, and $0.02 to Council and Committees.

The 2025 budget addresses a number of capital projects, including $101,311 for upgrades to the lighting and HVAC as well as an additional vehicle for the bylaw department; $782,412 for paving, roads’ needs, drainage cleanout and the cemetery needs; $2,398,072 to spend on new equipment, replacements, a workshop expansion and cold storage; and $4,880,726 to go towards projects identified in the Parks and Recreation Master Plan.

The entire budget for phase one of the Fiddle Park redevelopment is based on a project cost of $3.69 million, which included in the Parks and Recreation Master Plan section of Shelburne’s 2025 draft budget.

The 2024 budget totals $8,186,211 for the listed capital projects.

Water and Sewer capital projects total just over $2.5 million for 2024. The projects associated with water include continued changes to Well #1 and Well #9, replacing a 2008 water truck and repainting the exterior of the old water tower. Sewer capital projects consist of the continued engineering design for the waste pollution control plant and the replacement of sewer camera equipment.

Shelburne Town Council is expected to adopt a motion for the 2025 Budget at the Nov. 25 meeting and adopt a by-law as of Dec. 9.

Butterfly Bereavement Project on display at Headwaters Health Care Centre

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Dufferin County residents are putting the grief they’ve felt from the loss of a loved one on display through a month-long art installation at Headwaters Health Care Centre (HHCC).

The local hospital, along with Bethell Hospice and the Hills of Headwaters Collaborative Ontario Health Team (HOHC OHT) celebrated the unveiling of the 2024 Butterfly Bereavement Project, located in the hospital’s Ambulatory Care Wing, on Tuesday (Nov. 5).

“I lost my father last month, which has been obviously very hard, but through events like this, it is certainly a beautiful reminder to use all that we’re not alone in our grief journeys. We’re never alone. We’re blessed to have the support of all our partners, our friends, family, and colleagues with us always,” said Kim Delahunt, CEO and president of Headwaters Hospital.

The Butterfly Bereavement Project was started by Bethell Hospice in 2022 with the aim of educating the community on locally available bereavement support, providing support to bereaved individuals and increasing awareness on National Grief and Bereavement Day and Children’s Grief Awareness Day, which are both observed in the month of November.

“We hoped to find a way to engage the public in creating something, which would not only honour those who have experienced grief but also visually represent the idea that loss is a universal experience, and while there are lonely moments, one does not need to feel alone in it,” said Aldona Morrison, Bethell Hospice’s art therapist.

The exhibit utilizes an array of colourfully drawn butterflies, which represent hope and symbolize transformation, and are also used around the world to raise awareness about grief and bereavement.

This year’s Butterfly Bereavement exhibit features over 2,000 individually decorated paper butterflies that were created to express the love and loss, stories and memories of more than 4,000 people.

The kaleidoscope of individual paper butterflies has been placed in a circular pattern as a way to showcase the unity and sense of belonging for those experiencing grief, while the words “you are not alone” are decal on the window in spirals to signify the movement of a butterfly.

Ramon Brazukas, a client of Bethell Hospice, spoke about the sudden passing of her 29-year-old son Paul, who had suffered from bipolar affective disease for many years and how the Butterfly Bereavement Project is an aid for those facing grief.

“You are not alone is such a perfect name for this collection of beautifully coloured butterflies, in that we are not alone in probably the most universal experience at one time or another we will all encounter in our lives – and that is grief,” said Brazukas. “I realized quickly that the grief I was experiencing would be my own unique journey, exclusive to me, much like the diversity of these beautiful butterflies; no two are exactly alike. During our personal journey, we are free to embrace the peaks and valley and whatever emotions that will bring, much like butterflies soaring, landing and always moving. Butterflies can symbolize freedom, lightness and joy, and can remind us to let go of burdens and embrace liberation.”

The Butterfly Bereavement Project will be on display in the Ambulatory Care Wing of Headwaters Health Care Centre throughout the month of November. Residents of Dufferin County and Caledon are invited to admire the array of personalized paper butterflies on display as well as add to the installation by colouring and creating their own butterflies, which can be found by the Welcome Center in the hospital.

Alliston Hornets dominating Carruthers Division, remaining undefeated

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

The Alliston Hornets have moved into first place in the Carruthers Division of the Provincial Junior Hockey League and are dominating play on the ice this season.

The Hornets are undefeated after 14 games.

Over the past week, they have delivered some devastating wins over their competition in high-scoring games.

In their last five games, they scored 52 goals.

It started with a 12-2 win over the Midland Flyers on Oct. 25, followed by a 16-1 win over the Penetang Kings the following night.

They won 6-2 again over Midland on Oct. 27, then delivered a 9-1 slam-dunk over the Stayner Siskins on Oct. 31. That was followed by a 9-1 win over the Huntsville Otters the next night.

“Everything is clicking really well right now. All four lines are rolling and we’re continuing to get pucks in the net – it’s been successful for us,” said Hornets forward Aiden Landers after Friday’s game against Huntsville. “We’ve just got to keep playing the way we’ve been playing and come to the rink every day with our work boots on, and keep on doing what we’re doing, and figure out any way we can improve our game.”

The Stayner Siskins are in second place in the division with an 11-2 record and 22 points.

They are followed by the Orillia Terriers with a 13-3 record including one overtime loss. The Penetang Kings are in fourth place with 12 points and a 6-7 record.

RISING TO THE TOP: The Alliston Hornets take on the Huntsville Otters at the New Tecumseth Recreation Centre in Alliston on Friday, Nov. 1. This game ended with a 9-1 win for the Hornets. The Alliston team is now in first place in the North Carruthers Division.

Filling out the rest of the order are the In-nisfill Spartans, Huntsville Otters, Muskoka Bears, and the Midland Flyers. Muskoka and Midland have only won two games each so far this season.

There is a long way to go in the season with a 42-game schedule so there’s lots of room for movement in the standings over the next four months.

Centre Dufferin senior boys soccer team compete in the District 4 championship

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

The Centre Dufferin District High School Royals senior boy’s soccer team went to the District 4 championship on Wednesday, Oct. 30.

The Royals had a stellar season finishing in second place in the regular season standings with a 5-3-1 record.

Going into the playoffs, the Royals were up against Norwell District Secondary School in the semi-final round.

The Royals won that game 4-2 to earn the right to advance to the championship.

In the other semi-final, the top seed Westside Secondary School Thunder from Orangeville were up against the fourth place Wellington Heights Secondary School.

The game proved to be an upset when Wellington Heights won the game 4-3 to secure a spot in the championship game.

“We knew that we had to win this game to go to the finals,” said Royals player Adrian Gomes after the semi-final game against Norwell.

“I believe we did lose control of the game in the second half, but we held our ground.”

Teammate Kaeden Facey agreed that they played a solid game.

“I think we played pretty good, our movement was good,” summed up Kaeden. “We tried to keep our ground and really worked hard until the end.”

In the final championship game, the Royals were leading 1-0 near the end of the game.

Wellington Heights scored with under two minutes remaining on the clock.

Neither team could break the tie, and after a short break, they returned for two 10-minute overtime periods.

Wellington Heights scored and went on to win the game 2-1.

They will now go on to compete at the regional level at CWOSSA.

The Royals had a good season and should be proud of their hard work and what they accomplished this year.

Masking policy reinstated at Headwaters Health Care Centre

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

Headwaters Health Care Centre (HHCC) is taking action against respiratory viruses this flu season by re-introducing masking requirements.

The local hospital announced in a press release on Wednesday (Nov. 6) that it's now requiring masking in all clinical patient-facing areas, including the Emergency Department, nursing stations, waiting rooms, and patient rooms.

"Headwaters is taking precautions to protect the health and safety of our patients, visitors and staff as we enter another respiratory season. Wearing a mask in patient-facing areas is an effective way to stop the spread of infection," says Kim Delahunt, President and CEO of Headwaters Health Care Centre.

Throughout the rest of the hospital, the guidelines will continue to be mask-friendly environments and optional.

Masks will not be mandatory in areas that are non-clinical and non-patient facing, such as hallways, the cafeteria and the Joan and Paul Waetcher Welcome Centre.

Mandatory masking will result in no changes to the Headwaters visitor policy, although those experiencing symptoms are asked to stay home to prevent the spread of illness.

The hospital said they will continue to monitor the respiratory season developments and will adjust their safety practice based on the best available evidence and guidance.

To learn more information, visit the Headwaters Health Care Centre website.

Page to Stage musical to bring toe-tapping fun to Grace Tipling Hall

Written By MARIE HOY-KENNY

Audiences looking for a fun, crowd-pleasing show are invited to attend LP Productions' latest musical, Page to Stage, set to run from Friday, Nov. 29 until Sunday, Dec. 1 at Grace Tipling Hall in Shelburne.

Production directors Kristen Gamache and Alison Port searched high and low for books and plays that were turned into musicals and put together a show with numerous Broadway and off-Broadway favourites, including Oklahoma, which was based on a play called Green Grow the Lilacs, Bruce from the book Matilda, and Right Before Your Eyes from James and the Giant Peach. Characters jump off of the pages and fill the auditorium with contagious energy and beautiful music.

"We tried to find a mix of modern and old school musicals to please all audiences. You can expect a night of song after song with a choral setting and beautiful harmonies, some staged and some choreographed," said Port.

The cast consists of a mix of children and adults, performing 24 iconic songs. One of Port's favourite parts of the show is that some families are performing together for the first time.

As she recalls, "It's very special. I remember the first time I could perform with my daughters."

Years later, that lovely experience has

CAST AND CREW: The cast for two upcoming plays from LP Productions, Page to Stage and Oliver Jr. are looking forward to getting into character and taking their roles to the stage at Grace Tipling Hall. Page to Stage runs from Nov. 29 to Dec. 1 and Oliver Jr. runs from Dec. 6 to 8.

continued for Port who will be performing in this show alongside her two daughters, Kristen and Danielle Gamache.

Port's daughter, Kristen Gamache, has directed the show with choreography, harmonies, and staging.

Port says, "I'm proud of her dedication and hard work."

Another person Port is proud of is Mia Jin, a high school student and long-time LP Productions cast member as well as a budding director with exceptional musical knowledge.

"She is very focused and has helped Kristen lead this show," said Port.

This demonstrates how influential opportunities in the arts can be, as Mia Jin's experiences in LP Productions' musical theatre have led her to wish to pursue a career in the field.

Audiences are encouraged to come and support this group of local performers who wish to both move and entertain them with singing, dancing, and acting.

Page to Stage promises to be a lively, fun show that will entertain audiences of all ages. Performances run from Friday, Nov. 29 until Sunday, Dec. 1 at Grace Tipling Hall in Shelburne.

Tickets are available through Eventbrite.

Central Region OPP shares tips for staying safe when riding an off-road vehicle

The Central Region of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) is increasing awareness around Off-Road Vehicle (ORV) safety.

Lack of helmet use, alcohol and/or drug consumption, and failure to maintain control of the vehicle remain the leading factors in ORV collisions, according to Central Region OPP.

Here are some critical safety guidelines and best preparation for enjoyable riding:

- Driving an ORV while impaired by alcohol or drugs is as unlawful as driving any other vehicle and carries the same impaired driving penalties that apply to driving a motor vehicle.
- Always wear a properly fitted helmet with a secure chin strap. ORV drivers and passengers who do not wear their helmets are at a much higher risk of serious injury or death if they crash, lose control, or their vehicle tips over.

- Always carry your registration and proof of insurance.
- Ensure proper display of licence plate according to the ORVA.
- Have a valid trail pass where applicable.

• Exercise caution when riding on permitted roadways, adjusting to the difference between dirt and pavement.

• Drive cautiously and familiarize yourself with the required speeds for ORVs.

The OPP is responsible for patrolling more than 99,000 kilometres of water-ways and trails, and over 130,000 kilometres of roadway throughout Ontario.

Local family remembers sacrifices made by fathers in Second World War

Written By PAULA BROWN
LOCAL JOURNALISM INITIATIVE REPORTER

For nearly two decades Mulmur resident Joan Wallace has stood beside the cenotaph outside of the Shelburne Town Hall on Remembrance Day (Nov. 11), helping to lead residents through the singing of the national anthem.

In that moment, when the ceremony of remembering those who sacrificed their lives has begun, she takes a moment herself to think about her father Raymond Hardick and father-in-law Ken Wallace, who both served during the Second World War.

"It's a very important day, there's no doubt about that, for both of our families and anything I can offer to do to help," said Joan. "I feel in contributing, I'm carrying on what my dad did."

Born in Sarnia, Ont., in 1925, Raymond Hardick was too young to serve when the Second World War began in 1939 so instead he worked as a farmer. Later he was employed by Muller's War Time Service and Imperial Oil. When he reached the age of 18 in 1943, he enlisted with the Royal Canadian Air Force (RCAF) and was shipped overseas in the summer of 1944 to fight in the Second World War.

Hardick was stationed in Wickenby, England as part of the Bomber Command, Squadron 12.

During his 13th mission, Hardick and his crewmates Doug Harrison, Doug Adams, Les Wallace, Bill Brooke, Geo Smith and Bill Tracey, were on route to Nuremberg, Germany on March 16, 1945, when their plane was attacked by enemy forces,

"A fighter aircraft came in after them and Dad caught sight of it a couple of times. He called for a corkscrew, which is an evasive action, but it came up from beneath them and shot them up pretty good," explained Joan.

CONTRIBUTED PHOTO

CRASH LANDING SURVIVOR: Raymond Hardick, who served as a Flight Sergeant in the Second World War from 1943-1945, was stationed in Wickenby, England as part of the Bomber Command Group, 12 Squadron. He was wounded on the crew's 13th mission into enemy territory and crash-landed near Rheims, France.

READY FOR TAKE OFF: Flight Sargent Raymond Hardick take his position as a Rear Gunner in a Lancaster Heavy Bomber plane.

Losing altitude quickly, due to damage to three of their four engines, the plane remained in the air for roughly three hours bypassing a German airstrip at less than 5,000 feet before eventually crash-landing on an American airfield near Rheims, France.

In the midst of the attack, Hardick was shot multiple times in his position as rear gunner and sustained injuries to his leg. The March 16 mission would become his last as he was shipped to England to convalesce from his injury before returning home to Canada in September of 1945.

"Even 70 years later he would have shrapnel come out of his legs from the injury," recalled Joan. "But he never stopped and it built in him a character of determination."

After returning home, Hardick married his wife Mary in June of 1946 and the two settled with their three daughter - Dale, Joan and Mary-Lynn - in the Town of Shelburne. Hardick purchased and operated Hardwick Jewelers on Main Street in Shelburne until his retirement in 1995.

"As the child of a veteran, I saw what he lived with everyday being wounded. You never understand what they lived through during the war, but saw what they lived with everyday for the rest of their life," said Joan.

Her connection with Remembrance Day extends even further past her father, with her husband Bob Wallace's father also serving in the Second World War.

Like many children who grew up with fathers serving in the war, the details of Ken Wallace's time in Europe are scarce as he kept many of his memories close to his chest.

"He never talked about it," said Bob. "It wasn't until later in life that it all came back up."

A fourth-generation Mulmur resident,

FAMILY HISTORY: The Wallace family stands with a Lancaster Bomber, the same plane Joan's father Raymond Hardick flew when his plane went down during his 13th mission into enemy territory during WWII, at the Canadian Warplane Museum in Hamilton.

Ken Wallace was working as a machinist in the city when he and a group of friends decided to enlist in the war in 1943. Wallace served in the Royal Canadian Air Force (RCAF) in the Fighter Squadron 428 and was a trained radio operator. He was a participant in the D-Day Invasion of Juno Beach in France and helped establish the Spitfire Airfield, located about three miles inland from the coast.

Wallace returned home to Canada in October of 1944 following a back injury from diving into a foxhole while under attack from enemy forces. At the time he was shipped home, he weighed no more than 120 pounds.

"The conditions he lived in were horrendous," said Bob.

The biggest thing Joan and Bob have learned from being the children of veterans isn't the stories of their time overseas, but the years of continuing to give back to their community.

"As the child of a veteran, I saw what he lived with everyday being wounded. You never understand what they lived through during the war, but saw what they lived with everyday for the rest of their life."

"They came home and both started volunteering," said Bob.

Hardick was a member of the Shelburne Rotary Club, served on Shelburne Town Council, volunteered at the Shelburne Legion Branch 220 for over 40 years as the service officer and was involved in both the local hockey and curling clubs.

Wallace served for years on the local school board and was part of the movement to expand outside of single-room schoolhouses. He also helped as a driver for the Canadian Cancer Society and Shriners Hospital for Children. In what is known as one of his biggest acts of volunteerism, Wallace was part of a group of residents who helped fundraise for the Lost Soldiers Memorial outside of Shelburne Town Hall for which he received a Governor's Community Volunteer Award.

"They felt a duty to go to Europe because something terrible was happening and when they came home, they still had a sense of duty; that never changed," said Joan. "That sense of community and being involved kind of rubs off of you, it really does."

Raymond Hardick passed away in 2007 at the age of 82. Ken Wallace passed away in 2015 at the age of 93.

But their legacy lives on through their volunteerism, sacrifices on the battlefield and decades of dedication to the Shelburne community.

THE REMEMBRANCE DAY POPPY:

A history of supporting Veterans and their families

You may buy a poppy in the weeks before Remembrance Day and wear it proudly on your lapel.

The poppy is a symbol of remembrance for those who have died in wars, but your contribution when you purchase that poppy goes a long way in helping others.

Through your donations to the Legion Poppy Fund, the Legion provides financial assistance and support to Veterans, including Canadian Armed Forces and RCMP, and their families who are in need.

Poppy funds may be used for grants for food, heating costs, clothing, prescription medication, medical appliances and equipment, essential home repairs and emergency shelter or assistance.

Funds may be used for Veteran Transition Programs that are directly related to the training, education, and support needs of Veterans and their families. They may be used for comforts for Veterans and surviving spouses who are hospitalized and in need, as well as Veteran visits, transportation, day trips, and accessibility modification to assist Veterans with disabilities. The fund supports Veteran drop-in centres and services in communities where Veterans will benefit.

Funds also provide bursaries for children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Veterans.

The Poppy Fund supports youth through helping cadet units.

Funds raised support the work of Legion Command and Branch Service Officers across Canada in assisting and representing Veterans.

The Legion also promotes and administers Remembrance activities to ensure Canadians never forget the sacrifices of Canada's Veterans.

The Poppy Campaign is organized and run by local Legion volunteers at over 1,350 branches across Canada and abroad. Poppy funds are held in trust at every level of the Legion and the use of funds is strictly controlled with appropriate approval processes.

Branch executives are accountable for PoppyFund expenditures and are required to inform the public through local media, of the results of their campaign, including contributions received and disposition of funds.
